JOHNSON WARNS FORD INDIRECTLY AT AUTO HEARING

Regrets Industry Is Not Represented 100 Per Cent —Declares Code Will Be Applied to All.

NO WORD FROM DETROIT MAGNATE

Debate Centers on Optional Open Shop Clause Which Is Attacked by McGrady and Green.

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—The automobile industry—with Henry Ford conspicuously missing—came before National Recovery Administrator Hugh Johnson in an open hearing today to ask for approval of a code of fair competition.

In opening the hearing, Johnson alluded to Ford's absence, without mentioning his name and in thinly veiled terms warned him not to delay his appearance for long.

"It is a matter of deep regret to me," he said, "that the industry is not represented 100 per cent here today. Certain it is that in the administration of this law and in the issuance of the Blue Eagle, no exception will be made in favor of any manufacturer, large or small. We are going to enforce this act exactly as it stands."

The automobile industry, he said, will be one of the first to benefit from the recovery program, because of the "obsolescence" and the "dilapidation" existing in "a nation which has chosen to place itself on wheels."

Labor Proviso Disputed.

Controversy centered on the following provision in the code proposed by the motor magnates:

"The employers in the industry may continue the open shop policy under which the selection, retention and advancement of employes will be on the basis of individual merit, without regard to their affiliation on non-affiliation with any labor or other organization."

Declarations that the provision conflicted with the labor clause of the Recovery Act were made by Edward F. McGrady, Johnson's labor adviser, and William Green, member of the Labor Advisory Board and president of the American Federation of Labor. Following an early conference between Green and Johnson, it was stated that Johnson would make a statement "clarifying" the provision.

Labor Leader's Views.

A "basic" work week for factory employes of 30 hours, to be expanded to 35 hours, in peak seasons, and subject to further expansion in special emergencies, was demanded by Green, speaking for the American Federation of Labor. He asked for time-and-a-half for overtime. He advocated a 40-hour week for white collar workers.

He urged a minimum wage of 60 cents an hour for factory workers, and the maintenance of present wage differentials. In no event, he said, should the wages for any kind of work be less than they were for the same work in 1928. He proposed a minimum of $15 a week for white collar employes, and that those getting less than $35, should not receive less per hour than they got on Aug. 1 of this year.

No employe, he declared, should be paid for less than six hours of work for any day when he is called to work. This proposal was designed to abolish the present practice of some companies of working men one or two hours a day.

Green told the administrator that there were 245,000 idle workers to be absorbed by the industry. This could not be achieved, he said, except by establishment of the 30-hour week.

Urges Higher Pay.

Green said the automobile industry should pay higher wages than others because it demands more speed, alertness, and because of the irregularity of employment. No other large industry has such a large labor turnover, he said, pointing out that the number of workers employed in the peak month last year was 62 per cent larger than the number in the lowest month. Out of every 100 employes, 84 pere laid off at some time during the year, he declared.

Green vehemently opposed the automobile manufacturers' proposed wage differentials in order of population. He said they were not justified by living costs, and would tend to drive the factories to small towns. He suggested that Detroit would suffer seriously from establishment of such differences.

Present Provisions.

As presented, the code contains the following provisions:

The minimum wages of factory

How Government Will Slaughter 5,000,000 Hogs at $55,000,000 Cost To Feed the Poor and Boost Prices

Swine to Be Bought by 'Specified Processors' of Department of Agriculture and Meat Distributed to Needy.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—Secretary of Agriculture Wallace today outlined the Government's emergency program for buying 5,000,000 swine, employing meat packers to process them, and distributing the meat to the needy.

In an address at the Century of Progress Exposition, he said the program would be ready in a few days and that he expected it to boost purchasing power in the corn belt substantially.

The plan should increase prices of swine, possibly 25 to 30 per cent, he said, and at the same time provide relief to farmers heavily stocked with swine but with short feed supplies due to drouth.

The program calls for purchase of 4,000,000 pigs weighing 25 to 100 pounds at 6 to 9½ cents a pound, and 1,000,000 sows weighing a minimum of 275 pounds, at market prices on the day marketed plus a bonus of $4. The purchases are to be completed by about Oct. 1.

Pork to Go to Needy.

They will be made "by specified processors" for the Department of Agriculture. The meat will be turned over to the Federal Emergency Relief Administration for distribution.

Wallace estimated the cost of the program up to $55,000,000, to be met by a processing tax on hogs which will go into effect after Sept. 30. The tax rate and effective date would be fixed later, he said, estimating that the levy, paid by those who turn the swine into marketable pork, would be "considerably less than a cent a pound."

He estimated that the purchases would reduce the total tonnage of swine marketed for the 1933-34 season, starting Oct. 1, by possibly 1,800,000,000 pounds, or about 16 per cent of the hog tonnage annually marketed.

Looks for Price Increase.

"If past experience is any guide, a reduction of 15 to 16 per cent in market supplies should increase hog prices for the season by 25 to 30 per cent," Wallace said. "Prices paid for these pigs and sows will, I believe, be sufficient to warrant the co-operation of hog producers."

The Federal Emergency Relief Administration, Wallace continued, has indicated its desire to dispose of all the meat to needy persons. It will be purchased by the relief group at a price sufficient to defray the costs of processing, storage and freight.

He said the meat would not be sold in competition with that sold in regular trade channels, and that inedible portions, which will be converted into by-products, "should be distributed in such a manner as not to upset the market."

The program will be followed up quickly by drafting of a corn and hog program, Wallace said, asserting that 20,000,000 acres of corn should be taken out of production in order to adjust supplies of swine and corn to future demand.

TEAR GAS ROUTS BURGLARS TRYING TO CRACK SAFE

Bomb Goes Off as Men Knock Combination From Bullion Strong Box.

Tear gas drove burglars from the shop of Hauser, Miller & Co., dealers in precious metals at 113 North Eleventh street, last night before they had finished opening a large safe which contained several thousand dollars' worth of gold and silver bullion.

Before tackling the big safe the burglars broke open a smaller one and took about $250 in gold and silver. Robert E. Hauser, president of the company, said the loss was insured.

Connected with the large safe was a tear gas bomb which exploded when the combination was knocked from the safe. The odor of the gas was still strong when police were called there after the robbery had been discovered about 9 o'clock this morning.

MRS. ROOSEVELT INSPECTS WEST VIRGINIA COAL FIELDS

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Aug. 18.—Concluding a quiet and unannounced visit to the Northern West Virginia coal fields, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt left today for her summer home at Hyde Park.

The President's wife was accompanied by a woman companion and field workers of the American Friends' Society.

During two days in the mining camps, Mrs. Roosevelt visited miners' homes and questioned the people about working conditions, wages and their problems in general.

She was particularly impressed by the subsistence gardens cultivated by unemployed miners.

CONVICT OUTBREAK AT LEAVENWORTH PRISON REPORTED

Newspaper Says Tightening of Discipline Caused Demonstration That Has Been Quelled.

By the Associated Press.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Aug. 18.—The Leavenworth Times says rioting which began in the Federal penitentiary annex here Wednesday night and continued last night, has been controlled by prison authorities.

The newspaper says the disturbance was among 600 prisoners in wing 6.

It was said that guards in the circular cell house were driven out by a shower of stones which the convicts had concealed in their cells.

Reserves were summoned, the Times says, and the prisoners were finally induced to enter the cells at 9:30 o'clock.

The disturbance was repeated Thursday night, the newspaper says, with the reserve guards working until 10:30 o'clock before the convicts were driven into their cells.

The newspaper says 13 of the ringleaders have been placed in solitary cells and the disturbance appears to have been quelled.

It is rumored the tightening of discipline following the investigation of unauthorized privileges granted Terry Druggan was resented by the convicts.

APPARENTLY CRAZED, MAN KILLS THREE, THEN HIMSELF

Farmer Near Murfreesboro, Tenn., Shoots Father First; Ends Life When Surrounded.

MURFREESBORO, Tenn., Aug. 18.—An apparently crazed farmer today shot and killed three men, wounded two others seriously, then committed suicide.

The farmer, Clem Wright, 33 years old, killed his father, J. W. Wright, who was sitting on the front porch of his home near here. Then he killed J. Will Douglas and Littleton J. Smothermon, also farmers, whom he met on the road. He fired into a wagon in which his brother, S. Wright, and Hammon Pope were riding and wounded them.

When officers surrounded him a short time later, Wright killed himself with his single-barreled shotgun.

250 FRENCH NATIVE SOLDIERS KILLED BY REBELS IN AFRICA

PARIS, Aug. 18.—Government dispatches reported that 250 French soldiers, most of them native troops, were killed the past week in clashes aimed at cleaning up the last rebel strongholds in the Atlas Mountains in Africa.

Thousands of insurgents have surrendered to the 25,000 troops engaged in the warfare.

SENATOR ASSERTS NRA THREATENS TO RETARD BUSINESS

Schall of Minnesota Denounces Recovery Program, Calling It "Weird and Revolutionary."

SAYS HINDRANCES ARE ALREADY SEEN

Alleges Firms Are Using Subterfuge by Reducing Hours but Not Employing More Workers.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18—The industrial recovery program under the administration of Hugh S. Johnson was attacked in a formal statement today by Senator Schall (Rep.), Minnesota, as one that is "weird and revolutionary" and threatening to retard proper business advancement.

"There was no call to suspend the anti-trust laws and institute price boosting codes for the industries," his statement said. "There was certainly no call to place the industries of the country under a military regime, with a Brigadier-General and blue eagle banners, to enforce price codes not authorized by law.

"The country is now finding this truth out at a high cost of living, 100 per cent increase in price of cotton goods, increases of 25 per cent to 50 per cent in this price level and that, the arrest of its building industry, and reaction in the retail trade, car loading, bank deposits and even recently in the steel industry."

Asking that there be a "pause in this hectic 'NIRA' campaign long enough to note where we are going," he said: "Already the acceptance of the NRA program is one of subterfuge. Houses are flying the blue eagle, reducing hours to 40 per week, but they are not employing any more people.

"If Gen. Johnson looks upon freedom of speech, against his suspension of anti-trust laws, as something treasonable, let him make the most of it," he added.

Saying "the Soviet eagle differs from Johnson's only in having a double head," Schall concluded, "We need no Stalin, no Hitler, no Mussolini, no Machado, no Brigadier-General Johnson, we do not need even a blue eagle banner—for the stars and stripes still wave."

Thomas D. Schall, blinded in an accident at the age of 21, served five terms in the House before being elected to succeed Senator Magnus Johnson in 1924. He first went to the House as an Independent, but in 1918 was elected as a Republican.

5 COTTON MILLS TO CLOSE DUE TO PILED UP STOCKS

NRA Wage Scale and 40-Hour Week Have Demoralized Market, Paper Says.

By the Associated Press.

ROCKINGHAM, N. C., Aug. 18.—The Rockingham Post-Dispatch says that five cotton mills in this country will be closed next week due to "piled up goods with no sales, caused by uncertainty and stagnation in markets." The mills employ about 3000 workers.

The paper lists the mills as the Hannah Pickett Nos. 1 and 2; the Entwistle Manufacturing Co. No. 1; the Pee Dee Manufacturing Co. Nos. 1 and 2; and says the night shift of the Pee Dee No. 2 did not operate this week.

"The processing tax and increased costs from the NRA wage scale and the 40-hour week have combined to demoralize the textile goods markets," the paper says, adding that the mills "hope this shutdown will be but for a week and that the market will right itself and enable the mills to continue full time—two shifts of 40 hours a week for each mill."

REACTION ON STOCK MARKET, SOME LEADERS ARE OFF $4

Farm Implement and Commodity Shares Affected by Slump in Wheat.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—A recurrence of the reactionary tendencies in the wheat market brought heavy selling into he stock market today and the pivotal leaders closed with losses running to 4 points.

Liquor shares were heavily hit.

J. I. Case and the other farm implement and commodity shares reacted from 1 to more than 4 points in sympathy with wheat.

Consolidated Gas dipped more than 2 points, bringing selling into American Telephone, Public Service and United Gas improvement. The pool favorites came in for some heavy profit-taking. Motor shares were weak, Auburn losing 5 points.

NO U. S. RELIEF UNLESS MISSOURI PAYS ITS SHARE

Administrator Wires Gov. Park Grants Will Stop After Nov. 1, If Conditions Are Not Met.

$25,000 STATE FUND NEGLIGIBLE, HE SAYS

However, He Promises Governor's Committee $200,000 to $300,000 for Immediate Needs.

By RAYMOND P. BRANDT,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Harry L. Hopkins, Federal Emergency Relief Administrator, informed Gov. Park today that the State of Missouri must contribute at least one-third of the funds for local unemployment relief for expect no extraordinary Federal relief grants after Nov. 1.

Administrator Hopkins sent a telegram to this effect to the Governor after a two-hour conference with the Governor's committee composed of Wallace Crossley, State relief director; Dr. Isidor Loeb of St. Louis and J. E. Woodmanns of Kansas City.

Asked whether Hopkins' ultimatum meant that the Governor would have to call a special session of the Legislature, the committee members said they preferred to have Gov. Park answer that question.

Hopkins said that the $250,000 authorized by the State for unemployment relief this year was a negligible sum "and that the State must do its full share of relief work if it expected to get its full share of Federal relief funds."

Promises Emergency Aid.

The committee was successful in obtaining from Hopkins a promise of $200,000 to $300,000 for immediate needs from the $250,000,000 of unrestricted funds placed at his disposal by Congress. The exact amount will be made known after State Director Crossley makes a survey in Missouri. Another $250,000,000 was appropriated by Congress to enable the Federal Government to pay one-third of local unemployment relief.

"Unemployment relief in Missouri," said Hopkins, after the conference, "costs about $1,000,000 a month. Cities and counties have been providing about $300,000 a month. It is clear that these local communities have carried the bulk of the load almost entirely during the last two years. These have been heroic efforts.

"We have now reached the point where we must consider where other money is to come from. It is doubtful that the cities and counties can put up more than one-third of the cost. Yet the unemployed must be cared for during the coming winter.

"The Federal Emergency Relief Act authorized the Federal Government to pay two-thirds of the local costs. The question arises, who should pay the other third.

Says State Must Do Its Part.

"Most states in a situation like Missouri's have provided their one-third share. There is no reason why Missouri should not do likewise. Missouri has 61,524 families now receiving relief, representing between 250,000 and 300,000 individuals. The people of Missouri should realize that it costs about $15 a month a family to supply relief. The funds are well administered and the Federal Government is willing to do its share on an adequate basis.

"But after Nov. 1, we are not prepared to contribute unless Missouri takes care of its own citizens. Other states are doing their fair share by providing state contributions through taxes. With other states co-operating wholeheartedly, Missouri cannot expect to share in Federal funds unless it does its part."

Hopkins said that although the efforts of the National Recovery, the Agriculture Adjustment and the Public Works Administrations undoubtedly would help the unemployment situation in Missouri, the State, nevertheless, should be prepared to take care of a large number of unemployed.

$3000 FIRE IN MONSANTO CHEMICAL WORKS PLANT

Blaze Follows Explosion in Plant at Second and Lesperance Streets.

Fire in the plant of the Monsanto Chemical Works at Second and Lesperance streets this afternoon caused damage to equipment estimated at $3000 by J. W. Livingston, manager.

The fire followed an explosion at 3 o'clock in the organic acid department, caused, apparently, by the boiling over of a vat. No one was injured. The fire was extinguished about 10 minutes after a second alarm was turned in.

13 PICKETS FINED $25 FOR GARMENT STRIKE ACTIVITY

Provisional Police Judge Herman D. Olian Refuses to Hear Witness for One Woman.

Provisional Police Judge Herman D. Olian today fined 12 pickets for striking garment workers $25 each for general peace disturbance and in another case fined a woman striker $25 for individual peace disturbance after refusing to hear a witness in her behalf.

In only two of the general peace disturbance cases was the formality of a separate trial observed. After the first two had been found guilty and fined, George E. Duemler, attorney for all of the defendants, inquired whether Judge Olian intended to fine all if the testimony in the other cases was substantially the same.

"I intend to fine all—anybody who was in the crowd if they were on picket duty and if the police testimony is the same in each case," Judge Olian responded.

'Has Been Watching Situation.'

"Furthermore," he added, "I know what the situation is there, because I've been over there watching it."

When court had adjourned Judge Olian was asked about his statement that he had been "watching the situation." He told a reporter he had observed the pickets as he drove by on his way home. The interview developed that Judge Olian's uncle, Morris Olian, 5572 Bartmer avenue, owns several pieces of real estate on Washington avenue and has garment manufacturers as tenants, but Judge Olian said none of the cases before him involved those properties.

Duemler ascertained from the policemen that their testimony in each case would be the same—that they arrested the strikers because they formed into groups, blocking the sidewalk, because they were singing and calling "scab!" to workers who entered Washington avenue dress factories.

The remaining defendants were then gathered before the bench and fines assessed in each case. Each of them gave notice of appeal, as had those who were tried before them.

The first two to be tried, and fined, were Isaac Tucker and Sam Crachiola. The policemen testified, in Tucker's case, that they could not say that Tucker, individually, sang, called "scab," or blocked the sidewalk, but that they were sure he was in a group that was doing those things.

Versions of Defendants.

Tucker denied that he had done anything except stand on the sidewalk. Sam Crachiola protested that he had taken no part in any demonstration. He said he had just arrived at the entrance to a factory when police arrested him along with the others.

Those fined with Tucker and Crachiola were Philip Kalmes, Frank Locono, Rose Casono, Alfreda Hopwood, Mildred Doell, Frank Susonetti, Margaret Shouerd, Ora Heins, Mrs. Pansy Waldron and Gloria Waldron.

The last two are the wife and daughter of J. Clark Waldon, instructor in sociology and economics at Beaumont High School, who was himself arrested as a strike sympathiser several days ago. He was acquitted of a peace disturbance charge.

The case in which Judge Olian refused to hear a witness was that

WOMAN KILLED BY SICK HUSBAND FEARED VIOLENCE

Mrs. Karl McNutt Had Said She Was Afraid She Would Be Slain on Visit to Him.

Karl McNutt, 32 years old, who was under treatment for a nervous breakdown, shot and killed his wife when she came to see him yesterday afternoon, and then killed himself.

The shooting was at the home of McNutt's father, C. H. McNutt, 1414 North Fifty-fourth street, East St. Louis, where the son has been living recently because his mental condition made it necessary for him to have treatment and his wife was occupied looking after his business.

The wife, Mrs. Emma McNutt, 30, had feared for some time that McNutt might become violent. She told her sister, Mrs. Dora Wells, who was living with her at the McNutt home, 3000A Miami street, about it when she got word that her husband wanted to see her.

"I'm afraid," Mrs. Wells quoted her, "that he might kill me and kill himself."

Doctor Waits in Auto.

Because she was afraid, she asked McNutt's physician, Dr. Henry W. Schulz, 2603A Cherokee street, to accompany her to East St. Louis. At her suggestion Dr. Schulz waited in the automobile outside the North Fifty-fourth street home. She was to call him as soon as she finished conversing with her husband.

McNutt's stepmother was present when his wife arrived at 2:30 p. m. "Karl told me," she related later, "that he wanted to talk privately to Emma. He asked me to go out somewhere. I told him I wasn't dressed to go out and he said, 'Go out anyway.' I went to the back porch and sat on the steps.

"In a few minutes I heard a shot and ran into the house; then another shot, and I saw Karl fall in the bathroom doorway. I saw Emma sitting in a chair in the bedroom and I went to her to try and get her up. Then I saw that she had been shot in the head."

Wife Shot in Back of Head.

From the position of the bodies it was apparent that McNutt stood in the doorway between the bedroom and the bathroom, fired a shot into the back of his wife's head and then shot himself behind the right ear. Both died almost instantly.

McNutt left a note which members of his family turned over to deputy sheriffs. They refused, however, to discuss it, other than to say it was rambling and disconnected.

McNutt and his wife had been married eight years. They had no children. He was manager of the Carbosine Laboratory, 3120 South Broadway, which is owned by an uncle. For the last six weeks his wife had been running the business because he was unable to work.

She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Dora Mohler, 4838 Siegel avenue, five sisters and two brothers. McNutt is survived by his father, who is in charge of distribution for an East Side charitable agency and one brother.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Surgeon Dies While Operating.

WAUSAU, Wis., Aug. 18.—Dr. R. W. Jones, 54 years old, a surgeon, fell dead as he was performing a major operation. Feeling faint, he asked for a chair, but slumped to the floor before it was brought. An assistant successfully completed the operation.

JOBLESS MEN FORCE 1400 TO QUIT HARD COAL MINES

"We All Work or Nobody Works" Group Declares, Continues on to Other Collieries After Closing Two Shafts.

MEETING CALLED AT MAHONOY CITY.

Pennsylvania Owners Say They Cannot Divide Employment as Requested—State Police Are Placed on Guard.

By the Associated Press.

HAZLETON, Pa., Aug. 18.—Fourteen hundred miners went on strike at two anthracite collieries today in response to the appeal of men without jobs who demand "We all work or nobody works."

A motorcade wound around the road to Cranberry colliery of the Lehigh Navigation Coal Co., conferred with miners' leaders and a short time later, A. Waibridge, superintendent, announced that his men had gone out on a "forced" strike. Miners' chiefs said about 800 men quit.

The miners moved on to Mahanoy City, where later in the day they voted to comply with Gov. Pichot's request that they suspend all picketing until Monday.

Earlier today, 600 miners of the Taska-Williams Alliance pit were recruited to the cause of the idle workers.

The miners are demanding that work time be divided equally among the collieries of the Lehigh Navigation Coal Co., but officials told the miners yesterday that this plan is out of the question at present, because some orders specify coal that can be obtained only from certain mines.

Today's demonstrations were orderly, but State police sent to the scene yesterday by Gov. Pinchot remained on guard.

The day before Gov. Pinchot had been warned by union officers that 6000 men would become uncontrollable if they were not given work soon.

Led by buglers and drummers, the unemployed miners descended on Taska-Williams from Tamaqua, Coaldale, Lansford, Summithill and a dozen smaller communities in Schuylkill and Carbon Counties.

James H. Gildea, editor of a weekly newspaper in Coaldale and leader in the movement, told the throng that "if the time work and tonnage was distributed evenly through Panther Creek Valley there would be nine days' work for each man" in a month.

Jobless Oklahoma Miners Demand Food and Get It.

By the Associated Press.

HARTSHORNE, Ok., Aug. 18.—Jobless coal miners and their families marched on the business district of Hartshorne last night, demanded food and got it.

"You are breaking your way into the penitentiary," Mayor Joe Brown told the crowd, which he estimated at 400 persons.

"That's right, and we'll be fed in the penitentiary," one of the leaders of the march shouted. "We want food, and if you don't give it to us we are going into the stores and get it."

Citizens hastily organized a committee, visited grocers for supplies and other business men for cash donations. About $100 was raised. This was turned over to the food stores, and the throng fed in the streets. Many women and children were in the crowd. There are 4000 miners in this district, many of whom have not had steady employment for three years.

TRUSTY GUARD KILLS CONVICT WHEN HE TRIES TO ESCAPE

Virgil Williams Shot When He Makes Dash for Woods at Arkansas Prison Farm.

By the Associated Press.

TUCKER PRISON FARM, Ark., Aug. 18.—Virgil Williams, alias Gene Ralph Morgan, serving a life term for the slaying of a Little Rock detective, was killed by a trusty guard today as he ran for the woods surrounding a field where he was working with other convicts.

Williams was sentenced to death for the slaying of Detective McDermott, who, with other officers, surprised him and a confederate during a holdup. The Supreme Court set aside the death sentence and Williams was sentenced to life imprisonment.

OIL TRADE CODE WILL BE SENT TO PRESIDENT TODAY

Johnson to Make Only Slight Changes Despite Strong Criticism by Petroleum Leaders.

DEFENDS OUTPUT CONTROL SECTION

Administrator Says Industry Has Had "Every Chance to Represent Any Possible Views."

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Indications that the oil industry's trade code would go to President Roosevelt with few changes, were given oday by Recovery Administrator Johnson, after strong criticism of it had been lodged with him by petroleum leaders.

In his press conference, Johnson said submission of the code to the industry by the NRA and administration "was not a high-handed proposition because these people have had every chance to represent any possible views." Johnson indicated some slight revisions might be made in the program before he sent it to the White House but indicated it would definitely go to the President today.

One change he said he would make was in answer to a request from E. O. Thompson, member of the Texas Railroad Commission, that the production control section saying that the Federal Government shall allocate production to a state be made to provide instead that it "recommend" the production quota.

Calls It Technical Change.

Johnson explained this was merely a technical change so that it would be a recommended step "rather than imposing the will of the Government," but smilingly adding it would in no wise affect the provision giving the Federal Government full authority to prevent shipment out of a state of more than the production allotted it by the Government.

The production control section, which stipulates the Government shall exercise its power over interstate commerce to prevent the "pouring out of unmanageable oil that nearly ruined a great industry," Johnson said, "is based on the most constitutional provision of any law."

"The only penalty for the states (that exceed their quota) is that they will have to float in their own oil," Johnson said.

He expressed the view that if oil production in Texas alone could be regulated adequately the question of production control nationally would be simple.

Price Section Written by Johnson.

Johnson said he himself wrote the section of the code's regulating price provision stipulating as a basis that a barrel of crude oil should cost 18½ times the price of a gallon of gasoline at refinery according to quality of each. This provision does not satisfy the majority of the industry demanding rigid price supervision, whose spokesmen took their appeal direct to Roosevelt today.

Asked if he planned to license the oil industry Johnson said the NRA would if necessary but that "that looks like it is a long way off if ever."

White House Oil Code Compromise of Views of Ickes and Johnson.

The oil agreement, drafted at the White House, represented a compromise between viewpoints of Administrator Johnson and Secretary of the Interior Ickes over the extent to which the Government should supervise prices and production. It is to become effective two weeks after its approval by President Roosevelt.

The production section, in effect supplying the Government with power to go within a State to hold the flow to market demand, was virtually the same as that represented by the Interior Department. The price provisions represented an adjustment between the proposals of Johnson and Ickes.

The price section provides for fixing the ratio between the price of crude oil and gasoline at the refinery, with the cost of crude oil a barrel to be 18.5 times that price of a gallon of gasoline. It stipulates that for a test period of 90 days, the President shall fix the base price of gasoline. After that 90-day period, he is authorized to revise the 18.5 ratio formula and add "such additional formulas relative to the wholesaling and retailing of petroleum and its products in such manner as, in his opinion, may be necessary to effectuate the purposes of the National Industrial Recovery Act."

The 18.5 ratio was decided on, the code set forth, because it was the average relationship during the 1928-1932 period. The base qualities to be used would be 36 to 36.9 gravity mid-continent for crude and the average Group 3 price a gallon of gasoline of 57-65 octane rating. Lower and higher quality crudes and gasolines would be cared for in their proper differential to this base.

Oil experts explained that the 1928-32 average for Group 3 price gasoline was around 4 cents a gallon, and that under this provision, a barrel of crude would be worth approximately 74 cents.

In authorizing the President to limit imports of oil if he felt it necessary, the code provided for curtailing withdrawals of oil from storage during the rest of this year to 100,000 barrels daily, and in the future subject to approval by a committee of the industry.

A Federal agency, to be designated by the President, was authorized to estimate production needed to meet demands, taking into account imports and withdrawals from storage, and allocate the production among the oil states.

State's Authority Defined.

Division of the production within a state was left up to the state, with a condition that if it did not allocate, its production or produced more than the share allotted it "the President may regulate the shipment of petroleum or petroleum products out of said state to the extent necessary" to effectuate the recovery campaign.

Should a state not have any agency regulating oil production, but have a law requiring industries within that state to comply with the NRA program, President Roosevelt was empowered to designate an agency to allocate production quotas.

With one exception—the increasing of hours for filling station employes from 40 to 48 a week—the wage and hour provisions of the code were the same as more recently announced by Johnson as a modification of the President's blanket code.

A 40-hour week it provided for marketing operation employes, except filling station workers, and a like week for clerical employes in production, refining, and pipe line activities, with pay rates ranging from 40 to 47 cents an hour and from 45 to 52 cents, by geographic areas.

Exclusive Contracts.

In answer to a demand from marketers that the lease and agency system, whereby distributors bind a retailer to handle their products only, a conditional provision was included for a moratorium on this practice pending a decision on its legality by the Trade Commission, which now is investigating it.

An indirect way of inquiring into pipe line and other transportation practices was written into the code, along with provisions for administration by a Federal agency to be designated by the President and a planning and Co-ordination Committee of 12, nine from the industry and three from the NRA.

The Transportation Subcommittee of the Planning Committee was authorized to investigate transportation practices and rates and recommend to the President "such action as may be appropriate."

Members of the Planning Committee would be appointed by the President from nominees submitted by groups within the industry.

Policeman's Slayer Hanged.

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Cal., Aug. 18.—Joseph Francis Regan, 26 years old, was hanged here today for the murder of Hugh Crowley, policeman of Westwood, Los Angeles County. Gov. Rolph rejected a last-minute appeal for clemency and said he would not interfere with the execution of Jack D. Green, 30, set for Sept. 15. Green was convicted with Regan. The policeman was shot Jan. 11, 1932, in a theater holdup.

Harvey Bailey, Gunman, in Custody

HARVEY BAILEY

IN JAIL at Dallas, Tex., where he was arraigned on Federal warrant, charging him with kidnaping Charles F. Urschel, Oklahoma City, Ok., oil man. Bailey pleaded not guilty and his bond was fixed at $100,000. This was a legal formality, however, since Bailey as an escaped convict from the Kansas penitentiary is not eligible to release on bail. He is also accused of the killing in Kansas City of a prisoner and four officers with a machine gun.

TWO MISSING IN TRAIN WRECK IN ILLINOIS; 15 CARS BURN

Tank and Refrigerator Carriers Pile Up in Front of Station at Kinderhook.

KINDERHOOK, Ill., Aug. 18.—At least two, and probably more men riding on a fast Wabash Railroad freight train bound from Kansas City to Chicago, were believed to have lost their lives today when it was derailed, following an explosion, and caught fire.

The accident occurred about 1 a. m. and resulted in the piling up of 15 or 16 cars, mostly of the refrigerator type, in front of the station here. Hours later the wreckage was still burning fiercely, fed by fuel from a tank car, and rescue work was almost impossible.

One man, who identified himself as Earl Gray, 30 years old, no address, was extricated and sent to a Hannibal (Mo.) hospital. It was feared he had received a broken back. As Gray was carried to the station platform, he urged his rescuers "not to bother with me," but to save his two companions, still in the wreckage. However, they could not be found, and it was feared they had burned to death.

Village Marshal John Tull witnessed the wreck and said that just before the cars left the rails and burst into flames a terrific explosion shook the train. The engine and first 21 cars were undamaged.

TWO KILLED IN 1200-FOOT PLUNGE ON THE WEISSHORN

Swiss Guide and Companion Had Climbed to Top of 14,800-foot Peak.

ZERMATT, Switzerland, Aug. 18.—Two persons were killed in a plunge of 1200 feet yesterday after they climbed the Weisshorn, which is 14,800 feet high.

One of the dead was identified as the Swiss guide Franz Lochmatter, who is widely known in the region. All Americans in the district have been accounted for.

Police Car Upsets; Officer Killed.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 18.—Police Sergeant Eric O. Bjorkback was killed early today when the scout car in which he was chasing suspected robbers overturned after hitting a hole in the street. His companion, Patrolman L. E. Wyatt, who was driving, suffered a broken collar bone.

POLLS FOR REPEAL ELECTION OPEN AT 6 A. M. TOMORROW

669 Places in St. Louis Will Close at 7 P. M.—Same Hours to Be Observed in County.

The 669 St. Louis polling places will open at 6 a. m. tomorrow, for the special State election which will determine Missouri's action on the proposed repeal of the eighteenth amendment. The polls will close at 7 p. m. The same hours will be observed in St. Louis County.

Voting will be a very brief process. The ballot gives the voter two alternatives, as follows:

1. For the delegates FAVORING the pending amendment to the Constitution of the United States.
2. For the delegates OPPOSING the pending amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

How to Vote for Repeal.

The "pending amendment" is the proposed twenty-first amendment, which repeals the eighteenth. Therefore, opponents of national prohibition, who desire repeal of the eighteenth amendment, should mark a cross through paragraph (2), so that their vote will be counted for the delegates favoring repeal.

Those wishing to vote for retention of the eighteenth amendment will cross out paragraph (1), and will thus be voting for the delegates who oppose repeal.

The names of the delegates are not printed on the ballot. The delegates, who have been named by State senatorial districts, must vote, at the State convention Aug. 29, in accordance with the platform on which they were elected. Voters, therefore, are not delegating their power, but are, in effect, voting directly for or against repeal.

A very heavy majority for repeal is expected in St. Louis, and the leaders of the United Repeal Council, with headquarters here, predict that the rest of the State will also vote decisively for repeal, and that the State result as a whole will be a vote of 3-to-1 or more for repeal. Some have estimated the ratio as high as 5-to-1.

Vote of 150,000 Predicted in City.

In the city, with a registration of 385,012 at the mayoralty election last April, a vote of 150,000 is predicted by Chairman Waechter of the Election Board. Waechter predicted that the division of this city vote would be about 140,000 for repeal to 10,000 against repeal, or 14 to 1 for repeal.

The result in the city should be known by 10 p. m., the chairman said, as tabulation of the vote is a simple matter, compared with tabulation of votes on ballots bearing the names of a list of candidates.

Missouri, if it votes for repeal, will be the twenty-second state to join in the repeal movement. No state has thus far voted to retain the eighteenth amendment. A total of 36 states, three-fourths of the whole number, is required to accomplish repeal. The 21 states which have cast popular votes for repeal, most of which have since completed the process of holding state conventions, are Michigan, Wisconsin, Rhode Island, New Jersey, Wyoming, New York. Delaware, Nevada, Illinois, Indiana, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Hampshire, Iowa, West Virginia, California, Arkansas, Alabama, Tennessee, Oregon and Arizona.

Mayor Dickmann today issued an appeal to all St. Louis voters, whatever their sentiments on the question at issue, to go to the polls tomorrow, so that the will of the majority may be shown clearly by the result.

Dry workers in St. Louis and elsewhere in the State have made no claims of victory in tomorrow's election. Their chief point of discussion has been whether dry voters should go to the polls, or should ignore the election. Supt. Tate of the Anti-Saloon League has favored the ignoring policy, but the leaders of the State W. C. T. U. have urged their members to vote, and to get out all possible votes, in opposition to repeal.

NAZI STRIKES AMERICAN WHO FAILS TO GIVE SALUTE

Embassy Enters Protest Against Storm Troopers' Attack During Berlin Parade.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BERLIN, Aug. 18.—Whether Americans in Germany are compelled to give the Hitlerite Fascist salute, forced itself on the American Embassy today when a protest to Berlin police was made against a Nazi "storm trooper's" attack on Dr. Daniel A. Mulvihill, an American physician.

A Storm Trooper struck Dr. Mulvihill a blow behind the ear when the physician failed to raise his right arm in salute as a Nazi parade swept by.

Dr. Mulvihill is a staff member of the Long Island College Hospital, Brooklyn, and a native of Danbury, Conn. He has been in Berlin two weeks, studying at a charity clinic. He was watching a Nazi parade on Unter den Linden Tuesday night, unaware that the Hitlerites were insisting that every spectator at one of their many parades raise their right hand in salute.

According to his report to police, the physician was examining a new type of horn in the Nazi band when a "storm trooper" broke ranks, dashed over to him and hit Dr. Mulvihill a staggering blow behind the ear.

The storm trooper has been seized by the secret police and turned over to the regular police authorities, it was learned today.

OWNERS NAME COMMITTEE TO PUT THROUGH COAL CODE

Will Meet With Gen. Johnson Tomorrow in Effort to Arrive at Agreement.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug . 18.—The bituminous coal industry today appointed a committee of about 30 operators to consider with Recovery Administration officials on a code of fair competition for the industry.

Each group of operators which presented a code was represented on the new committee which tomorrow will meet Hugh S. Johnson, Recovery Administrator, and Deputy Administrator Kenneth M. Simpson in an effort to meet President Roosevelt's request that a code by completed before the end of the week.

"The President is very desirous of getting very prompt action on the cial code," Simpson said as he met the operators late today. "I think you all know that we've had a great deal of pressure put on us to speed up action on coal, oil and steel. We are acting faster than we had expected to."

MAN AND WOMAN SHOT DEAD

Bodies Along Road Near Peoria; Murder-Suicide Indicated.

PEORIA, Ill., Aug. 18.—Bodies of a man and woman, identified by police as those of Walter Nave, a parking lot employe formerly of Bloomington and Chicago, and Marie Myers of Peoria were found on the road side in South Bartonville, three miles south of Peoria, last night.

The woman had been shot twice through the head and the man once. Police said a revolver lay between them, and that he evidently had shot her twice and then himself.

employes covered hereby shall be at the following hourly rates regardless of whether the employe is compensated on the basis of time rate or a piece rate or otherwise:

To adult male factory employes in cities having 500,000 population or over, 43 cents.

In cities having 250,000 and less than 500,000 population, 41½ cents.

In cities or towns having less than 250,000 populations, 40 cents.

To male factory employes over 16 and less than 21 years of age, and to female factory employes, except those doing the same work as adult males, a differential of 5 cents below the respective hourly rates above mentioned in the respective localities above mentioned.

Factory employes covered hereby (excluding supervisory staff and all employes engaged in the preparation, care and maintenance of plant, machinery and facilities of and for production) shall work not more than 48 hours in any one week, and not more than 35 hours per week averaged for the period from the effective date to the expiration date.

Office and other salaried employes covered hereby receiving less than $35 per week shall work not more than 48 hours in any one week, and not more than 40 hours per week averaged for the period from the effective date to the expiration date.

The minimum wages of office and salaried employes covered hereby shall not be less than the following weekly rates: In cities having 500,000 population or over, at the rate of $15 per week; in cities having 250,000 and less than 500,000 population, at the rate of $14.50 per week; in cities or towns having less than 250,000 population at the rate of $14 per week. Employers in the industry shall not employ any person under the age of 16 years, child labor having at no time ever been a factor in the automobile industry.

Each employer engaged in the industry will furnish approximately every four weeks duly certified reports in such form as may hereafter be provided showing actual hours worked by the various occupational groups of employes and wages paid.

Employer's View.

Donaldson Brown of General Motors denied that the open shop clause was an attempt to modify or qualify the meaning of the act. He said it was intended to "reassure" employers and employes.

Chief Counsel Richberg sharply criticised it, saying it might result in Government sanction for labor policies which violate the Recovery act. He objected—and he made it known that Johnson objects—to the use of the phrase "open shop policy."

"That phrase is open to wide variations of construction," he said. "If it means that the factories will be closed to union men or to union organization, it violates the law. The President would have no power to approve such a code." He suggested that the language be eliminated.

Alvin MacAuley of the Packard company, president of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, told the Administrator that the industry had "suffered a serious decline in volume during the last four years," and that it "recognizes that the purchasing power of the public must be restored if the previous volume of production is to be approached."

Under the proposed code, he estimated, 41,000 workers would be added to the payroll on the basis of an annual production of 2,000,000 cars a year, and 152,000 would be added if production reached 3,333,000 cars.

The automobile men made no immediate response to Richberg's suggestion, and indicated a disposition to fight over the matter.

Brown said, in reply to a question, that the code would add an average of $20 to $30 to the cost of each car.

"Is it possible that increased volume of production would enable you to absorb the cost?" Richberg asked. "That's what we are hoping for," Brown replied.

DOLLAR LOSES GROUND, CLOSES $4.53 TO POUND

Reports of Control Fund to Prevent Too Rapid Improvement Causes London Drop.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—After a period of comparative stability the American dollar became active today and dropped in value on reports from the United States that a control fund was contemplated to prevent too rapid improvement. The closing quotations was $4.53¼, which indicated an increase of 15 cents in the relative value of the pound from yesterday's close of $4.38¼.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Aug. 18.—The American dollar lost 49 centimes in value today, closing at 18.72 francs (5.34 cents to the franc), compared with yesterday's close of 19.21 (5.26 cents). The market reacted to weakness in New York.

GOV. POLLARD URGES REPEAL ACTION BY VIRGINIA ASSEMBLY

By the Associated Press.

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 18.—Gov. Pollard yesterday urged the extraordinary session of the General Assembly to legalize beer, provide for referenda on repeal of national and State prohibition on Oct. 3, and to name a commission to study and report to the regular session in January a liquor-control bill as a substitute for the State prohibition act.

LABOR MEN ASK ROOSEVELT TO PUT RAILROADS UNDER NRA

Demand That Lines Adopt Code Which Is Being Applied to Other Industries.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Railway labor went direct to President Roosevelt today with the demand that the railroads come under the terms of the national industrial recovery program.

A special committee representing the Railway Labor Executive Association asked Roosevelt to insist that the roads adopt the code of shorter working hours and higher wages which are being applied to other industries.

The group headed by A. F. Whitney, chairman of the association, also complained that the carriers were failing to maintain employment as required under the Railway Emergency Act.

Others of the delegation included D. V. Robertson of the Brotherhood of Firemen and Engineers; J. A. Phillips of the Railway Conductors; J. H. Lang of the Railway Clerks, and B. M. Jewell of the American Federation of Labor.

UTAH TAKES CONTROL OF BIG LOAN CONCERN

$26,035,725 Company Has 21,000 Shareholders in Eight States.

By the Associated Press.

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 18.—The Western Loan and Building Co., listing assets and liabilities of $26,035,725 as of Dec. 31, 1932, has been ordered placed in the hands of the Utah State Bank Commissioner to conserve the assets of the company for the benefit of 21,000 shareholders in eight Western States.

The action was taken last night by the board of directors of the company after a conference with state officials in charge of banking and building and loan departments of Utah, Montana, Wyoming, Oregon and California.

John A. Malia, State Bank Commissioner, in addition to being authorized to conserve assets, was asked to co-operate with the company's directorate in a reorganization plan.

State officials announced an examination made by the Utah, California and Montana building and loan departments disclosed heavy depreciation of the company's major real estate investments in California which was said to have placed the company in an unsafe position.

Mrs. Anthony C. McCartney, chairman of the St. Louis County women's division of the State Recovery Board, announced chairmen for four St. Louis County towns yesterday. They are: Webster Groves, Mrs. C. B. Kenamore; Kirkwood, Mrs. E. F. Brancourt; Glendale, Mrs. L. P. Wingert; Maplewood, Mrs. Alicia Courtney. Mrs. Augusta Powers, Jefferson Barracks, was named chairman for the unincorporated section of Carondelet Township.

Leather Workers' Local Drafts Labor Provisions for Code.

Local 66 of the United Leather Workers' Union has drafted labor provisions which it will ask the recovery administration to include in the code for leather product manufacturers outside of the shoe industry. They ask a 35-hour week and minimum weekly wages of $35 for skilled workers, $28 for semiskilled and $20 for apprentices. Women would receive the same pay as men.

LAWYER DECLARES HE WAS FORCED TO CONFESS KILLINGS

Ohio Attorney Accused of Poisoning Four Persons Held at Little Rock After Arraignment.

By the Associated Press.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 18.—Mark H. Shank, 41-year-old Akron (O.) attorney accused of murdering four members of a family by giving them poison at a picnic, says his purported confession of guilt was made under duress.

He was brought here for safekeeping yesterday under heavy guard after arraignment at Benton, Ark. Shank pleaded not guilty but waived preliminary hearing and was ordered held without bond for action by the Saline County grand jury which meets Sept. 4.

Officers took his statement that the signed admission of the crime was forced from him at Hot Springs to mean that it would be repudiated.

Meanwhile, Shank's law partner, Fred G. Cain, on the way to Arkansas with E. H. Boyland, former Common Pleas Judge, and Shank's wife, announced a plea of temporary insanity would be used by the defense.

Shank, in his reputed confession, said the motive for the crime was fear that a woman friend of Colley's might implicate him in the theft of legal papers from the Prosecuting Attorney's office at Wooster, O. Colley was an investigator for Shank. Yesterday Shank intimated he might make a further statement implicating one or more other persons in the case.

Quadruple funeral services were held late today for the poison victims. The Rev. L. M. Keeling, Baptist minister, conducted the services in a funeral chapel at Malvern for Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Colley and their two young sons, Clement and Clarence. A three-year-old survivor of the poison plot, Clyde Colley, is recovering in a hospital in Malvern.

Woman Named in Case Tells Her Story to Police.

AKRON, O., Aug. 18.—Detective Chief Fred Deisz said that Miss Peggy O'Neil appeared voluntarily before him yesterday and made an oral statement purporting to clear up blackmail charges made by Mark H. Shank, Akron attorney and accused poisoner of four persons in Arkansas.

Chief Deisz quoted Miss O'Neil as saying the $400 Shank referred to in his confession in Arkansas was money he had promised to Alvin Colley, one of the victims, for stealing documents.

Chief Deisz said Miss O'Neil would not be taken in custody.

Dispatches from Benton, Ark., quoted Shank as saying in his confession that he was blackmailed into a frenzied state of mind by a woman friend of Colley's who, he said, threatened to implicate Shank in the theft of forgery case evidence from the Wayne County, O., Prosecutor's office unless he paid her $400.

Chief Deisz said Miss O'Neil pictured the Colley family as destitute, the children starving and illy clothed and quoted her as saying "Shank owed Colley the money and Alvin said he would rather go to the penitentiary than see his children starve."

She asserted, the Chief said, that Shank had offered Colley $500 to steal the documentary evidence from the Prosecutor's office last May and that Colley accepted the offer.

"I telephoned Shank in the presence of Mr. and Mrs. Colley," Miss O'Neil was quoted as saying, "and told him that if he didn't pay Alvin we would make it hot for him and reveal his operations."

Chief Deisz said the woman told him that Shank paid Colley $100 of the $500 in installments of two and three dollars.

"The last time I saw Alvin," she was quoted as saying, "he said that he was leaving for Arkansas where Shank had promised to get him a job in the harvest fields."

SLAYER SENTENCED TO HANG

Hitchhiker Killed Arizona Motorist Who Gave Him Ride.

By the Associated Press.

NOGALES, Ariz., Aug. 18.—George J. Shaughnessy, 18 years old, of Albany, N. Y., confessed slayer of Lon Blankenship, Tucson automobile dealer, was sentenced to hang by Superior Judge Charles L. Hardy today. The execution was set for Oct. 27.

Shaughnessy, a hitchhiker, was picked up by Blankenship last July 7 and shot his benefactor when Blankenship resisted his efforts to rob him.

BOGUS DETECTIVES IN $500 SWINDLE AT POLICE STATION

Railway Clerk Says He Gave Money to Two Men in Headquarters Lobby to "Fix" Arrest.

A $500 swindle, in which the victim said he turned over the money to two men in the lobby of Police Headquarters, was reported yesterday by Timothy E. Canty, railroad clerk living at 4929 Devonshire avenue.

Canty said the swindlers, posing as detectives, approached him and a casual acquaintance in a downtown office building Monday, and said they were under arrest. He said the acquaintance was a young man he had met on the street and was apparently working with the swindlers.

At the time of his "arrest," on a faked charge, Canty said he and his companion were taken by the swindlers to the lobby of the Civil Courts Building. The men asked his name and address and after some conversation said they could "fix things up" but that it would require money. Learning that he had money in the bank, they said they would see what they could do and would notify him and the other "prisoner."

Canty and his acquaintance separated. On Wednesday, the bogus detectives went to Canty's office in East St. Louis and told him he would have to come to St. Louis to arrange bond. On the way over, they suggested he withdraw $500 from the bank, which he did.

Taking him to the lobby of Police Headquarters, one man walked to the information desk and returned with a sheaf of papers. He asked for the $500 and Canty turned it over. The swindler again walked to the information desk and on returning, told Canty he might go, that he would be notified when to appear in court.

Canty said he became suspicious after going home and decided to notify police.

A similar case occurred a week ago but the prospective victim told police while negotiations were pending. Two men were arrested when they accepted marked money.

DRIVER DOZES; WOMAN KILLED

His Truck Collides With Auto Near Mexico, Mo.

MEXICO, Mo., Aug. 18.—Mrs. J. A. Buhler, 58 years old, of West Orange, N. J., was killed today when a truck driven by Howard Henderson, 26, of Thompson, Mo., collided with the automobile in which she was riding, on U. S. Highway No. 54, 10 miles east of here.

Mrs. Mary Roll of Cleveland road, Caldwell, N. J., her sister, and Mrs. S. F. Wilcox, Montclair, N. J., her niece, who were riding with Mrs. Buhler in the rear seat of the sedan, were injured, and were brought to a hospital here for treatment. Wilcox, who was driving, and Buhler, riding with him in the front seat, were uninjured. Henderson, who was returning from St. Louis after an all night drive there with a shipment of livestock, had dropped asleep at the wheel, he told authorities.

of Addie Parker, 1407 Tyler avenue, who was arrested Wednesday in the lobby of a building at 1307 Washington avenue. Mathilda Kampschneider, a worker who did not join the strike, testified she knocked her glasses from her face when she insisted on going to work.

Mathilda Kampschneider had caused the arrest also of Molly Austin, on the same charge, but in her testimony did not connect Molly Austin with the same incident and the case against her was dismisesd.

Duemler then sought to offer her as a witness for Addie Parker, but Judge Olian would not hear her, "because they were all on picket duty and I know they will stick together."

Addie Parker denied that she had knocked the glasses from the woman's face, but admitted she had talked to her, urging her to join the strike.

About 2000 workers, mostly women, walked out of silk and cotton dress factories Aug. 10 in response to a strike call by Ben Gilbert, local manager for the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union. Employers had refused recognition of the union.

CHARGES LAXITY IN GUARDING SKINKER RAILROAD CROSSING

Director of Public Safety Chadsey Makes Complaint to Rock Island Line.

Complaint that the Rock Island Railroad does not keep a watchman after 8 a. m. at its grade crossing at Skinker boulevard near the University street car tracks has been made by Director of Public Safety Chadsey to A. D. Aiken, assistant general freight agent.

Chadsey said he was informed a passenger train, more than an hour late from Kansas City, passed Skinker at about 9 a. m. yesterday at a high rate of speed. The crossing is protected by wooden gates operated by a watchman.

FOUR IN FAMILY HURT IN WRECK OF AUTO

Machine Skids Off Gravel Road and Plunges Down Embankment.

Four members of the family of Edward Krieger, 5924 Marwinette avenue, were injured when their automobile skidded off a gravel road and plunged down an embankment near Greenville, Mo., yesterday.

Audrey Krieger, 4 years old, is in serious condition at St. Anthony's Hospital with a punctured right lung. Edward Jr. suffered a fractured right wrist. Mrs. Edna Krieger, mother of the children, who was driving, was cut and bruised. Krieger's mother, Mrs. Emma Krieger, 77 years old, received scalp wounds. Krieger, an employe of Pevely Dairy, was not hurt.

Patrolman William Schneider, 5469 Wren avenue, and Theodore Fischer, 5472 Robin avenue, were cut and bruised when Fischer's truck skidded into a one-man Bellefontaine street car at Calvary and West Florissant avenues, during a rainstorm last night. Fischer, who was taking Schneider home, reported that he lost control of the truck while manipulating a windshield wiper. Schneider is attached to Page Boulevard Station.

Joseph Kane, 4369 Delmar boulevard, superintendent of the Municipal Courts Building, suffered scalp wounds when his automobile crashed into the Deer Street District police patrol at Newstead avenue and the Hodiamont tracks last night. He was booked to appear in police court Sept. 1 on a charge of careless driving.

FIRM SUED IN BANKRUPTCY

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed in Federal Court yesterday against James Moceri and Louis Chinoi, doing business as the Moceri Monument Co., 4748 West Florissant avenue.

Three petitioning creditors, the Georgia Granite Corporation, the Williamstown Granite Co. and Marr & Grodon, Inc., listed claims totaling $3441.

CHARGES BRUENING WARNED VATICAN ABOUT VON PAPEN

Paper Says He Urged That Church Not Be "Blinded by Big Promises" in Negotiations.

BERLIN, Aug. 18.—The newspaper Volkischer Beobachter, a National Socialist publication, cites correspondence purporting to show that Heinrich Bruening, former Chancellor of Germany and leader of the recently dissolved Catholic Center party, warned the Vatican "not to be blinded by big promises, for it would not be the first time promises were broken."

It is alleged that the former Chancellor sent this word to the Vatican by private courier and that a member of the Curia made reference to the dispatch in the presence of Vice-Chancellor Franz von Papen while hewas there carrying on negotiations which resulted in a concordat between the Reich and the Holy See.

The Volkischer Beobachter, which says the correspondence was printed in the Dutch Catholic press, declares "we expect Dr. Bruening to answer these revelations."

CODE FOR LEGITIMATE THEATER IS APPROVED

40-Hour Week for Actors, But Limit Does Not Apply During Rehearsals.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18. — A code of fair competition, aimed at restoring the American theater, was approved yesterday by President Roosevelt for the legitimate stage.

The code, which fixes maximum hours and minimum wages for actors, chorus girls, musicians and other employes, applies to dramatic and musical plays. Separate codes are to be worked out for motion pictures, vaudeville, burlesque, tent shows and other groups.

Actors with more than two years' experience will receive a minimum wage of $50 weekly when the top box-office price is $4.50 or more. The minimum scale ranges down to $40 where the box-office price is $3 and less.

Actors with less than two years' experience will receive a minimum of $25, while members of the chorus will get no less than $30 weekly.

A 40-hour week is fixed for all actors, with the stipulation that this limit shall not be binding during rehearsals.

The code becomes operative Aug. 27.

Minimum wages for musicians, moving picture operators and those "employes associated with organizations of or performing the duties of theatrical stage employes," was established at $30 weekly. Where the prevailing wage scale on July 1, 1933, for these classes was at a higher rate, the old rates of pay and maximum hours will remain in force.

Ushers and ticket takers were guaranteed a minimum of 30 cents an hour. Electrical workers, engineers, firemen and other skilled mechanics are to get a minimum of $30 weekly for 40 hours.

Separate wage provisions were contained in the code for stock company actors. These will range from $15 to $40.

NEW TRAP USED IN FIGHT ON MEXICAN FRUIT FLY

Texas Growers Seek State Aid to Provide Devices Needed for Protection.

WESLACO, Tex. — A move to obtain a State appropriation for 2500 or more of the new fly traps used in preventing spread of the Mexican fruit fly has been started in this section. The trap, devised by Dr. A. C. Baker, in charge of the U. S. experimental fruit fly laboratory in Mexico, is made of glass, instead of screen as are the old traps.

DISMISSAL OF UNION OFFICERS BACK OF CARBURETOR STRIKE

Labor Leader Says Carter Company Also Discharged Two Members of Code Committee.

The strike of union employes of the Carter Carburetor Corporation, 2838 North Spring avenue, called yesterday, followed the dismissal of three officers and two members of the code committee of the newly formed union, William M. Brandt, acting secretary of the Central Trades and Labor Union, declared today.

Brandt told a reporter that the president, vice-president and secretary of the union, as well as the two code committee members were discharged. The union membership was advised by labor leaders, who had charge of organizing the union, to walk out in protest, according to a plan advocated for all instances of the sort, Brandt said. "We do not encourage strikes, except where employers discharge employes for union activity," the labor leader explained.

Brandt estimated that two-thirds of the 400 employes of the plant have joined the new union, and are on strike. H. H. C. Weed, general manager, disputed Brandt's estimate of the number on strike, placing the figure at less than 100. Weed denied that any employes were dismissed for union activity, asserting that those let out had left their places on the production line and had otherwise broken company rules despite warnings.

SAYS KANSAS TREASURER GOT CASH TO REDEEM BOGUS BONDS

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 18.—Disclosures that Ronald Finney, broker, had paid currency into the office of Tom B. Boyd, State Treasurer, to redeem spurious bonds or interest coupons which had been presented to the treasury for payment, were made today by Fred M. Harris, special counsel for Gov. Landon in the $1,000,000 Kansas bond forgery investigation.

Both Boyd and Finney are under arrest.

St. Louis Food Prices Rise 9 Pct. In Month, U. S. Bureau Reports; Average of 8 1/3 Pct. in Big Cities

General Level Above 1913 Mark for First Time Since October, 1932—Potatoes Show an Advance of 57 Pct.

Post-Dispatch Bureau,
201-205 Kellogg Building.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Retail food prices in the 51 largest cities of the country increased on an average of eight and one-third per cent during the month from June 15 to July 15, the Labor Department Bureau of Labor Statistics announced last night. The increase in St. Louis was nine per cent.

The L or Department survey shows that for the first time since October, 1932, the general average of retail food prices rose above the 1913 level. The statistical bureau's weighted index numbers, based on average prices of 1913 as 100, were 101 for July 15 last year; 96.7 for June 15 this year, and 104.8 for July 15. The average price increase over July 15 last year was slightly less than four per cent.

Disparities in Increases.

The increase in food prices during the 30-day period this year showed great disparities when cities are compared. The increase in Minneapolis and St. Paul was 14 per cent, while in Birmingham, San Francisco and Seattle it was only three per cent. In Springfield, Ill., it was 11 per cent; in Chicago, 10 per cent; Little Rock, seven per cent; and Kansas City, New York, Portland, Ore., and Washington, D. C., six per cent.

For the period from July 15, 1932, to July 15, 1933, some of the typical increases were: St. Louis, Kansas City and Houston, 8 per cent; Louisville, 10 per cent; Springfield, Ill., 9 per cent; Peoria, 7 per cent; Chicago, New York, Philadelphia, Portland, Ore., and Richmond, Va., 1 per cent. Decreases were shown in Norfolk, Charleston, S. C., Newark and Little Rock.

Huge Jump in Potatoes.

"With the exception of fresh meats," the survey said, "price advances are showing in July, 1933, for practically all of the 42 articles of food included in the index. The increases for certain articles represent seasonal advances. The rise of 57 per cent in the average price for potatoes in July is partly due to the midsummer replacement of old potatoes by the new crop. However, this price was about 90 per cent higher than the average in July, 1932. Strictly fresh eggs and butter showed greater and earlier advances this year than usual, the increases being 22 per cent and 10 per cent, respectively. Due, no doubt, in the main to the processing tax on wheat, flour advanced 18 per cent and bread 9 per cent in the month. These were the only other articles showing increases of over 5 per cent.

"During the month from June 15, 1933, to July 15, 1933, the following articles increased in average price for the month: Potatoes, 57 per cent; strictly fresh eggs, 22 per cent; flour, 18 per cent; butter, 10 per cent; bread, 9 per cent; rolled oats and bananas, 5 per cent; lard, navy beans, onions and cabbage, 4 per cent; sliced bagon, cornmeal, macaroni and rice, 3 per cent; sliced ham, canned red salmon, fresh milk, margarine, cheese, wheat cereal, pork and beans, sugar, prunes and oranges, 2 per cent; round steak, evaporated milk, vegetable lard substitute, corn flakes, canned corn, canned tomatoes an dtea, 1 per cent, and sirloin steak, less than five-tenths of 1 per cent.

Some Decreases in Meat.

"Decreases were shown in the average price of the following: Plate beef, 4 per cent; rib roast, pork chops, lamb and hens, 2 per cent; and chuck roast, 1 per cent. The following articles showed no change in the month: Canned peas, coffee, and raisins."

The commodities taken as samples by the Labor Department have been subject to the criticism that they are not typical. They are supposed to represent food usually bought by working people.

To correlate these statistics with factory employment and payroll figures, it is interesting to note that the Labor Department announced several days ago that 1195 establishments in Missouri reported 113,664 persons on the payroll on July 15 this year. The total weekly payroll for these establishments was $2,256,099 and the average individual weekly wage was $19,85 cents. Food is a large item in the weekly budget of such a wage-earner.

Individual Wages Not Up.

Secretary of Labor Perkins said yesterday that the 7.9 per cent increase in payrolls from June 15 to July 15 represented an estimated increase of $7,500,000 paid in weekly wages to factory employes. She hastened to add, however, that the employment of 400,000 additional workers accounted for this increase in total wages.

In other words, the increases in employment and payrolls were about the same. The wages to the individual worker had not increased greatly if at all, although food costs and other expenses had increased.

When Miss Perkins commented on the employment and payroll figures at a newspaper conference yesterday she passed around an enormous graph, charting monthly payroll and employment figures since 1915.

This chart showed that during the "prosperous years" 1924 to 1929 total payrolls and total employment were always close together. She said that this was a "wholesole and normal condition."

In 1930 the two lines started precipitately downward but payrolls fell faster than employment, this represented the wage cutting. In March this year the employment line started upward but the payroll line lagged.

Miss Perkins said that "history of all economic upturns disclosed that payrolls lag behind employment." The latest figures on the chart show that employment is now 67.8 per cent of the 1926 average and payrolls are at 46.5 per cent, which means that about two-thirds of the number of persons employed in factories in 1926 were employed on July 15 but are receiving less than half the total monthly wages paid in that so-called normal year.

SCOUT PICNIC AND CARNIVAL IN FOREST PARK TOMORROW

Boys of Central District Will Hold Annual Outing at Old Tourist Camp.

The annual picnic and carnival of the Central District of the St. Louis Council of Boy Scouts will be held tomorrow afternoon and evening at the old tourist camp in Forest Park. More than 1000 scouts, scouters, parents and friends are expected to attend.

The program will open at 2 p. m. with a flag raising ceremony under the direction of P. W. Schull, district scout commissioner. Four troops will close the program by competing for the district flag in a camparall competition. In the evening, beginning at 7 o'clock, professional and scout entertainers will take part in a musical program. The picnic will close with the awarding of district streamers for the spring scoutcraft competition.

YACHT HELD AS LIQUOR BOAT

10 Men and Two Women Dressed in Natty Garb.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Aug. 18.—The Felicia, a 111-foot yacht, owned by Emanuel Morganlander of New York, was seized by Coast Guardsmen today with 1800 cases of contraband liquor aboard, Coast Guard officials announced. The yacht, officials said, was formerly owned by United States Senator Jesse H. Metcalf of Rhode Island, who is now cruising in Lake Erie aboard his new yacht Felicia.

The vessel, which was boarded after the commander of a patrol boat saw that it was low in the water, had 10 men and two women aboard, officials said, all of them dressed in trim yachting costumes. All persons aboard were held pending completion of the investigation.

INCOMES REDUCED UNDER CODE, SHOE STRIKERS ASSERT

Hamilton-Brown Factory at Union, Mo., Is Picketed After Walkout of 900 Employes.

UNION, Mo., Aug. 18.—Strikers who walked out yesterday when the Hamilton-Brown Shoe Co. put into effect the new wage and hour provisions of the temporary code approved by the National Recovery Administration, picketed the factory today. Virtually all of the 900 employes are on strike, however, and no effort to operate the plant was made.

W. W. Bicknell, superintendent of the factory, refused to discuss the situation, but strikers were quite willing to tell any who would listen just why they quit work.

An employe in the lasting department explained that the increased piece work rate did not compensate for the reduction of hours and that his average weekly earnings of $21.12 would be reduced to $14.25 a week, 25 cents more than the minimum provided by the code for men in towns of less than 20,000.

Worked 66 Hours a Week.

He said he had been working 66 hours a week, during which he and another worker required for the process, handled 132 cases of shoes being paid at the rate of 32 cents a case. Under the 40-hour week, he said, they could complete only 75 cases at 38 cents a case.

Another employe in the lasting department, working on another type of shoe, said the reduction of his hours from 60 to 40 a week and the increase in pay rate of from 35 to 42 cents a case would enable him to earn only $15.75 a week instead of the usual $18.90.

In the cutting department, employes said reduction of hours from 59 to 40 and pay of 78 instead of 71 cents a case would reduce their average weekly earning of $21.30 to $15.60.

From $23 to $15 a Week.

Wood heel finishers who have earned $23.04 a 66-hour week at 48 cents a case, stated their earnings would be only $15 a 40-hour week at 50 cents a case.

The factory is the largest of four, all in small towns, operated by the company. Its average daily output is 6000 pairs of shoes.

BELLEVILLE SEEKS LOAN FOR CITY WATER PLANT

Presents Application to Borrow $2,000,000 From Federal Government for Purpose.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—Belleville, Ill., yesterday presented its request for a $2,000,000 Federal loan to the State Advisory Board of the Public Works Administration to build a municipal water plant.

The plea was presented to J. L. Houghteling, former Mayor Carter H. Harrison of Chicago and Mayor Andrews of Kewanee, recently named a special board of advisers on Illinois loan pleas.

Mayor George A. Brechnitz and City Clerk Arthur Vollrach, aided by engineers and lawyers, argued for the petition.

No decision on the application will be announced here. The board, after studying the petitions, will make a secret recommendation to the Secretary of the Interior, who will announce the final decision.

LEHMAN'S BILLS FOR UTILITY INQUIRY REFORMS KILLED

Senate Committee's Action Regarded as Retaliation for Rejection of Tammany's Tax Measure.

By the Associated Press.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 18.—Gov. Lehman's plan for simplifying work of the Public Service Commission in its efforts to obtain lower gas and electric rates was killed by a Senate committee yesterday.

The Committee on Public Service refused to report bills embodying the Governor's plans. This was regarded by some as retaliation for the Governor's refusal to approve Tammany Hall's proposal for a new Statewide tax to help New York City out of its financial difficulties.

Lehman's plan would have permitted the State to call on public utilities to bear part of the cost of rate investigations, such as investigations now being made into 100 companies because the Public Service Commission feels that some may have failed to "bear their full share of the depression." A second bill would have eliminated "red tape" in temporary rate reductions. A third measure would have required the companies to pay interest to consumers on deposits made when applying for service.

Senator Thomas F. Burchill, New York Democrat and chairman of the committee, said Republican members of the committee and some Democrats voted against the bills.

ST. CLAIR COUNTY FILES SUIT AGAINST BELL TELEPHONE CO.

State's Attorney Zerweck yesterday filed suit in Circuit Court at Belleville against the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. to collect $66,000 in taxes on the company's personal property in St. Clair County.

The company last June paid $41,716 on its 1932 tax bill under protest, contending that the assessment valuation was excessive. The balance actually due is $24,283, but Zerweck entered suit for the full amount of the bill because of the protest.

COMPROMISE CODE OF SHOE INDUSTRY IS BEING DRAFTED

Agreement Satisfactory to All Groups Reported Reached After All-Night Session.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18. —An agreement reported to be satisfactory to all groups in the shoe industry was taken up by the National Boot and Shoe Manufacturers' Association today to be drafted into a new code for the approval of the National Recovery Administration. A public hearing will be held as soon as possible after this new code is submitted.

The agreement, an associate of J. O. Ball, managing director of the national association, said, provided for the representation on the controlling board for the industry of the felt slipper and stitch-down method groups as well as the group of southwestern manufacturers who said they were unrepresented under the original plan. It was reached at a long conference that began yesterday and lasted until early this morning.

Ordered to Reach Agreement.

Opposing groups unable to reach a decision, were ordered by Deputy Administrator C. C. Williams to discuss the matter among themselves and submit a new code which would represent all groups in place of the draft originally put forward by the National Association.

The original code would set up the National Association as the controlling body. The American Shoe Manufacturers, an association of factories in the South and West, proposed an amendment setting up an elective board to administer the code.

Williams ordered the inclusion of the stitch-down and slipper groups when they protested they should be considered in the general shoe code.

Contract Clause in Dispute.

The clause in the original code providing for continuation of present labor contracts is understood to have been ordered struck out by Williams at yesterday's conference because it violated the provision of the National Recovery Act which forbade the recognition of company or specific unions.

That clause had been protested against by Edward J. Derosier, of Brockton, Mass., representing the Brotherhood of Shoe and Allied Craftsmen, an insurgent union. John J. Mara of the Boot and Shoe Workers' Union, which has contracts with manufacturers in that area, said he understood the contracts would be respected whether or not the clause was included in the code.

Union to Offer Code.

John D. Nolan of Boston, president of the Shoe Workers' Protective Union, appeared at yesterday's conference with the draft of a code which he said he would not introduce until the public hearing. It provided a maximum 30-hour week and minimum wages of $15 a week for unskilled employes, $30 a week for skilled employes and $40 for highly skilled employes.

The code proposed by the National Association would set a maximum 40-hour week and minimum wages of $15 for men and $13 for women in large cities with a $1 lower minimum in towns of under 20,000. The American Shoe Manufacturers had submitted an amendment providing a $2 differential in the minimum wage in favor of the smaller towns.

FARMER'S DAUGHTER INDICTED IN KILLING OF MAIL CARRIER

Four Others Accused of Murders in True Bills Returned at Edwardsville.

Five persons were indicted for murder by the Madison County grand jury at Edwardsville yesterday, including Stella Christoff, 17-year-old daughter of a truck farmer. The girl had said she shot Nelson Voss, rural mail carrier, to death July 13 when he made improper advances.

The others indicted on murder charges included Louis Colone, Collinsville politician, who shot and killed Dan Maddelin in Maddelin's home at Collinsville June 28 and George Keulks, Illinois State Highway policeman, who witnessed the shooting, also were indicted charged with murder. Colone and Keulks had gone to Maddelin's home to question him about a machine gun attack on Colone's cafe. Colone said he shot Maddelin when the latter started to pick up a revolver.

Dr. Thomas L. Brunk, 74 years old, and Elroy Grady, both of Alton, were indicted on a charge of murder in the death of Mrs. Mary Waters July 2 after an illegal operation.

Frank Carroll of Nameoki was indicted charged with manslaughter in the shooting of Virgil Hoepker at Carroll's home July 2. Carroll said he shot Hoepker when the latter raised his hand as if to strike him after Hoepker had been ordered away.

Mrs. Viola McConnell of Madison was indicted charged with manslaughter in the shooting of Weaver Root, 52-year-old farm hand, July 9 at her home. She said she fired a shot to frighten him when he threatened to break down a screen door after being denied admittance to the house.

EMPLOYERS AND LABOR DISAGREE ON UNIONIZATION

They Hold Diametrically Opposite Views on Whether Recovery Act Requires It or Not.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—On the interpretation by the NRA—and perhaps the courts—of one brief section of the Recovery Act depends in considerable degree the future relations between capital and labor.

Section 7 of the statute expressly guarantees to employes the right to organize in any way they may choose and bargain collectively without restraint or interference by their employers. This has always been a legal right but one which workers have not always been able to exercise in practice.

Organized labor, as represented by William Green, president of the Federation of Labor, contends this means unionization of all industry; non-union industries insist it does not mean any such thing and if it does they oppose it.

Carrying through this sharply drawn line between the two contending interests, the steel industry presented a qualifying clause after incorporating the provisions of the act on the subject. It was withdrawn at the beginning of a hearing on the code, with labor and Hugh S. Johnson, the recovery administrator, prepared to oppose it.

Non-union coal operators presented their own provisions on this point and have stood resolutely against a demand by Donald R. Richberg, general counsel of the NRA, that they withdraw it.

The automobile industry, the third of the big non-union industries to seek an interpretation permitting the open shop, apparently is nearer surmounting the obstacle than the others. A revision of its code, under the guidance of Robert W. Lea, a deputy administrator, altered the original stipulation that an open shop be permitted so as to make it optional, and officials indicated that Lea acted after consultation with Johnson.

Labor Paragraph.

Here are the paragraphs incorporated in the various codes after the guarantee of collective bargaining which represent the hub of the alignment of industry versus labor:

Coal: "The foregoing provisions (the guarantee of collective bargaining) shall apply to each employer in his relations to his own employes, but no employer shall be required to deal jointly with other employes, or with representatives of any employes other than his own, and any collective bargaining shall be on behalf of only those employes participating therein, the employer being free to deal separately with any other of his employes not so participating."

This would permit employes of any company to organize but would not compel the employer to deal with national and regional unions. It has not been deleted by the operators who proposed it.

Steel Industry's View.

Steel: "The plants of the industry have been and now are prepared to deal indirectly with the employes of such members collectively on all matters relating to their employment. The principles of collective bargaining under which certain members of the industry have dealt with their employes are embodied in employe representative plans, which are now in force at plants of members of the industry generally.

"It is the belief of the industry that the method of collective bargaining set forth in such plans provides for a day-to-day adjustment of all matters relating to the employment of employes in the industry and at the same time insures to such employes a knowledge and understanding of the conditions of the business of their employer which they would otherwise be unable to obtain; that such principles should be maintained; and that the rights of the employes and members of the industry to bargain collectively through representatives elected or appointed and acting in accordance with such plans without interference, restrain or coercion of any sort should be preserved and protected."

This, providing for maintenance of the company union without national organization, was deleted but steel plants expect to carry it on.

Auto Proposal Revised.

Automobiles: (original code) "in accordance with the foregoing provisions, the employers in the automobile industry propose to continue the open shop policy heretofore followed and under which usually satisfactory and harmonious relations with employes have been maintained."

Revised: "Under the foregoing provisions, the employers in the industry may continue the open shop policy under which the selection, retention and advancement of employes will be on the basis of individual merit without regard to their affiliation or non-affiliation with any labor or other organization."

Johnson has taken the position repeatedly—and directly on the coal and steel codes—that the law is there and cannot be modified or changed. Organized labor is insisting and will insist on this view in connection with the automobile code, it was said by a spokesman for the group.

However, the automobile industry contends that by eliminating the "in accordance with" they merely stated that the open shop was still permissible and it was, therefore, no qualification of the law.

Many officials think that the labor provisions are certain to be taken to the courts eventually for an interpretation of section 7.

Grocery Chain in Politics.

By the Associated Press.

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 18.—The radical party, overthrown by the 1930 revolution, has started a campaign for voters for the presidential election of 1938 by opening of a chain of grocery stores which advertise "30 per cent savings on meats, vegetables and wines."

THREE SLAYERS ELECTROCUTED IN SING SING PENITENTIARY

One of Them Says "Frameup" as He Dies; Another Smoking a Cigar.

By the Associated Press.

OSSINING, N. Y., Aug. 18.—Three men were electrocuted in Sing Sing prison last night.

John Jordan, 33 years old, was first. His lips formed the word "frameup" as they strapped him into the electric chair.

George Swan, 21, was next, six minutes later. He was convicted, with Jordan, of killing two men while holding up a restaurant in Astoria, Queens. There was a flower in his buttonhole and a cigar in his mouth.

Last came Stephen Witherell, 30, who killed his father, Charles, in Hopkinton, because he wouldn't lend him money.

HUNTSVILLE, Tex., Aug. 18.—R. T. Bennett, Dallas Negro, was electrocuted in the State prison here today. He was given the death penalty for strangling Mrs. Leona Buchanan with a silk stocking in her Dallas apartment the night of last Dec. 1.

$150,000 ALIENATION SUIT IS SETTLED AND DISMISSED

Arthur R. Lindburg Accused by Former Employe, Whose Lawyer Seeks Reinstatement.

The $150,000 alienation of affections suit filed by George Metcalfe against his former employer, Arthur R. Lindburg, automobile dealer, was dismissed before Circuit Judge Williams yesterday on a stipulation signed by Metcalfe and Lindburg's attorneys, with Lindburg paying the costs of the case. Metcalfe had alleged that the defendant caused a separation between him and his wife, which charge Lindburg denied in an answer filed in court.

According to the stipulation, the suit was amicably settled. After the dismissal was entered Henry C. Stoll, Metcalfe's attorney in the filing of the suit, asked that the case be reinstated, declaring in a motion that the dismissal was irregular, having been done without proper notice to him and without regard to his attorney's lien for a fee. No action was taken on his motion.

STABBED TO DEATH IN BASEMENT FIGHT

Victim's Wife Finds Body After Being Told of Altercation.

Joseph Rodriguez, 40-year-old Mexican laborer, was stabbed to death during an altercation in a basement at 312 Convent street yesterday afternoon.

Rodriguez, who lived at 308 Convent street, was found dead on the floor, with two wounds in his chest, by his wife and two daughters, when they investigated a report that he had been in a fight. No weapon was found in the room, and an attempt had been made to clean the floor of blood stains.

A Mexican occupying a room in the basement is missing, and is being sought. Another Mexican, living in the neighborhood, was arrested on the statement of a woman that he left the basement hurriedly a short time before Rodriguez' body was found. The prisoner denied any connection with the killing.

MUNICIPAL LIGHT PLANT FAVORED BY O'FALLON CITIZENS

Mayor Says House-to-House Canvass Showed Vote of 783 to 4.

Citizens of O'Fallon, Ill., seven miles north of Belleville, favor construction of a municipal light plant by a vote of 783 to 4, according to Mayor Ralph Kampmeyer, who announced last night the results of a house-to-house cnvass by the city.

Kampmeyer said 609 persons favored construction of a steam plant and 174 a plant using oil engines for power. The Mayor estimated that the first type would cost $140,000 and the second $120,000. A referendum will be held, after which, if the citizens approve the proposition, the city will attempt to have the money advanced under the Federal public works program. Failing in that, the Mayor said, the city would issue its own bonds.

The town is now supplied by the Illinois Power & Light Co., which has refused to grant a 25 per cent reduction in rates and which has been operating on a monthly basis since its franchise expired in July. City officials estimate that rates would be lowered, that $7000 would be saved by the city annually on its lighting bill, and a sinking fund set aside to pay for the plant if the city builds its own.

MISSOURI EMPLOYMENT GAIN

State Labor Commissioner Reports Increase by 118 Firms.

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 18.—Reports of inspectors for July indicate an upturn in employment in Missouri, Mrs. Mary Edna Cruzen, State Labor Commissioner, said last night.

Of the 202 firms showing a change, the inspectors reported 118 had increased the number of employes, compared with 84 decreases. The inspectors reported 38 new firms employing 177 persons. For firms inspected, the report indicates an increase in employment of 1499, as compared with six months ago.

HEADS ARMY AND NAVY UNION

Paul Werner of St. Louis was elected national commander of the Army and Navy Union yesterday at the concluding meeting of its forty-fifth annual convention at Hotel Statler. The organization is composed of men who have served in the army, navy or marine corps.

Other officers are: I. Robert Shrage, Atlantic City, N. J., and Okey Rookstool, Akron, O., vice-commanders; Herman A. Finke, St. Louis, adjutant; John J. Clark, Perth Amboy, N. J., paymaster.

COTTON BELT'S FERRY-TRUCK RATES REJECTED BY I. C. C.

Carrier Authorized to File New Schedules for St. Louis to Arkansas Service.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18. — The Interstate Commerce Commission today refused to permit the St. Louis, Southwestern Railway to establish ferry-truck rates between St. Louis, points in Arkansas and Shreveport, La., designed to meet motor truck competition.

The commission authorized the carrier to file new schedules to the Arkansas points in accordance with certain conditions. The traffic concerned is carried in trucks, trailers and similar vehicles, which are lifted to flat-bottom freight cars. The projected schedules were in the nature of an experiment.

The proposed rates canceled by the commission related only to single vehicles per car. The commission ruled the railroad had failed to show the rates would be compensatory on that basis, but said they would be compensatory for a minimum of two vehicles per car. The schedules would apply from St. Louis to Blytheville, Camden, Jonesboro, Lewisville, Little Rock, North Little Rock and Pine Bluff, Ark.

PASTOR, HIS WIFE AND GIRL, 17, HELD ON DELINQUENCY CHARGE

Three Arrested at Cottage in Indiana; Mother of Young Woman Gets Affidavit.

ANGOLA, Ind., Aug. 18.—The Rev. Sidney H. Beauchamp, 26 years old, former pastor of the Nine Mile United Brethren Church in Allen County, was held in the Steuben County jail today on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a 17-year-old girl.

The girl, Miss Geneva Bradbury, also was held on charges of delinquency. The minister's wife, Mrs. Phyllis Beauchamp, 26, also was charged with contributing to the girl's delinquency, but was free under bond.

The charges were contained in an affidavit sworn out by Miss Bradbury's mother. They were arrested at a Lake Gage cottage where they were living together.

Beauchamp was alleged to have professed his love for the girl. His wife told authorities she had refused to complain, fearing for her husband's reputation as a minister. He has been conducting revival meetings since resigning his pastorate.

Train Service Abandonment.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Abandonment of service by the Kansas City, Excelsior Springs Northern Railway of service on the nine miles between Excelsior Springs junction and Excelsior Springs, Mo., was authorized today by the Interstate Commerce Commission. Executives of the road reported to the commission that trains had been operated over the route at a loss for five years.

ACCORD IN GARMENT STRIKE IN EAST NEAR

Dress Manufacturers' Group Accepts Collective Bargaining in Principle.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—An early end of the strike affecting 60,000 workers in the women's garment industry was predicted today by Grover A. Whalen, mediator of the National Recovery Administration, after the National Association of Dress Manufacturers ratified acceptance of the principle of collective bargaining.

Four hundred members of the association attended the meeting and heard Whalen plead for acceptance of the tentative basis for a settlement of the strike worked out at an all-night conference last night.

Whalen pointed out that collective bargaining was a part of the guarantee of the National Industrial Recovery Act and told the manufacturers that by recognizing the International Union the manufacturers and jobbers belonging to the association would have a strong weapon to be used against Communist workers, who, he charged, have been trouble makers generally.

ALUMINUM INDUSTRY SUBMITS CODE TO THE RECOVERY BOARD

Maximum of 40 Hours a Week for Employes Engaged in Continuous Processes.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Codes were submitted to the Recovery Administration today by the aluminum industry and city directory business.

The Association of Manufacturers in the aluminum industry described their proposal as a basic code covering the mining of bauxite, concentrates, virgin aluminum and production of sheets, foil, powder, castings, pistons and other products. The maximum work week would be 40 hours for employes engaged in continuous processes and 42 hours in other process operations, averaged over a six months period but with no employe working more than 48 hours in one week.

Minimum wages were fixed at 25 cents an hour for bauxite mining in the South; 35 cents for male and 30 cents for female in Northern manufacture; 30 cents for male and 27½ cents for female in the South. Piece workers and employes working under bonus schemes would be compelled to average earnings equal to the minimum.

The Association of North American Directory Publishers, claiming to represent 75 per cent of the industry, included in their code a labor provision designed to prevent impairment of "the joint right of employer and employe to operate an open shop." A maximum week of 40 hours averaged over a year with a maximum of 48 hours in any week was proposed with minimum wages of 30 cents an hour.

HOW-TO-OPEN SIGN ON SAFE BUT BURGLARS BREAK INTO IT

Intruders Ignore Directions, Damage Strong Box $75 at 3964 Olive Street.

A safe at the La Salle Bottling Co., 3964 Olive street, was broken open last night by burglars who ignored a sign giving directions on how to open the safe in the regular manner. The burglars obtained nothing as the safe contained only records. Damage amounted to $75.

William Weiss and Walter Brueggemann, employes in the drug store of Arthur Overman, 3819 Meramec street, were held up by two men, one of whom had a revolver. The robbers took $25 from the cash register and forced Brueggemann to open the inner doors of a safe, from which they took $27 more Lafayette Dirksmeyer, 2228 Dodier street, was robbed of his automobile by two men on Enright avenue, back of St. Luke's Hospital.

C. P. DE LORE CO. IS SOLD

Subsidiary of National Lead Purchases Plant.

The C. P. DeLore Co., engaging in the processing of barium sulphates for use in paint, linoleum and rubber products, has been acquired by the National Pigments and Chemical Co., a subsidiary of the National Lead Co. The National Pigments plant at the foot of Sidney street will be closed, and all processing will be done at the DeLore factory, located on the river front at the southern city limits. Casper P. DeLore will continue as manager of the plant. The consideration in the transaction was not disclosed.

5 Held in Kidnaping Released.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 18.—Five men, held by Federal officers for possession of marked ransom money paid in the Charles F. Urschel kidnaping, were released today. Charges of conspiracy against them were dropped when Department of Justice agents said there was no evidence against them. Werner Hanni of the United States Bureau of Investigation said the marked ransom money turned up in St. Paul in a liquor deal.

Sweden's Exports Increase.

By the Associated Press.

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 18.—Sweden's foreign trade for the first half of 1932 showed an improvement of $16,500,000 in comparison with the same period last year. The increase of exports was especially noteworthy in wood pulp, timber and pig iron.

UNDERTAKER WHO SWALLOWED POISON BY MISTAKE DIES

William H. Degen Thought He Was Taking Medicine for Chills.

William H. Degen, undertaker and former Alderman of East St. Louis, died at Christian Welfare Hospital shortly before last midnight as a result of accidentally swallowing five poison tablets Tuesday night.

Degen, who was 58 years old, said he took the tablets by mistake, confusing them with some he had been in the habit of taking when he suffered chills. A friend had him removed to the hospital when his condition became serious.

He was head of the Degen Undertaking Co., 811 North Ninth street, East St. Louis, and had served two terms as Alderman. His widow, Mrs. Lena K. Degen, a daughter, Mrs. Elza Randle of Belleville, two sisters and a brother survive. The family residence is at the North Ninth street address.

CONTINENTAL LIFE TO TAKE HOME LOAN FIRM'S BONDS

To Get 5 Per Cent Securities in Exchange of $110,000 in Mortgages on Property.

The Continental Life Insurance Co., agreed today to accept the 5 per cent bonds of the Federal Home Loan Corporation in exchange for $110,000 in mortgages on St. Louis and St. Louis County properties belonging to mortgagors who have applied to the Federal Corporation for loans.

Redick O'Bryan, general counsel for the corporation in Missouri, said he had the assurance of the Prudential Life Insurance Co. that it, too, would accept the bonds in exchange for mortgages.

RADIO MEN WITHDRAW CODE

Willing to Accept General Electrical Agreement.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—The radio industry today notified Hugh S. oJhnson, Recovery Administrator, it was ready to comply with provisions of the fair competition code for the electrical industry.

Previously, the radio group had sought exemption from the electrical code, submitting recommendations of its own. Today's notice to Johnson withdrew their separate code and will bring the industry within the terms of provisions already in effect for the electrical industry.

$30,000,000 LOAN BY U. S. FOR AID OF DAIRY INDUSTRY

Fund to Be Used to Take Surplus Butter and Cheese Off Market If Production Is Curtailed.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—A $30,000,000 loan has been promised to the dairy industry by the Farm Administration to take surplus butter and cheese off the market on condition, however, that the industry complete plans that would sharply limit the output of dairy products.

Another condition is that the industry raise the money to repay the Government agency which furnishes the money. The dairymen themselves proposed to do this through a one cent a pound tax on every pound of butter fat produced.

Neither the Farm Administration nor representatives of the dairy organizations furnished any details on the collection of the cent-a-pound tax.

It was agreed it would have to be raised either by a processing tax or a marketing agreement which necessarily would include virtually all the dairy industry. Arrangements are to be worked out at other conferences beginning monday.

Protest to Officials.

After recounting the fall in the price of butter from 26 to 19 cents a pound, dairymen representing some 50 organizations, said in a resolution yesterday that the present state of affairs was "intolerable" and that they had found a "strange reluctance" on the part of Farm Administrations to take any action.

They said the dairy farmers were caught by the upward surge of almost everything they had to buy and that in the meantime the price of dairy by-products had declined.

The demand for an immediate move to relieve their plight was accompanied by a strongly worded request for tariff protection against imported products which compete with dairy products and also for an embargo against the importation of all dairy products.

Might Even Kill Cows.

If necessary, the dairymen said, they would consider curtailment of the entire milk supply and would even go so far as to consider killing cows if such a program were placed on a voluntary basis.

Farm officials said they expected the $30,000,000 to come from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation after the dairymen formed a corporation which would apply for funds. Meanwhile, it was indicated that the Land o' Lakes Creameries, Inc., a Minnesota co-operative dairying organization, was attempting to get funds to begin buying some of the butter and cheese immediately.

The disposition of the butter and cheese after it is removed from the market was left apparently to the dairy organizations. Some of their representatives said they would destroy it if that became necessary.

Wallace's Statement.

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace's announcement said:

"The amount of butter in storage at the present time runs about 20,000,000 pounds above the five-year average. Because of this increased storage, butter prices recently have declined, causing an emergency of great severity among dairy farmers of the United States. To meet this emergency, a definite decision has been reached by Secretary Wallace and the Agricultural Adjustment Administration to provide a fund of not less than $30,000,000 to carry on the marketing operations to purchase enough butter and cheese to improve present dairy prices.

"Plans also are being completed that promptly will limit production of dairy products so that control of the prices of butter, cheese and ether dairy products can be effected at the source."

THREAT OF TAXPAYERS' STRIKE IN LOS ANGELES

Board Is Warned Not to Increase Present Rate of 88 Cents on $100.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 18.—A taxpayers' strike in case the present 88-cent rate is increase was threatened yesterday at a Supervisors' hearing on the Los Angeles County budget. Chairman John R. Quinn of the Board of Supervisors, promised that the preliminary budget would be reduced by 10 per cent. As it stands, the budget calls for $57,000,000, of which about $38,000,000 would have to be raised by taxation.

Quinn said there probably would have to be some increase in the rate of 88 cents for $100 valuation because valuations, he said, had shrunk about 47 per cent.

HOMELAND LIFE INSURANCE CO. ORDERED DISSOLVED BY COURT

Dissolution of the Homeland Life Insurance Co., 102 North Broadway, was ordered by Circuit Judge Calhoun yesterday. The action was on petition of the State Superintendent of Insurance, who informed the court that the capital stock of the company, a small concern, was impaired.

A temporary restraining order prohibiting the firm from transacting further business was issued last March.

RULES SALES TAX IS ON UTILITIES, NOT CONSUMERS

Illinois Finance Department Makes Decision Retroactive So Returns for July Must Be Filed.

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 18. — The 2 per cent sales tax, the State Finance Department ruled yesterday, must be paid by private and municipally owned utility companies that supply electricity, gas and water to patrons for use or consumption.

Finance Director Joseph J. Rice announced that the tax must be paid by the companies, not by the consumers, and that the ruling is retroactive so that tax returns for July must be filed at once by the utility companies.

The department in administering the sales tax has defined tangibles as "things or substances that may be touched, felt, observed; that are perceptible, palpable, capable of being possessed or realized, tactile, readily apprehensible to the mind; real, substantial, evident; and consist of substances that may be taken out of the ground and reduced to possession and conveyed by pipe lines or other means, measured or sold, and similar substances that may be produced mechanically, chemically or otherwise and so conveyed and sold."

On his definition, electricity, gas and water were defined as tangibles. Before the belated ruling was announced, several conferences were held with representatives of utility companies.

PARKS ARE GUESTS OF HONOR AT MISSOURI STATE FAIR

By the Associated Press.

SEDALIA, Mo., Aug. 18.—Gov. Guy B. Park, with Mrs. Park and their daughter Henrietta, the guests of honor at the State Fair today, praised the resources of Missouri before a large throng in the amphitheater. He also praised the State's exposition.

The chief executive awarded cups in the state-wide baby championship contest. The champion girl award went to Harriett Frances Bertman, 40-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abe Bertman of Sedalia which scored 99.9 points in the blue ribbon baby contest.

The champion boy was Thomas North Pile, 40-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall W. Pile of Blue Lick, Mo. The champion 9-point health contest girl was Vada Rose Dinwiddie, 5 years old, Versailles, Mo. The champion 9-point boy yas Harold Joseph Esser, 10, Boonville, son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Esser.

SAYS REPEAL WILL CARRY COUNTRY BEFORE CHRISTMAS

Senator Clark Not Sure About NRA Success; No Complaint Against Roosevelt.

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Aug. 18. — "Repeal will carry the whole country before Christmas," Senator Bennett Clark of St. Louis predicted this morning. He stopped in Springfield en route to Nevada for his annual visit to the National Guard camp.

The Senator said he did not know how the NRA plans are working out generally, but that he "hoped" the recovery plan would be successful.

"Nobody knows," he declared. "It's an experiment."

"Has President Roosevelt shown any discrimination against you as a result of your failure to support a number of his measures?" Clark was asked.

TEACHER UNDER $12,000 BOND

Ash Grove Banker's Son Held for Bank Robbery.

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Aug. 18. — James Moore, 23 years old, high school teacher and former president of the Student body at State Teachers' College, was bound over for trial yesterday at the conclusion of a perliminary hearing in Justice Court at Ozark upon charges that he robbed the Christian County bank Aug. 11.

Bond for Moore, slender son of an Ash Grove banker, was fixed at $12,000. Moore did not take the stand in his own defense. Principal witnesses were Sheriff's officers and officials of the looted bank.

OKLAHOMA REPEAL PROPONENTS URGE VOTE BY DEC. 25

Murray's Opposition to Special Election Linked With His Failure to Get Federal Patronage.

By the Associated Press.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok.—A move to persuade Gov. W. H. Murray to call a special election on the eighteenth amendment repeal question before Christmas is contemplated by repeal proponents in Oklahoma.

Several editors have prophesied that public opinion may bring action from the Governor, who has remained firm against an early vote. Murray has pointed out that no provision has been made to pay the expenses of a repeal election, and has asserted it must be deferred until the next regular primary in July, 1934.

Repeal election advocates, on the other hand, have asserted Oklahoma's delay in bringing the question to a vote might mean belated participation in the Federal taxes to accrue if the sale of liquor were legalized. They have pointed out further that Oklahoma's vote on the Federal amendment would have no bearing on the State's bone dry laws.

Dry partisans have opposed the election on the ground that any possible delay is preferable to running the chance of legalization of liquor.

It had been expected here that Murray and Postmaster-General James A. Farley would discuss the question of a repeal election while the Oklahoman was in Washington recently. Political observers have often mentioned Murray's failure to gain patronage from the new administration.

Predictions by State leaders that Farley might bring pressure to bear by suggesting a call for a repeal election apparently did not materialize.

It is conceded here that in view of Murray's strong stand, only the force of pronounced public opinion is likely to bring about a change in his attitude.

Should the legislators be summoned for the second special session of the year to solve the tax tangle, observers predicted they would consider the matter of liquor taxes that would follow if the eighteenth amendment should be repealed.

ANOTHER 'BLUE EAGLE' THREAT

Cafe Man Says He Was Warned "to Keep Vows."

Anesti Dimes, proprietor of a restaurant at 603 Walnut street, turned over to police a letter he received yesterday threatening him with violence "if you do not keep your vows to the Blue Eagle."

The envelope contained a clipping of a newspaper photograph showing Max L. Komen, owner of a restaurant at 815 Market street, being forced to kiss the national recovery emblem last Monday. The accompanying message warned, "you will be next."

Rain Gives Cards Day Off and Vance Chance To Open in Brooklyn

By J. Roy Stockton,
Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 17.—Rain here today washed out the Cardinals' final game with the Phillies and washed a problem out of Manager Frankie Frisch's vision.

Ordinarily a manager whose team has just taken three out of four from another team would like to go right ahead and beat that other team again. And today's ball game is the job at hand.

But regular Sunday doubleheaders have added to the normally perplexing pitching problem, and the selection of a hurler for today had been worrying Frisch. In the normal course of baseball events, Dazzy Vance would have been today's Cardinal pitcher. Otherwise, Bill Walker, who hasn't been a Bill Walker, much less a late 1933 Vance. Tomorrow, the Cards open in Brooklyn, and from a box-office standpoint, that is a great city in which to show off the Dazzler, especially the Dazzler of recent weeks. So now you know why Frisch got out the old song book and led the chorus with "Let It Rain."

No Time for Experimenting.

There is no time left for experimenting. The Giants are 10 games ahead on the losing side of the percentage column, every contest now is of the greatest importance and that is why picking pitchers when the picking is not particularly good, is giving Frisch more sleepless hours than he knew in the good old in-the-ranks days.

That Giant advantage takes on Empire State Building proportions as the race progresses. The boys are figuring this morning that it would take more than a winning streak on their part to do much good. For instance, as one of the athletes pointed out with pencil and paper, if the Cardinals won their next 15 games, the Giants, making up five of their postponed games in that time, could still be even with the Cardinals by winning only 10 of the 20.

"Put down those pencils and that paper," Frisch interrupted. "What we need more than anything else is more and longer base hits. Don't worry about the Giants. Let's go out and win as many of our games as we can. But nobody ever won any flags yet with a pencil."

Two Homers for Medwick.

Frisch yesterday saw the Cardinals perform as Sam Breadon, Branch Rickey and Gabby Street visualized them in the spring. Joe Medwick lived up to his minor league slugging reputation by hitting two tremendous home runs into the left field seats; James Ripper Collins lofted a four-bagger over the right field wall, and James Otto Carleton, yielding only three hits and one run in seven innings,

SHIELDS BEATS VINES IN THREE SETS, WILL MEET ALLISON IN FINAL

By the Associated Press.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 18.—Wilmer Allison of Austin, Tex., gained the final round of the Newport Casino tennis tournament for the second straight time today by defeating Clifford Sutter of New Orleans, 3—6, 6—4, 6—2, 9—11, 6—2, in a long match that was interrupted by rain and spread over six hours. Allison will engage Frank X. Shields of New York, who qualified for the tile round with a surprising 6—2, 6—4, 6—4 victory over Ellsworth Vines, the National champion, and winner of the two previous Casino events.

The titlist, in singles competition for the first time since his Davis Cup collapse against Fred Perry in the interzone finals with England, started in erratic fashion and dropped the opening service with three consecutive errors. He managed to pull up even by breaking Shields in the next game. Shields, however, then settled down for the remainder of the match and made two more breaks through Vines as he swept the first set in decisive fashion.

Vines managed to run up a 2—0 lead in the second set, but Shields ripped off the next two by rushing to the net and slicing over baffling drop shots that caught Vines off balance. Shields again handled Vines' fast-ball delivery to break through for a 4—3 lead in the seventh game, carefully nursed his slim lead until the set ran out on service in the tenth game.

Unable to Stem Tide.

Two sets down, Vines tried to call upon his terrific power to stem the tide of defeat, but he was only able to get a few of them over the net. He made but one point as Shields broke through him in the fifth game and he dropped his next service on errors to trail at 5—2.

Vines won the eighth game with a furious attack against Shields' service and then upheld his own in the ninth game, during which Shields reached match point three times as it was deuced thrice.

That was Vines' last stand, for Shields took the first point in the tenth game with a smash that trapped the titlist at the net and so unsteadied him that he ended the match by netting the three points that Shields needed for victory.

Shields made but 55 errors in the 28 games, against 85 for Vines, who had the surprising total of 54 nets and three double faults. Vines'

MISS JACOBS WINS SET TAKING MORE THAN HOUR

By the Associated Press.

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 18.—In a sensational match that took an hour and 28 minutes to complete, Helen Jacobs of Berkeley, Cal., defending champion, fought her way to a victory over Josephine Cruickshank of Santa Ana, Cal., by scores of 11—9, 6—4, in the opening quarterfinal match of the women's national tennis meet here today.

An Hour and Three Minutes.

The two girls fought bitterly for an hour and three minutes before Miss Jacobs pulled out the first set, 11—9, rallying to avert defeat in the tenth game and then hanging on gamely until she broke Miss Cruickshank's service in the nineteenth game and then held her own to win.

It was one of the most sensational sets witnessed in the national meet in recent years, with Miss Cruickshank matching her powerful driving game against the soft, accurate chops and cross court shots of the champion. The points were 89 for Miss Jacobs to 79 for her rival, but as late as the seventeenth game, Miss Cruickshank was leading, 72 to 70.

Miss Cruickshank led at 5—4 and once was at set point in the tenth game. She also led, 7—6, 8—7 and 9—8, but each time when she was within a few points of victory Miss Jacobs summoned her resources to avert defeat.

The second set was something of an anti-climax, Miss Jacobs racing through to a comparatively quick victory, 6—4. The entire contest consumed an hour and 28 minutes. Miss Cruickshank, painfully tried, held her own until the score reached four-all in the second set, but lapsed badly in the ninth game to drop her service and then could get only one point off the champion's delivery in the final game.

Dorothy Round of England, qualified to meet Miss Jacobs in tomorrow's semi-final round by defeating Sarah Palfrey of Boston after a tense duel, 6—4, 9—7. The American girl three times was within a point of squaring the match in the second set, but as many times hit weakly into the net or over the baseline.

A driving rain interrupted play after these two matches had been played and forced postponement of the two remaining contests until tomorrow.

Maryland to Play Tulane.

University of Maryland will make its longest football trip this year, playing Tulane at New Orleans.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Coming Out of It.

BASEBALL is coming out of its financial tail-spin. The old ship has leveled off and is now gaining altitude in that most important particular, paid attendance.

President Will Harridge of the American League tells us that in recent weeks the American League paid admissions have grown to such an extent that instead of suffering a loss over last year's red-ink season there will be an appreciable gain in 1933.

HARRIDGE

That is good news both from a baseball and an economic viewpoint. Increased spending money means that fans are beginning to feel the lifting of the depression.

Last year was probably the worst season major league baseball has experienced since 1918—and possibly worse than that. Only two clubs were credited with a profit, the Cubs and the Yankees.

This year will see at least six teams in the money and others breaking even. The losses at this writing seem certain to be smaller for 1933 due to increased attendance and retrenchment.

The Crisis Passing.

WHILE not out of the woods, baseball is feeling the pressure of the past three years easing. How serious it had become several things attest. The virtual abolition of huge baseball contracts last winter is in itself sufficient testimony to the magnate's misery.

Another manifestation was evident in the increase in the taxation by the league of the paid admissions of each team. This was raised two cents for each admission and the reason, apparently, was that the league's revenues under the old rate were not sufficient to defray operating expenses.

Should the attendance at major

LEVEY SCORES ALL THE WAY FROM SECOND ON AN INFIELD OUT

By James M. Gould.

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, Aug. 18.—Rogers Hornsby and Joe McCarthy had lefthand pitching ideas this afternoon for the final of the four-game series between the Browns and Yankees so Wally Hebert worked for Hornsby and Russell Van Atta toiled for the New York pilot.

It was the Yankees final appearance in St. Louis this season in American League competition.

The attendance was estimated at 1500.

Vangraflan, Hildebrand and Dinneen were the umpires.

The game:

FIRST INNING — YANKEES— Combs walked. Sewell popped to Scharein. Ruth walked. Gehrig hit into a double play, Melillo to Levey to Burns.

BROWNS—Scharein fouled to Gehrig. West struck out. Reynolds singled to center. Campbell forced Reynolds, Crosetti to Lazzeri.

SECOND — YANKEES — Chapman popped to Melillo. Lazzeri walked. Dickey hit into a double play, Melillo to Levey to Burns.

BROWNS—Burns struck out. Crosetti threw out Melillo. Hemsley struck out.

THIRD — YANKEES — Crosetti flied to West. Van Atta grounded to Burns. Combs singled to center for the first hit off Hebert. Sewell flied to Campbell.

BROWNS—Levey singled to left. Hebert sacrificed, Van Atta to Lazzeri on first. Scharein was out on a grounder, Gehrig to Van Atta on first. While the play was going on Levey scored all the way from second. West was out, Gehrig to Van Atta on first. ONE RUN.

FOURTH — YANKEES — Ruth walked. Gehrig drew the fifth pass off Hebert. Chapman bunted safely toward third, filling the bases. Lazzeri singled to left center, scoring Ruth and Gehrig, and putting Chapman on third. Dickey singled to left, Chapman scoring and Lazzeri stopping at second. Hebert was taken out and McDonald went into pitch for the Browns. Crosetti flied to Campbell. Van Atta bunted safely past Scharein, filling the bases. Combs doubled to right center, scoring Lazzeri, Dickey and Van Atta but was out trying for third, Campbell to Melillo to Scharein. Sewell doubled to right. Ruth was hit on the right ankle by a pitched ball, and fell to the ground. After first aid was given the Babe hobbled down to first base. Then Walker ran for him. Gehrig singled to center, scoring Sewell and putting Walker on third. Chapman singled to center, scoring Walker and putting Gehrig on third, and taking second himself on the play at third. McDonald was taken out and Knott went in to pitch for the Browns. Scharein threw out Lazzeri. EIGHT RUNS.

BROWNS—The injury to Ruth was announced as a bruised right ankle. Walker went to left field for the Yankees. Reynolds flied to Combs. Crosetti threw out Campbell. Burns doubled to right center. Melillo beat out a hit to Crosetti, Burns going to third. Hemsley singled to right, scoring Burns. Levey forced Hemsley, Crosetti to Lazzeri. ONE RUN.

FIFTH — YANKEES — Levey threw out Dickey. Crosetti singled to left. Van Atta flied to Campbell. Combs forced Crosetti, Scharein to Melillo.

BROWNS—Knott struck out. Scharein grounded to Crosetti. West struck out.

SIXTH — YANKEES — Sewell singled to center. Walker hit to Levey who touched second, forcing Sewell and threw to first for the Brown's third double play of the game. Gehrig walked. Chapman fouled to Scharein.

BROWNS — Reynolds walked. Campbell singled through the box and Reynolds went to third. Burns singled to left, scoring Reynolds. Campbell tried for third, but was out when Walker's throw bounded off Crosetti's glove into Sewell's hands, Sewell getting the putout. Burns took second on the play. Melillo fouled to Dickey. Hemsley grounded to Crosetti. ONE RUN.

SEVENTH—YANKEES — Lazzeri walked. Knott threw out Dickey. Crosetti lined to Melillo, whose throw to Levey doubled Lazzeri off second. It was the Browns' fourth double play.

BROWNS—Lary went to third for the Yanks. Lazzeri threw out Levey. Knott struck out. Crosetti threw out Scharein.

EIGHTH — YANKEES — Van Atta flied to Campbell. Combs flied to Reynolds. Lary struck out.

BROWNS—West struck out for the third time. Reynolds also struck out. Campbell fouled to Lary.

Boxing Bouts at Battery Tonight

Prevented by heavy rains last night, Jack Tippett will run off his professional boxing show at the Battery A Arena, tonight. The program contains four eight-round battles, with Allen Matthews and K. O. Kelly, Akron, O., Negro, meeting in the feature.

Joey Parks is down to battle George Daw; Ellis Bradley of Quincy, Ill., faces Steve Marre, while Larry Dundee meets Elmer Savage. The first bout starts at 8:30 o'clock.

Tippett last night announced that he has signed Cecil Payne, high ranking Louisville lightweight, and Allen Whitlow, clever Phoenix, Ariz., fighter, to meet in the feature bout on next Wednesday night's program.

KERRIGAN TIES COURSE RECORD IN CANADIAN OPEN GOLF

VETERAN'S 69 GIVES HIM 146 FOR 36 HOLES AT TORONTO

By the Associated Press.

TORONTO, Aug. 18.—Tom Kerrigan, veteran professional of Mount Vernon, N. Y., scored a brilliant 69 over the Royal York course today in the second round of the Canadian Open golf championship to tie the course record of Horton Smith and take the lead among the early finishers with a 77-69—146.

An overnight rain had slowed the greens and shortened the distances from the tees, but conditions were ideal for the good iron players, approaches to the hole stopping almost where they landed.

Kerrigan shot a brilliant incoming nine, three under perfect figures, to get his 69 after playing even par on the out nine. An eagle three on the par-five eleventh featured his card.

Kerrigan did not hold his lead long as Joe Kirkwood, the trick shot artist from Chicago, coming in with a 72 for a 36-hole total of 143. Joe was two over par going out but came in with a 35 to get his even total.

With several of the better players still to be heard from it appeared that anything over 161 or 162 would not qualify for the final two rounds tomorrow. The field will be cut at the end of today's play to only those players within 20 strokes of the leader

A strong wind hampered the late starters, sending the score of Johnny Farrell, former American open champion, up to 75. His total of 146, however, assured him of a place with the leaders. Farrell's playing partner, Jules Huot of Quebec, also had trouble with the breeze and scored 79 for 155.

WINOOKA WILL BE OUT OF ACTION FOR A MONTH WITH COUGH

By the Associated Press.

RENTON, Wash., Aug. 18.—Winooka, Australian mile record holder, which was stricken during the recent "coughing epidemic" here, will not be ready to race for about a month, Mick Polsom, trainer of the thoroughbred announced last night.

Orginally scheduled to meet the Pasadena Stable's Onrush Aug. 20, Winooka incurred the illness upon its arrival from California. Upwards of 200 other horses here have alsc been afflicted with the obnoxious but not critical "cough."

Polsom said the horse is now being walked daily and is gradually getting rid of the ailment. Conditioning, however, he said, will require at least two and one-half weeks and Winooka will not be ready to meet Onrush a week from next Sunday, as had been planned.

Loughran Signs For Bout With Sharkey, Sept. 27

By the Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 18.

THE Arena Corporation, sports promoters, yesterday announced the signing of Tommy Loughran, erstwhile light-heavyweight, for a 15-round bout Sept. 27 with Jack Sharkey, former heavyweight champion, and said they expected Sharkey's signature "in a couple of days." The bout will take place in Baker Bowl, stadium of the Phillies of the National Baseball League, and will be the first 15-round contest since the State Legislature recently legalized fights of that distance.

Early Voting in Babe Ruth's All-America Contest Shows Dickey Leads All Catchers

Virgil Davis of the Phillies Is Outhitting Yankee Receiver by 30 Points.

By Damon Kerby.

Bill Dickey, gangling young catcher from the backwoods of Arkansas who made Babe Ruth's All-America team last year, is again a popular choice for that position, an inspection of some of the teams submitted in this year's Post-Dispatch Babe Ruth contest reveals.

DICKEY

When the young Yankee catcher was named by Ruth last year he was batting .304; when the last semiofficial 1933 averages were published he was hitting at a .316 clip. His play behind the plate is not noticeably different from that of last season. It is uniformly good.

As valuable and as smart a catcher as Dickey is, and in spite of his popularity with the fans, he has some strong opposition from rival catchers for the coveted catching position on Ruth's team.

Davis a Great Hitter.

Virgil Davis of the Phillies is among those who must be considered seriously. You don't see many headlines extolling Davis, but he is batting around .345, and a batting average of .345 doesn't need headlines—it speaks for itself. A big man, Davis has never been noted for his gracefulness behind the plate. But observers who travel with the Phillies assert that his general play has improved over previous seasons.

A catcher who has been played up prominently by Eastern writers is Gus Mancuso, former Cardinal bench-warmer now with the Giants. Why he should be hailed as a new "wonder man"—unless playing for a New York team brings that distinction—is hard to fathom.

Mancuso, at last accounts, was batting .240, had far more errors charged against him—17—than charged against any other catcher in the majors, and also had more passed balls.

Three American League catchers—all of whom have worked only part time—had played errorless ball when the last averages were published. They are Shea and Ruel of the Browns, and Pytlak of the Indians. Shea had worked in 84 games, Pytlak in 47, and Ruel in 27. Finney had gone errorless in 35 games for the Pirates in the National.

Fading Stars of the Mask.

Mickey Cochrane and Jimmy Wilson, highly regarded by baseball customers in previous years—and with good reason—are having mediocre years. Jimmy is batting around .260, while Cochrane, in the last semiofficial averages, was batting .288. Madjeski, a clean-limbed Polish youngster, has taken over part of Cochrane's catching duties this year.

Rick Ferrell, sent to the Red Sox by the Browns, is almost at the .300 mark in batting, and had committed only two errors in 95 games.

Roland Hummel, 3505A Caroline street, St. Louis, is among the many who have placed Dickey on their teams. "Dickey having handled close to 600 chances and making but five errors, besides being a natural hitter, cannot be omitted from any all-star team," writes Hummel, whose team follows:

Cronin, Senators, shortstop.
Gehringer, Tigers, second base.
Klein, Phillies, right field.
Foxx, Athletics, first base.
Berger, Braves, center field.
Higgins, Athletics, third base.
Dickey, Yankees, catch.
Grove, Athletics, pitch.
Hubbell, Giants, pitch.

Gabby Hartnett is the choice of Allen Stephens, 927 Hale avenue, Edwardsville, Ill. Stephens' team:

Martin, Cardinals, third base.
Foxx, Athletics, first base.
Cronin, Senators, shortstop.
Berger, Braves, center field.
Gehringer, Tigers, second base.
Hartnett, Cubs, catch.
Grove, Athletics, pitch.
Hubbell, Giants, pitch.

James W. Moore Jr., 5327 Geraldine avenue, St. Louis, thinks Virgil Davis the outstanding catcher. Moore's aggregation follows:

Martin, Cardinals, third base.
Cronin, Senators, shortstop.
Foxx, Athletics, first base.
Davis, Phillies, catch.
West, Browns, center field.
Melillo, Browns, second base.
Hubbell, Giants, pitch.
Grove, Athletics, pitch.

Have YOU submitted a team in the contest for a chance at part of the $700 in awards? If not, draw up your team today. Mail it, together with an explanatory essay, to the Babe Ruth Editor, Post-Dispatch.

Rules Governing Babe Ruth's All-American Team Competition

THE contest is open to everyone, except employes of the Post-Dispatch and their families.

Entries will close Aug. 31 at midnight, and letters bearing postmark up to that time will be considered eligible.

The contestant naming the same players in the same positions and batting order as Babe Ruth wins the first prize; but in event no contestant duplicates Ruth's picks, the one nearest will be considered the winner.

In addition to naming the players to conform to those chosen by Ruth, contestants must arrange them in the same batting order as Babe Ruth. The Babe has agreed to place his choices in the order in which he thinks they should go to the plate.

An explanatory lettter of not more than 250 words must accompany the selection and will be passed upon by the judges. This is as important as selecting the players. Babe himself will write an explanation of his choices. (Write on one side of the paper only and make your selections on a separate sheet.)

Ten players will make up the team, two pitchers and eight other players, one of each position. Only one team may be submitted by each contestant.

No corrections will be accepted once an entry has been received and filed.

Babe Ruth is not eligible. He will not pick himself.

Players must be selected on the basis of their play in the 1933 season only. Performances of previous years do not count.

A player may be placed in a position other than the one he regularly occupies, provided he has played such position in one or more championship games. Otherwise regular positions must be rigidly adhered to. For instance, a regular left fielder may not be placed in right field unless he has played there at least once in 1933.

The trophies will be $200 cash for first, $150 for second, $100 for third, $50 for fourth. There will be five of $20 each and 10 of $10 each. The next 25 winners will receive baseball bats, autographed by Babe Ruth, and the last 25 winners will be awarded regulation American League baseballs, autographed by Ruth and mounted for use as blotters.

Mail selections to the Babe Ruth Contest Editor, care the Post-Dispatch.

Cochrane Will Not Lead Tigers, Connie Mack Says

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, Aug. 18.

THE report that Mickey Cochrane, catcher for the Philadelphia Athletics, would manage the Detroit Tigers next year can now be forgotten. Connie Mack has killed it.

"I heard that one, too," he remarked when the report was mentioned to him on the arrival of the Athletics for a series with the Tigers.

"You can say anything you like about it," he continued. "Only be sure to kill it very, very dead. Cochrane is not coming to Detroit."

Umpire Gets Job Back.

By the Associated Press.

JOPLIN, Mo., Aug. 19.—Hunter Hill, one of two Western League umpires who voluntarily walked out of a game at Omaha several weeks ago and went home, has again been signed by President Dale Gear for his umpire staff. Tom McQuillan of Pueblo, Colo., was released as umpire.

FONSECA WILL MANAGE WHITE SOX NEXT YEAR, GRABINER ANNOUNCES

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—Lew Fonseca will be manager of the Chicago White Sox in 1934.

The naming of Fonseca to lead the club in 1934 comes as something of a shock, but from no less a person than Harry Grabiner, vice-president and business manager. Of course, Lew has not been signed to a new contract.

American Track Stars Won 85 Of 89 Events in Meets Abroad

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Aug. 18.—The touring United States track and field team yesterday ended a triumphal procession through Europe with victories in eight of nine events against a star French team and today will split their forces, four of them continuing to Italy and the rest returning home.

The team did not lose a single meet in a tour of the Scandinavian countries and Central Europe and in several swept the program.

A young French runner, Roger Lefevre, spoiled the last meet of the tour for them, however, as he defeated Joe McCluskey and a big field of fellow countrymen to set a new French mark of 8m 33s for 3000 meters. The time displaced the record of Roger Rochard, who finished third.

Johnny Morriss, Ralph Metcalfe, Ivan Fuqua, Glenn Cunningham, John Anderson and George Spitz came through in the accustomed fashion to win their individual specialties. The first four teamed to win a sprint medley.

Metcalfe romped to victory in both the 100 and 200 meter dashes, the former in 10.6 and the latter in 21.6. Morriss fled over the 110-meter high hurdles in the good time of 14.6s, Fuqua won the 400 in 47.6, Cunningham defeated the Swedish Olympian, Erik Ny, in the 800 in 1:51.6 and Anderson, Olympic champion, tossed the discus 162 feet 2 inches to defeat his teammate, Henri Laborde of Stamford, by four feet. Spitz won the high jump with a leap of 6 feet 5¼ inches.

Morriss, Fuqua, Laborde and McCluskey will go to Italy for a meet at Milan Aug. 27 and another at Turin Sept. 1. The others will sail for home Saturday.

A recapitulation of the meets in which the Americans took part shows 85 victories of 89 events competed in, only McCluskey falling of a clean slate. He lost four of the 11 distance races in which he ran.

112 CADDIES TO PLAY IN TITLE GOLF TOURNEY

A total of 112 boys has entered the second annual St. Louis District Golf Association's caddy tournament, according to an announcement made by Dr. Jean Mason, chairman of the Caddy Committee today. The tournament will be held at Crystal Lake, Aug. 28-31, inclusive.

Several innovations in conjunction with the tournament have been instituted this year. The finance problem will be taken care of out of funds derived from the sale of tickets for the St. Louis district open event, which will be held Oct. 10-14 at Algonquin. Tickets to the latter tournament will be sold for 50 cents. Half of the proceeds will go to the furtherance and maintenance of the caddy tournament; one-fourth will be used for prizes in the St. Louis open and the other one-fourth will be set aside as a reserve fund.

The sale of tickets has been vested in the caddies and Dr. Mason feels that if each of them can dispose of two the funds derived will be ample. In addition the members of each club are expected to sell tickets.

Prizes for the caddies have been offered by Arthur Stickney for Class A, composed of boys over 18; by Otto Schulz for Class B, composed of boys from 15 to 18, and by Don Anderson for Class C, composed of boys under 15. The cups that Stickney has offered are those won by his brother, the late Stuart G. Stickney, who acquired the first golfing trophy ever put up in St. Louis. That was the one presented by the old Jockey Club, which had a golf course inside the old racing track at Fairground Park in 1899. Stuart Stickney also won the St. Louis Country Club's cup in 1900 and that will go to the runner-up in Class A.

There will be a meeting next Wednesday night at the Clayton Court-house to arrange the final plans of the caddy tournament.

EXCELLENT FISHING ON ONLY A FEW STREAMS DURING WEEK END

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 18.—Excellent fishing conditions are in prospect for this week-end on only a few streams and lakes of Missouri, the Game and Fish Department reported yesterday.

Rains in the southern part of the state east of Poplar Bluff have made the streams flush and muddy, while in other parts of the state streams need flushing, the department said.

Streams and lakes where fair to excellent conditions are in prospect include the Lake of the Ozarks, Bourbois River, Creve Coeur Lake, Spring River, Lamine River, Long Creek, Elk River, White River, Current River and Jack's Fork, Black River, St. Francis River, Big River, Meramec River, Joachim Creek, Sac and Osage rivers, Fabius River, Beaver, Bryant and North Fork in Douglas County, Niangua in Laclede County, Gasconade and Osage forks, Cole Camp Creek, Lake Taneycomo and Hogles Creek.

WRESTLING RESULTS

By the Associated Press.

Watch the Brownies.

PRESIDENT HARRIDGE expressed a very hopeful view of the Browns' future. When asked if the League were coming to the rescue of the tail-enders, Harridge called attention to the fact that direct aid in the matter of first-class players was not possible.

"It is against our policy to use the League to aid the affairs of any one club in a direct manner or by the arrangement of players' transfers," he said. "Nor can any club afford to contribute or sell its assets to another team. The low player limit and the scarcity of first-class material make it unthinkable that a club owner would dispose of material so hard to obtain even for high prices.

"I am optimistic about the Browns. Hornsby is a practical baseball man in whom we have great faith. Mr. Ball is prepared to lend him every aid and I feel sure that the combination will result in a first-class baseball team representing the American League in this city before long."

And that, too, will get a hand from the fans, many of whom have clung loyally to the Browns in their adversity.

The Sunday 'Bargain' Doomed

THE synthetic Sunday doubleheader, Mr. Harridge believes, will be on its way, along with the depression.

"The American League consistently has opposed the Sunday doubleheader, except where it was an absolute necessity to clear the schedule," the American League's head said. "It cheapens the sport and hurts the week-day patronage.

"I think that this matter probably will come up before the joint meeting of the two leagues next December and I would not be surprised if an understanding were reached and a saner policy agreed upon with respect to doubleheaders."

Et Tu, Polo?

IF THERE was one sport thought to be immune from slurs of professionalism, it was the ancient and costly game of polo. But they are even throwing mud among the mallet men.

But not in this country. Strange to say, "professional" charges are being made in England, where a member of the nobility recently has had his say. And he was in good voice.

He charged that polo had reached the stage where some very fine polo men had been induced to play for cash, payments running from 100 pounds sterling to as high as 500 pounds.

No doubt there was plenty of private betting among the supporters of the rival club teams which enabled them to make up the investments.

Coming to the notice of the high official this situation was soon made safe for the future by the passing of a rule: "No player shall pay or receive payment for playing polo."

Prior to this year no such rule had been necessary.

Polo is not a game for the impecunious, ordinarily. Nevertheless under club, intercollegiate and army support a great many polo players are being developed both in this country and in Europe. Good ones in poor financial circumstances, probably could find backers willing to finance them, in order to command their playing services.

However, it seems very doubtful if polo will ever have to worry seriously about whether the men engaged actually make their living out of polo or are merely super-rich amateurs.

Is He Good!

IF you have any idea that Lefty Grove is nearing his finish as a pitcher, look over the figures. They show that the great southpaw has a record of 18 victories and 6 defeats, with some 48 more games of the season remaining.

If he continues the season at the same rate, he probably will finish with a record of 25 victories and 9 defeats, which will be better than his major league all-time average.

In reality, it will be still better than that. For some of the best marks of Grove were made when he had much more hitting power behind him than today. That was was in the days when Al Simmons and Mickey Cochrane were both murdering the ball for the Mackmen.

This year Grove has been performing with only one of the famous attacking trio going well—Foxx. Cochrane's hitting has faded away, for the past two or three seasons. Simmons has departed. The new young men, while pretty good, can't compare with the attacking losses suffered.

In view of which a 25-victory season for Grove this year would almost equal his very best year, achieved under more favorable conditions.

scored his fourteenth victory of the season, 9 to 5.

Medwick's first homer tied the score at 1-1 in the fourth, and Collins' four-bagger was a high light of a "six-run rally" during the fifth, an outburst that brought back memories of the Redbirds when fence busting outbreaks were every day occurrences.

Carleton's performance was even better than the score would indicate. Fullis doubled in the first inning and Schulmerich hit the right-center field wall for two bases in the second. Carleton then disposed of 16 batters in succession before Schulmerich singled in the seventh for the third Philadelphia hit. McLeod got a single in the eighth when Medwick couldn't quite reach his pop fly and, in the same frame, Bartell's short fly fell inches in front of Watkins' glove for a single. Then Klein hit a high pop fly which barely cleared the right field wall, an easy out in any other park in the circuit.

In the ninth an error with two out started that one-run Philadelphia rally, so two of the Phils' five runs were unearned and all of them were tainted.

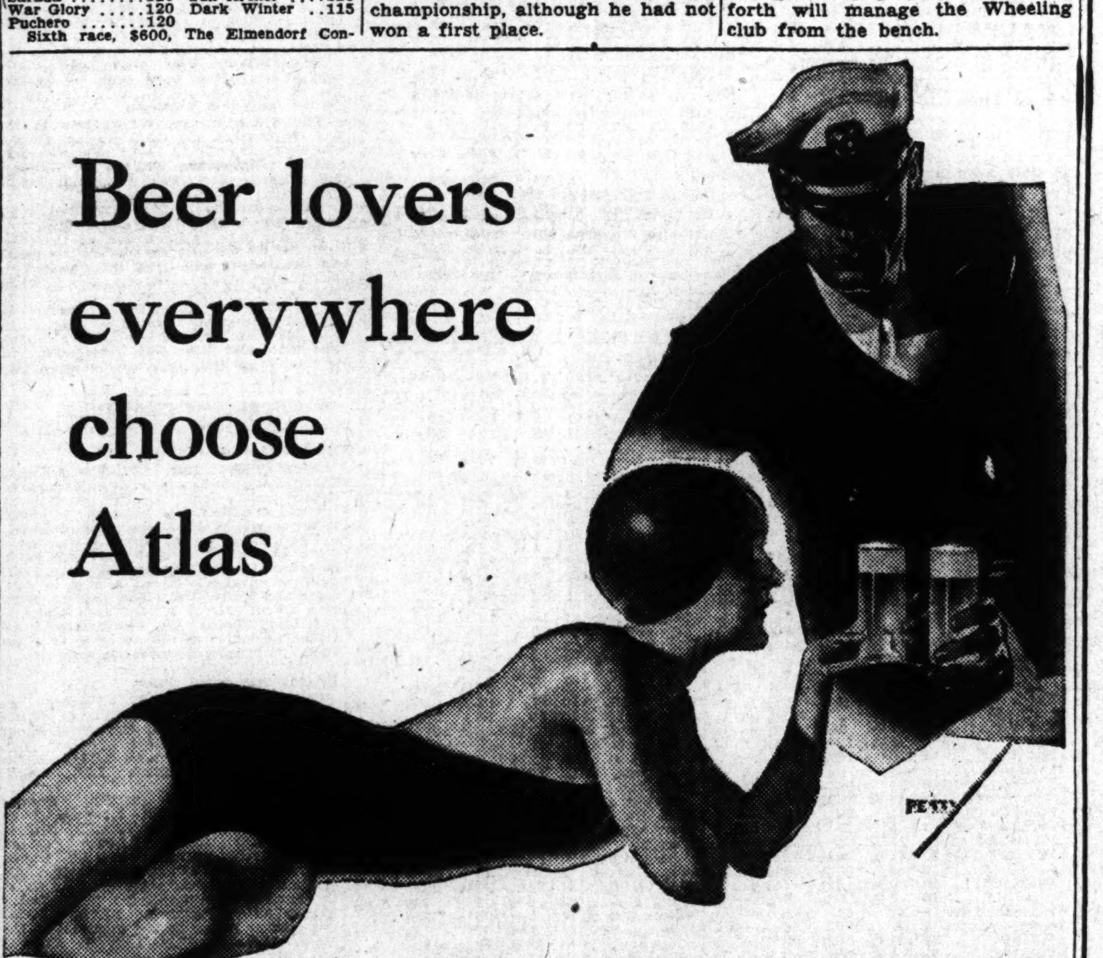
Beer lovers everywhere choose Atlas



BEER LOVERS by the millions are turning to Atlas Beer. Why? The answer is simple. Atlas is better beer. Better because it's made better . . . brewed by a formula that has never been successfully imitated . . . from the finest ingredients money will buy. Throughout 42 years of continuous brewing, Atlas has kept abreast of every modern advance . . . in plant, equipment and method. Millions say that Atlas has no equal . . . for flavor, tang, aroma and body. The "No-Label" test will quickly convince you. Atlas Beer costs us more to brew, yet it costs you no more to enjoy. Atlas—aristocrat of beers—is sold by 65,000 dealers and at your favorite restaurant, club and tavern.

Make This "No Label" Test of Beers

Get six different brands of beer, including Atlas. Cover the labels and pour the beer in glasses. First sip one beer, then another—preferably munching a pretzel between sips to clear the taste. Atlas makes this challenge without the slightest hesitation, knowing full well that quality will tell. Costlier ingredients and better brewing best show their effect by comparison.

The last 25 winners will be awarded regulation American League baseballs, autographed by Babe Ruth.

The 9th Annual Babe Ruth Baseball Competition has officially opened. Again, baseball fans are offered a chance to cash in on their baseball knowledge.

$200.00 in cash will go to the participant who submits a lineup and batting order that most nearly corresponds to Ruth's selections, and whose explanatory letter of 250 words or less gives the best reasons for his choices. Eighteen other cash awards, totaling $500.00, plus 25 autographed bats and 25 autographed baseballs will go to the 68 other winners named by the judges.

Now is the time to begin thinking about your selections. Rules, complete details and expert stories on the prospects of various stars are published

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Stocks followed wheat in a last-hour selling drive today, but support arrived just before the close and losses of 1 to 4 or more points were reduced substantially. The alcohols and farm equities were the principal sufferers. Final casualties averaged around 1 to 2 points. The turnover approximated 2,150,000 shares.

After an early opening flourish, share trading settled down to an easy jog with most of the leaders inclined to hold their gains of yesterday. The action of grains was watched carefully, however, and when these turned irregular under profit-taking, stocks moved sympathetically. At Chicago wheat, uncertain most of the day, finally slumped the maximum of 5 cents a bushel. It was off more than 2 cents a bushel at Winnipeg. Other grains were irregularly lower. Cotton also turned heavy. The dollar recovered most of its early losses in foreign exchange dealings. Bonds were irregular.

Shares of Liggett & Myers B, National Steel, U. S. Smelting and Loew's were up about a point each, while losers of 1 to 2 or more included Western Union, du Pont, Case Dome, National Distillers, American Commercial Alcohol, Allied Chemical, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, American Telephone, American Can, Celanese and Industrial Rayon. The majority of the rails held their declines to fractions.

Wheat showed little resistance to heavy realizing, and at the close was down the limit of 5 cents a bushel. Corn, up 2 or more cents a bushel throughout the greater part of the session, lost its enthusiasm and ended ⅝ of a cent a bushel lower to ¼ higher. Oats were down 1⅝ to 3 cents, barley dropped 1⅞ to 3⅞ cents and rye declined 3⅝ to 4½ cents a bushel. Cotton finished with losses of 30 to 65 cents a bale. Bar silver was up 1 cent at 36⅝ cents an ounce.

The British pound sterling soared some 6 cents in early transactions, but, at $4.49¼ for cables, had yielded most of this gain in late trading. French francs were only up fractionally at 5.33¼, guilders showed a gain of around .1 of a cent at 55 cents, and Swiss francs and Belgian belgas were only slightly above their previous closing prices. Canadian dollars, German marks and Far Eastern exchanges were fairly firm.

News of the Day.

Some renewal of public participation was reported in yesterday's flareup, but it was mostly of the odd-lot type. More business of this character appeared in the early hours today, but volume, in most cases, was small. Professionals continued to pass stocks back and forth on the floor, with intermittent waves of enthusiasm, and orders on the specialists' books, either to buy or sell, were still exceedingly slim.

A late selling wave however, rocked the list rather vigorously before subsiding. Rails and utilities resisted well, but numerous industries declined 1 to 4 points before recovering portions of their losses. Trading again turned dull as soon as the selling had spent itself, but declines of around 1 to 3 points were suffered by Western Union, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Case, Deere, U. S. Steel, American Telephone, duPont and American Can. Transfers were expected to approximate 2,100,000 shares.

Weekly Financial Data.

Further statistical proof of the gains business has been making was seen in the American Acceptance Council's monthly study of bankers' bills. The total volume of outstanding bills on July 31 was shown to be $738,258,963, a gain during the month of $51,584,513, the largest monthly increase in dollar acceptance business in two years.

The weekly report of the Federal Reserve System showed another $10,000,000 of Government bonds purchased, a policy practically unchanged from recent weeks. Gold stocks gained $4,380,000, while bills discounted showed an unexpected advance of $9,623,000. Money in circulation rose $4,000,000 and brokers loans gained $14,000,000, bringing the total to $894,000,000, the same amount as three weeks ago.

VOLUME OF BANKERS ACCEPTANCES UP LARGELY

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—A substantial increase in the volume of bankers' acceptances outstanding as of July 31 brought the total well above the amount outstanding at the same date last year, the American Acceptance Council reported. The figure at the end of July was $738,258,963 compared with $686,674,450 on June 30 and $704,646,592 at the corresponding date last year.

Spot Silver Up a Cent.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—The price of spot silver was advanced 1 cent today to 36⅝ cents an ounce. This was the sharpest gain in several weeks.

Silver futures on the Commodity Exchange, Inc., failed to follow the rise in the spot market, easing after an early rise of ¼ cent to levels a shade below yesterday's finals.

United States Dollar 72.93 Cents.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—The dollar, in terms of the French gold franc, was valued at one time today at approximately 72.93 cents, compared with 73.61 cents yesterday and 68.71 cents a month ago.

Whitney Denies 'Change Rule Rumor.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Richard Whitney, president of the New York Stock Exchange in a statement today said there was no authority for the report that the exchange will shortly adopt rules requiring its members to confine their operations to one type of business.

Wall Street Hears Report.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Wall Street heard reports today that a committee of New York Stock Exchange members would submit to the exchange governors next week a plan for limiting the business of member firm to one of four divisions.

The committee's purpose, it was said, was to gain the exchange's approval of a rule which would compel firms doing a commission business to confine their activities to that branch, and similarly restrict those acting as specialists, as underwriters and as retailers in the investment field.

Under such an arrangement, it was contended members would no longer be able to mix commission operations with underwriting and retail distribution of securities. Also, specialists would be prohibited from engaging in commission or other operations.

The committee sponsoring the changes, it was said, is an independent group, acting on its own initiative with the view of amplifying the exchange's campaign to bring margin trading under a more rigid control.

COTTON MARKET CLOSES 6 TO 13 POINTS LOWER

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Cotton lost ground after an early advance today.

After selling up to 9.77 for December, or more than a cent a pound above Wednesday's low during the early trading, the demand tapered off and prices eased under realizing or renewed liquidation and scattered selling.

This was influenced by reactions in the grain market and heaviness in stocks. December sold off to 9.40, with the general list showing net declines of about 16 to 20 points around 2 o'clock.

The cotton market rallied late in the day on covering and trade buying, futures closing steady, 6@13 lower. October 9.30@9.32; December 9.51@9.52; January 9.61; March 9.75; May 9.92; July 10.06. Spot quiet; middling 9.25.

Oct. opened 9.47, Dec. 9.73, Jan. 9.85, March 10.03, May 10.16, July 10.29.

Trading was fairly active at the start with the market meeting sufficient realizing and scattered selling which appeared to be coming partly from the South, which supplied the initial demand.

At 9.77c for December contracts, the market showed an advance of over a cent a pound from the low level of Wednesday, and there may have been some selling for a reaction as well as profit taking around this lecvel.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—The American dollar continued to sag today in foreign exchange transactions. Dealers generally attributed the declining tendency principally to a renewal of inflationary psychology.

The British pound sterling was up 4 cents at $4.53 for cables, French cables gained .03½ of a cent at 5.36 cents, Dutch guilders advanced .35 of a cent to 55¼ cents and Swiss francs and Belgian belgas were about .15 of a cent each higher.

German marks, the Scandinavians and Canadian dollars gained about ¼ of a cent each. Far Eastern currencies were firm.

New York Sugar.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Raw sugar was quiet early today, and as no sales were reported, prices were unchanged at 3.44 for spots.

Futures opened unchanged to two points higher and as there was little selling pressure, prices held steady during the balance of the forenoon.

Reports that the allotment plan still was being considered and rumors that many of the difficulties were being straightened out led to a little covering and trade buying which accounted for the early steadiness, although trading was of small proportions.

September contracts sold up from 1.34 to 1.35, and May from 1.55 to 1.57, with the market at midday holding around the best and one to two points net higher.

Refined sugar showed no change of importance with refiners listing at 4.70 and second hands at 4.50.

The market firmed in the late trading on trade buying and covering believed to be against sales in the spot market, futures closing firm, 2 to 4 higher; sales, 27,300 tons. Sept., 1.36@37; Dec., 1.45; Jan., 1.47; March, 1.53@54; May, 1.59; July, 1.65b.

Drygoods Market.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Gray cotton goods were steadier Friday, with trading limited by high prices. Finished goods were moving well on past orders but new business was developing slowly. Rayon yarns were firmer, with the tendency upward. Wool goods aroused more interest among men's wear buyers. Burlaps were quiet. Silk goods were inactive partly because of the strike in the dressmaking trades.

FOREIGN MARKETS AT A GLANCE

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—The improvement in commodity prices and in the Wall Street market helped to register a cheerful tendency on the Stock Exchange today. Activity was renewed in industrials where Rayon, Transatlantic, Oil and Molasses shares were the best. Distillers' issues strengthened on hopes of a whisky demand from America. Gilt-edged securities steadied and kaffirs were supported by South African buyers. The market closed firm.

PARIS, Aug. 18.—Prices on the Bourse advanced generally, especially gold and international shares, the latter following Wall Street's recovery. The turnover was moderate and the closing was firm.

BERLIN, Aug. 18.—The friendly tendency continued on the Bourse owing to better reports from the automobile market. However, the slight gains recorded were lost at the close, which was li

DUN AND BRADSTREET, INC. SUMMARY FOR WEEK

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Passing of the mid-summer season without appreciable slowing of the progress of recovery in business, said the Dun and Bradstreet, Inc., trade review today, makes the possibility of any sizeable recession more remote with each passing week.

At the same time, the review pointed out that "the delay in perfecting codes of fair competition is exerting a retardative influence on the rate of activity in a number of industries."

"With each succeeding week," continued the review, "more and more of the small industrial centers throughout the country enter the group showing gains over the 1932 and 1931 figures.

"The extent of the upward movement since March is disclosed by the cumulative records for the major trades and for employment, which during the brief period of four and a half months revealed gains seven times larger than those set down for the same period of 1932.

"Analyses of the industrial indices reveal a larger number of recessions from the midsummer peak than a week ago. The lines on many of the charts that had been rounded off gradually since the latter part of July are now beginning to sag, although the majority of these are above the position occupied in 1932 and 1931, and in a few instances, are nearly parallel with the 1930 trend.

"It is not solely the fear of the general advance of the price level of all merchandise, which will become effective on Sept. 1, which has given such a strong spurt to retail buying, but rather the millions in new found wealth which have been poured into the hands of consumers, who have converted these into long deferred essential requirements."

BONDS IRREGULAR IN LATE SESSION

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Firmness gave way to irregularity in the bonk market today as offerings increased in some departments in the final hour.

Low priced rails bore the brunt of the moderate selling movement, and some lost a point or two at one period. Industrial loans also turned rather soft. Some issues were unaffected and held close to the previous day's levels at this time.

The foreign group was steady most of the session. British and French loans improved at one time, as did some South Americans and Japan 5½s. United States
Governments covered only small ground in their price changes most of day.

EIGHTH SLEEPING SICKNESS VICTIM FROM COUNTY DIES

William Politte, Webster Groves Succumbs at Isolation Hospital — Two Others Very Low.

William Politte, a laborer, residing in Webster Groves, died today at the Isolation Hospital, the eighth to die in the "sleeping sickness" outbreak in which about 70 St. Louis County cases and 16 in the city have been reported.

His death was attributed by Dr. John W. Eschenbrenner, superintendent, to a reaction after the virus itself had passed its active crest. Politte, whose address was given as 540 South Elm avenue, suffered from chronic kidney disease. He was taken to the hospital Aug. 9 and, like other patients there, had shown improvement this week.

Two elderly patients, Superintendent Eschenbrenner reported, were likewise in serious condition today in reactions from the disease due to age or other infirmities. One was a diabetic, and the other had taken pneumonia, a frequent complication of acute infectious diseases, Dr. Eschenbrenner remarked, although it had not occurred in other encephalitis patients there.

Four patients in a grave condition last week because of age showed marked improvement since Monday at the Isolation Hospital and St. Louis County Hospital discharged one yesterday as recovered. Only two new cases were reported in the county and two in St. Louis.

Regulations were drawn up to prevent the spread of the outbreak, research was centralized in the hands of Washington University experts, the search for causes and transmission agents was unified, and a permanent Metropolitan Health Council to facilitate control of any epidemic which might arise in county, city or East Side was organized at a meeting of more than 30 health officers yesterday at the St. Louis Health Department.

Dr. Joseph F. Bredeck, St. Louis Health Commissioner, who called the meeting, was elected chairman, and his assistant, Dr. Paul J. Zentay, secretary. The next meeting will be held at offices of the St. Louis County Health Department in Clayton.

The secretary's office is to act as a clearing house of important data on this and any future health problem arising in any health officer's territory in St. Louis, St. Louis County or St. Clair or Madison County, Ill. Daily reports are to be sent by each and each will receive daily summaries showing exactly what is happening in each section of the metropolitan area.

Research can be centralized and field work correlated by the council, so that valuable information developed in any section toward combating an outbreak will be available to all. The council is to include the superintendents of the city and county hospitals, in addition to all the health commissioners in the three counties. Chairmen are to be elected from among the health commissioners in rotation, and meetings are to be held in rotation in the various sections.

For this disease, the outstanding preventive regulation adopted was isolation—for three weeks after illness begins—of the patients in hospitals, barring visitors from encephalitis wards or rooms and restricting general visiting hours. The regulations provided that the family need not be quarantined. Closing of schools was not contemplated, and Hospital Commissiner Ralph Thompson and Dr. J. P. Leake of the United States Public Health Service stated there was nothing to gain by avoiding public gatherings such as the NRA parade.

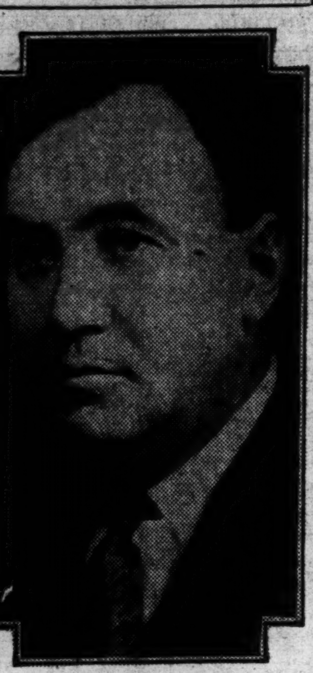
These regulations, largely resembling those prepared for epidemics by the State Health Department and the United States Public Health Service, were based on the indications—though the cause and the agents of its transmission are unknown—that the disease was transmitted by human carriers, convalescents or persons who had not become ill of the disease.

An "open mind" in every aspect of the disease, however, was urged on the experts by Dr. Leake, and the uniform questionnaire adopted for case histories went into every possible source of infection. All were discussed in the meeting, but an answer was found for each suggested except the probability of transmission by carrier.

Research for all the districts affected by the outbreak was placed in the hands of Washington University experts, under direction of Dr. R. S. Muckenfuss, who urged that physicians encountering suspected cases in private practice not only notify the health commissioners in their district, but notify him at once, so that he could obtain material for laboratory study in an early stage of the disease.

Dr. Leake, the Government's expert on epidemics added his indorsement to the request for prompt reports to health authorities and the research committee, and also urged that, if further deaths occurred, private physicians should join public health authorities in obtaining a prompt autopsy. In this way, he emphasized, science might find means to control this disease, still in many respects a mystery, and so prevent the death of others.

CONGRESSMAN NAMED U. S. JUDGE IN ILLINOIS



J. EARL MAJOR

OF Hillsboro, who was appointed by President Roosevelt to serve in the Southern District, which includes Springfield and Quincy. He takes the place vacated by Judge Louis L. KILLED IN FALL FROM WINDOW

Portland, Ore., Railroad Man Plunges From Eighth Floor.

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 18. — Plunging from an eighth-floor window of the Olympic Hotel, John P. Cummins, assistant general freight and passenger agent for the Union Pacific at Portland, Ore., was killed today.

Cummins arrived here today from Portland to attend a meeting of railway officers. Associates said they thought his fall was accidental. They left Cummins alone in his room a few minutes before his death.

Bricks Thrown in Row Over NRA.

SANDOVAL, Ill., Aug. 18.—Unemployed persons here made a demonstration here last night against a fruit shipping station because it was not observing NRA regulations. A few bricks were thrown by the demonstrators, who for a while succeeded in keeping trucks from leaving the shipping station with loads of peaches. The authorities dispersed the crowd.

COUZENS SAYS LAXITY OF U. S. OFFICIALS LED TO BANK CRISIS

Senator Tells Investigator That Law Was Not Enforced on Theory That "Prosperity Was Just Around the Corner."

DETROIT TROUBLES KNOWN, HE ASSERTS

Points Out to Grand Jury That All the Examiners Can Do Is Make Reports and That Washington Must Act.

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, Aug. 18. — United States Senator James Couzens resumed his testimony in the Detroit bank investigation today with a declaration that "while the depression had much to do with the bad condition of the two local national banks, I am still ready to admit that much of it was due to the lack of law enforcement by the Federal authorities at Washington."

The Michigan Republican made this statement before Judge Harry B. Keidan, who is sitting as a grand jury to investigate causes of the Michigan bank holiday, which marked the beginning of the national crisis.

The statement came as the result of questioning by Prosecutor Harry S. Toy, who sought to show that the condition of the banks—the First National Bank-Detroit and the Guardian National Bank of Commerce, both closed since the State holiday—was the result of Federal supervision.

Duty of Examiners.

"Yesterday you criticised the way these banks were conducted prior to the holiday," said Prosecutor Toy. "Should not the bank examiners have prevented this?"

"All an examiner can do is make his report," said the Senator. "Washington must act."

"Why did Washington permit this condition in Detroit if it knew of it?" asked Toy.

"On the theory that prosperity was just around the corner," said Couzens. "Public officials, from the President down, were holding out that hope to the people. It was in a large part the depression that affected the assets of the banks here."

"If the bankers were to blame to the extent you say, Washington must have known of it and approved of it," said Toy.

Officials Criticised Banks.

"No," said Couzens. "The letters to the Detroit banks show that Washington did not approve. But the acts already had been committed. The Comptroller of the Currency criticised the management and the bad loans, but if the Comptroller had taken action to eliminate these matters the bank would have had to close, because its capital was seriously affected. Washington had to answer this question: Whether it was better to wait for prosperity to return or to insist on the letter of the law and close the banks.

"This was not an easy question. At hearings before the Senate Banking and Currency Committee the Comptroller himself testified that he had not enforced the law because he was waiting, hoping there would be a recovery."

Toy insisted that the Federal Government approve the bank and holding company mergers to the extent of examining the assets of national banks involved, and Couzens agreed.

"Then the Federal Government, at least tacitly, had a hand in this orgy of high finance?" Asked Toy.

"Oh, no," said Couzens. "When the holding companies tried to collect the stocks of these banks, they paid absurdly high and ridiculous prices to accumulate the ownership. The Government was not interested in that and took no part in it. That is the part I want to point out as the orgy of high finance of which I complain."

Disputes Bankers' Theory.

Couzens pounded away at his contention that the Detroit banks, with deposits of more than $500,000,000, were kept closed after the holiday because of their condition and not because of a super-strict attitude on the part of Government officials. The latter theory had been propounded again and again by banker witnesses who appeared in the early weeks of the inquiry. These banker witnesses also had accused Couzens of blocking a loan which they said would have prevented the Michigan holiday.

The Senator thwarted every effort of his inquisitor to draw from him an admission that the Government was in effect a partner in the Detroit financial policies because the consolidations which creagainst a fruit shipping station because it was not observing NRA regulations. A few bricks were thrown by the demonstrators, who for a while succeeded in keeping trucks from leaving the shipping station with loads of peaches. The authorities dispersed the crowd.

COUZENS SAYS LAXITY OF U. S. OFFICIALS LED TO BANK CRISIS

Senator Tells Investigator That Law Was Not Enforced on Theory That "Prosperity Was Just Around the Corner."

DETROIT TROUBLES KNOWN, HE ASSERTS

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, Aug. 18. — United States Senator James Couzens resumed his testimony in the Detroit bank investigation today with a declaration that "while the depression had much to do with the bad condition of the two local national banks, I am still ready to admit that much of it was due to the lack of law enforcement by the Federal authorities at Washington."

The Michigan Republican made this statement before Judge Harry B. Keidan, who is sitting as a grand jury to investigate causes of the Michigan bank holiday, which marked the beginning of the national crisis.

The statement came as the result of questioning by Prosecutor Harry S. Toy, who sought to show that the condition of the banks—the First National Bank-Detroit and the Guardian National Bank of Commerce, both closed since the State holiday—was the result of Federal supervision.

Duty of Examiners.

"Yesterday you criticised the way these banks were conducted prior to the holiday," said Prosecutor Toy. "Should not the bank examiners have prevented this?"

"All an examiner can do is make his report," said the Senator. "Washington must act."

"Why did Washington permit this condition in Detroit if it knew of it?" asked Toy.

"On the theory that prosperity was just around the corner," said Couzens. "Public officials, from the President down, were holding out that hope to the people. It was in a large part the depression that affected the assets of the banks here."

"If the bankers were to blame to the extent you say, Washington must have known of it and approved of it," said Toy.

Officials Criticised Banks.

"No," said Couzens. "The letters to the Detroit banks show that Washington did not approve. But the acts already had been committed. The Comptroller of the Currency criticised the management and the bad loans, but if the Comptroller had taken action to eliminate these matters the bank would have had to close, because its capital was seriously affected. Washington had to answer this question: Whether it was better to wait for prosperity to return or to insist on the letter of the law and close the banks.

"This was not an easy question. At hearings before the Senate Banking and Currency Committee the Comptroller himself testified that he had not enforced the law because he was waiting, hoping there would be a recovery."

Toy insisted that the Federal Government approve the bank and holding company mergers to the extent of examining the assets of national banks involved, and Couzens agreed.

"Then the Federal Government, at least tacitly, had a hand in this orgy of high finance?" Asked Toy.

"Oh, no," said Couzens. "When the holding companies tried to collect the stocks of these banks, they paid absurdly high and ridiculous prices to accumulate the ownership. The Government was not interested in that and took no part in it. That is the part I want to point out as the orgy of high finance of which I complain."

Disputes Bankers' Theory.

Couzens pounded away at his contention that the Detroit banks, with deposits of more than $500,000,000, were kept closed after the holiday because of their condition and not because of a super-strict attitude on the part of Government officials. The latter theory had been propounded again and again by banker witnesses who appeared in the early weeks of the inquiry. These banker witnesses also had accused Couzens of blocking a loan which they said would have prevented the Michigan holiday.

The Senator thwarted every effort of his inquisitor to draw from him an admission that the Government was in effect a partner in the Detroit financial policies because the consolidations which created the two big banks were permitted.

"My main criticism," he said, "is that the conditions I object to were engaged in after the consolidations—the past-due loans, the unwarranted loans, the millions and millions loaned on their own stock in violation of the law. All that was done long before the Federal Government knew of it. . . . Then the question arose: Should the Federal Government compel all these loans to be wiped out and the banks closed because of the impairment of capital?

"The Federal Government says: 'I think it is better to carry them along in the hope they will work out.' That is better community interest. The discretion may turn out wrong or wise. I want to point out that 35 or 40 billions in deposits were never affected. Why? Because they had sound banking management and sound banks, run for the depositors and not for speculators."

"Orgy of Pyramiding."

The Senator asserted that "I know of no other city in the whole world where there was such an orgy of pyramiding of corporations and the fixing of fictitious values and earnings."

He charged the Union Guardian Trust Co. had "jockeyed the children's fund of Michigan out of $200,000," and asked Prosecutor Toy to investigate with a view to criminal proceedings. The children's fund, established in 1928 by the Senator, has an endowment of $10,000,000, the income of which is to be spent solely for crippled children of the State.

The trust company, said the Senator, sold the fund $300,000 worth of "participation certificates" based on real estate mortgages, but pleaded a temporary stringency of funds when payment became due and asked the fund management to take "certificates of deposit" instead.

He said the certificates had no collateral security behind them and only $100,000 was cashed by the fund. The rest, he said, was not obtained before the trust company closed and he said he counted the $200,000 "as practically a total loss."

Hints at Criminal Offense.

"Why," exclaimed the Senator, "the Union Guardian Trust Co. accepted deposits for 20 days after its officials knew it was insolvent. It is my understanding that that is a criminal offense."

Turning to the First National Bank-Detroit, Couzens read from a memorandum which he said had been taken from the bank's books, and declared on the day the bank closed its books showed more than $6,000,000 lent directly to directors; loans of more than $2,600,000 on which directors had signed as indorsers; loans totaling more than $1,400,000 to employes, and loans totaling more than $11,400,000 to corporations in which directors of the bank were interested.

"The total of these loans—$22,190,000—will be lost to a very great extent due to the poor judgment of Federal bank examiners," he said.

"My Good Friend, Mr. Mellon."

Discussing the Government's policy toward banks, Couzens said:

"All during the depression the administration was in the hands of the Republicans. All during that time it was under the control of my good friend, Mr. Mellon and Ogden L. Mills."

"Did you say your 'good friend, Mr. Mellon?'" asked the prosecutor, smiling.

"I said it with a smile," replied Couzens. "They were dictating the policy of the Treasury Department. All the time they were violating the law in respect to their attitude toward national banks. Senator Carter Glass was holding subcommittee hearings in 1932 and got testimony from former Comptroller Pole and Awalt, his deputy, that many banks were insolvent but were not closed because that would have wrecked the communities.

"This outraged Glass, who is a very able and honest man. I will read what he said in the Congressional Record of May, 1933:

"'For the last 12 or 14 years there has been no espionage on the weak national banks. The Comptroller of the Currency admits that if he enforced the law he would have closed half the national banks of the country.'

"He means," said Couzens, "the

COST OF GAS IN ST. LOUIS AND OTHER MISSOURI CITIES

IN the following table the cost of gas to the domestic consumer in St. Louis using 15 therms and 20 therms a month is compared with the cost in Missouri communities having lower rates. Fifteen therms of St. Louis gas is equivalent to 1875 cubic feet and 20 therms to 2500 cubic feet.

	—COST—
City.	15 Therms.	20 Therms.
St. Louis	$2.64	$3.34
St. Louis County	2.18	2.80
Kansas City	1.75	2.19
North Kan. City	2.50	3.25
Joplin	1.22	1.54
Springfield	2.00	2.50
Marshall	2.50	3.00
Bonne Terre	2.25	2.93
Hannibal	2.30	2.92
Independence	2.23	2.80
Columbia	2.23	2.80
Farmington	2.12	2.65
Crystal City	2.05	2.58
Monett	2.00	2.50
Poplar Bluff	2.00	2.50

These figures are from data compiled by C. E. Smith & Co., consulting engineers for the City of St. Louis.

'SERVICE CHARGE' COSTS GAS USERS $900,000 A YEAR

One of Exhibits in City's 222-Page Brief Seeking 20 Per Cent Reduction in Rates.

COMPARISON MADE WITH OTHER TOWNS

Schedules for Domestic Consumers Here Higher Than in Most Other Places in State.

How the "service charge" in the St. Louis gas rate schedule operates to increase consumers' bills was strikingly shown in exhibits filed by the city in the case now pending before the State Public Service Commission in which City Counselor Hay is asking for a 20 per cent reduction.

Many of the exhibits are included in the 222-page printed brief in which the city has summed up its evidence and arguments. The Laclede Gas Light Co. is to present its side of the case in a brief.

One city exhibit shows that for quantities of gas normally used by domestic consumers St. Louis rates are higher than the rates in most other cities and towns of the State. Analysis of the exhibits and rate schedule shows the "service charge" accounts to a large extent for the difference and yields the company a revenue of about $900,000 a year.

The St. Louis user pays $2.64 for 15 therms, or 1875 cubic feet, used in one month. In only a few small towns is the cost higher and in many cities and towns it is lower. The same amount costs $2.50 in Marshall, $2.30 in Hannibal, $2.25 in Bonne Terre, $2.18 in St. Louis County, $2 in Monett, Springfield and Poplar Bluff, $1.75 in Kansas City and $1.22 in Joplin.

Some Other Comparisons.

In St. Louis 20 therms, or 2500 cubic feet, cost $3.34. The cost is $2.92 in Hannibal, $2.80 in St. Louis County, $2.65 in Farmington, $2.50 in Poplar Bluff and $2.19 in Kansas City. Comparisons with other cities are included in the accompanying table, prepared from data used by the city's consulting engineers at the rate hearings. The calculations were made from rates on file with the Public Service Commission.

The "service charge" entered the St. Louis rate schedule in 1929 when the Public Service Commission approved a revision designed to yield the company additional revenue of $700,000 a year. Before that the minimum monthly charge entitled the consumer to the full amount of gas the charge would purchase at the rate for the first block. That is, when the minimum monthly charge was 50 cents and the rate was $1 a thousand cubic feet the consumer was entitled to 500 cubic feet for the minimum charge so that in the case of a user of 500 feet or more the normal rate was not increased by reason of the minimum charge.

Under the present schedule the company is permitted to charge 80 cents for the first two therms, or for the first 250 cubic feet, used in a month, and this charge enters into every monthly bill. At the first step rate of 14.1 cents a therm, or $1.12 for 1000 feet, this quantity of gas is worth about 30 cents, indicating a direct "service charge" of 50 cents a month. Assuming that each consumer pays this 12 times a year, it amounts to $6 a year.

A $900,000 Increase.

There are about 150,000 domestic consumers using more than the amount of gas covered by the "service charge" and the bills of practically all are increased thereby, in the aggregate about $900,000 a year. The company takes the view that the service charge is justified by the overhead cost of "readiness to serve," and the cost of meter reading, billing and the like, applying equally to all consumers, large and small.

In most other Missouri cities where rates are lower there is likewise a service charge, but it is either smaller or carries with it greater quantity of gas. In Kansas City the initial charge of 75 cents pays for 400 cubic feet of gas of 1000 b. t. u. heat value. St. Louisans pay $1.88 for an equivalent in heat value.

Some of the cities having lower rates are served with natural gas by the Missouri Natural Gas Co., a subsidiary of Utilities Power & Light Corporation which also owns Laclede Gas Light Co. Among these are Bonne Terre, Farmington and Poplar Bluff. In these cities the cost of the first 500 cubic feet is $1. As this gas contains approximately 1000 B. t. u.'s to the cubic foot, and 100,000 B. t. u.'s make a therm, the cost is 20 cents a therm for the amount included in the "service charge," compared with 40 cents a therm in St. Louis.

In the 1929 rate revision, when

NEW ALLOTMENT OF $65,000,000 FOR PUBLIC WORKS

This Includes $10,000,000 for Housing Projects in Various Cities, Including New York, Boston.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—More that 20,000 new jobs are expected by the Public Works Administration to develop because of its approval of $65,000,000 more for expenditure on construction.

It figured that the spending of $44,200,000 on a tri-borough bridge project in New York—$37,000,000 a loan, the rest a direct grant — would give 18,000 men jobs for a full year.

As the administration approved the allocation of funds to this project, which is the erection of a bridge connecting the boroughs of Manhattan, Queens and Bronx, it also set aside $11,527,499 for 29 public buildings in 22 states and nearly $10,000,000 for housing projects.

It picked just three of the latter for job estimates. The Queens borough (New York) project, it said, should provide jobs for 800 men for 18 months; that in Neptune Gardens, Boston, 1000 jobs for a year; that in Hutchinson, Kan., 35 six-month jobs.

29 Public Buildings.

For the other housing projects, it made no specified estimate of employment. For the 29 public buildings, it said:

"Construction will begin as soon as contracts can be awarded. Large numbers of men now unemployed will be given work."

As it approved these, the administration also set minimum wages for the things to be built under its jurisdiction. These would guarantee:

Southern zone—Skilled labor, $1 an hour, unskilled, 40 cents.

Central zone—Skilled, $1.10; unskilled, 45 cents.

Northern zone—Skilled, $1.20; unskilled 50 cents.

These schedules, said Secretary Ickes, were drawn to "carry out the mandate of Congress that wage rates shall be sufficient to provide a standard of living in decency and comfort."

The Southern zone includes New Mexico, Texas, Oklahoma, Arizona, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, South Carolina.

The Central zone includes Nevada, Kansas, Missouri, Kentucky, West Virginia, North Carolina, California, Utah, Colorado, Tennessee, Virginia, Maryland and Delaware.

The Northern zone includes Washington, Montana, North Dakota, Iowa, Illinois, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Idaho, South Dakota, Oregon, Wyoming, Nebraska, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Indiana, New Jersey, New York, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine.

Housing Allotments.

The housing allotments are subject to satisfactory contracts being made for the projects and final approval by President Roosevelt.

Thirty-five housing projects are now being considered by the public work administration.

Those approved today, as outright loans to be repaid in full, included:

$3,500,000 to Neptune Gardens, Inc., Boston, for construction of more than 3000 rooms to rent at $8.50 per month.

$2,025,000 to the Spence Estate Housing Corporation for a housing project in Brooklyn, totaling 2150 rooms to rent for less than $11 a month.

$849,000 for a housing project totaling 1074 rooms in the Kensington district of Philadelphia to be built by a corporation formed by officers and members of the American Federation of Full-Fashioned Hosiery Workers.

$3,210,000 for a project in Queens Borough, N. Y., for 1632 residential units totaling 5644 rooms to be built by the Dick-Meyer Corporation under the New York housing law.

$40,000 to the Hutchinson (Kan.) Suburban Housing Association to provide 20 individual four-room and five-room houses, each on two acres of land, renting at $30 a month.

The latter, the first to a small city, will have some of the characteristics of the subsistence homesteads to be set up later from public works funds.

The postoffice allotments include: Decatur, Ill., $360,000; Des Moines, Ia., $255,350; Owensboro, Ky., $49,500; Hannibal, Mo., $103,500.

BIRD RESCUED BY LIGHTSHIP

Picked Up from Sea After Falling in Flight.

BOSTON, Aug. 18.—Rescue from the sea of a feathered wayfarer was reported today by Theodor Anderson, master of the Brenton reef light ship, which guards the entrance to the harbor at Newport, R. I.

In a communication to Capt. George E. Eaton, superintendent of the second light house district, Anderson said the bird, obviously weary, fell into the sea near the light vessel. A boat was put overside and the bird taken aboard. After taking food and fresh water the bird rapidly recovered its strength and soon resumed its ocean passage. On one of the bird's legs was an aluminum band of the U. S. Biological Survey bearing the letter "C" and the numerals "184" above the numerals "375."

BRITAIN AIDS INQUIRY IN 600 IRAQ KILLINGS

Offers Asylum to Assyrian Leader—English Envoy Goes Back to Post.

By the Associated Press.

BAGDAD, Iraq, Aug. 18. — The killing of more than 600 Assyrian Christians in conflicts with the Kurds and the Iraq forces in Northern Iraq has climaxed an international situation in which Great Britain, as the former mandatory Power over Iraq, has been moved to take a hand.

A total of 315 bodies has been found at the village of Simel and 300 more were discovered in various places in the vicinity of Doguk, following Kurdish raids on Assyrian communities.

The British Government offered an asylum in Cyprus to the Assyrian leader, Mar Shimun, who, with his father and brother, was deported by airplane today by the Iraq Government. It was charged that he was responsible for a recent Assyrian outbreak which led to the deadly conflicts.

Sir Francis Humphrys, the British Envoy, is hurrying back to his post from a holiday in Europe and diplomatic quarters are energetically seeking to straighten out the situation as speedily as possible.

King Feisal had planned to return to Europe today to resume the cure in Switzerland, but on urgent British representations he decided to remain in Bagdad to await the arrival of Sir Francis and, presumably, to learn the outcome of an investigation into charges of massacre against Iraq troops and Kurdish irregulars. The British are strongly asking that such an investigation be held.

Until this year Iraq was under British mandate, but the country now is a member of the League of Nations. Now that Iraq is an independent Power, the problem of dealing with the Assyrians in Iraq territory is left in the hands of the Iraq authorities.

NEW MOVE TO END TWO-WEEK STRIKE IN HAVANA HARBOR

Some of Workers Decide to Go Back But Others Hold Out for Recognition of Their Union.

By the Associated Press.

HAVANA, Aug. 18.—Settlement of a paralyzing harbor strike which would solve a major labor problem confronting the new Cuban Government was sought today by Joaquin Martinez Saenz, Secretary of the Treasury.

Shippers and strikers announced dock laborers and launch operators would end their strike this morning, but longshoremen and stevedores decided to hold out for recognition of their union.

Shipping interests maintain the union is directed by Communists, but the treasury head thought the need for patriotic support for the new Government and the influence of his A B C opposition organization would bring the strikers around.

For more than two weeks the strike, a continuation of the general trade paralysis that preceded the overthrow of President Machado, has played havoc with shipping. Several large liners have been forced to cancel scheduled stops, with hundreds of tourists, at the Havana docks.

Major Demands Met.

Most of the workers seem anxious to return to their duties but they say their leaders prevented. Their major demands have been met—that the weight of sugar bags they carry be reduced, that ferries be abolished and that all ships anchor in midstream instead of docking. The daily wage will be $4, with double pay for overtime.

Three questions remain: A 44-

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Asks Government Loans for Retailers.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

RELAXATION of credit through advances of Government loans to such of the nation's 1,750,000 retailers as may need help offers an immediate and positive way out of the depression.

If the Government were to advance to those retail dealers of the nation who require it a fraction of the money advanced by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to large industries, railroads, banks, etc., in the last two years, the benefits to business would be felt at once. Unless the retailer makes a profit, business cannot improve.

The large percentage of retailers who have been forced to do their buying on a cash basis is almost unbelievable, and business conducted on a cash basis is business reduced to a minimum. Comparatively small sums advanced to a large number of retailers would enable them to wipe out their debts and re-establish their line of credit with their wholesalers and manufacturers. Once again the retailer would be able to stock the merchandise his customers want; he could rehire or put his clerks back on full time. Wholesalers and manufacturers, in turn, would employ more people in their plants, in their offices and on the road, and more promptly meet their obligations to their raw materials processors, so that the effect of the movement would be quickly felt by the entire business cycle. I firmly believe that this plan, put into force immediately, would restore millions to employment this fall.

Many merchants of excellent character now find themselves in a financial state bordering on insolvency, and it is the duty of the Government, as well as manufacturers and wholesalers, to co-operate with a view of maintaining them in business and not adding to the large number of unemployed. The Government is in a tactical position to set the wheels of prosperity moving again by giving consideration to the needs of the retailer, who, after all is said, is the keystone of our entire business structure.

S. L. ANTONOW,
President, American Druggists' Syndicate.
New York City.

Would Ban Partisanship in NRA.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

APROPOS the speech of Gen. Johnson at the Municipal Theater:

In view of the seriousness of the effort being put forth for the success of NRA, and the absolute necessity for co-operation on the part of all of the people, it would seem not only in good taste, but a matter of good tactics as well, for those in charge to forget for a while that they are Democrats and to remember that they are agents of all of the people.

Every decent man knows that this effort must be made to succeed and only wants to know how best he may help. The acts and purposes of the President of the United States are entitled to be accepted in good faith by all of the people. It is not necessary that he be set up as a god or the reincarnation of "Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln, Theodore Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson." The political campaign should have closed long ago. It seems high time for the representatives elected by the people to remember that they are the chosen leaders of all of the people and not members of a party to glory in its success.

L. R. BOWEN.

An Orchid for Mr. Brisbane.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

RECENTLY there have appeared several criticisms of America's greatest journalist, Arthur Brisbane.

Anyone who really understands Mr. Brisbane's column surely can offer nothing but praise for this "genius of wisdom."

The trouble with America today is that there is only one Brisbane. More men of his caliber would be a godsend to our country.

BEN BLANKE.

Would Tutor the Suckers.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

THE spirit of speculation is instinctive in all Americans. Gambling is intriguing and, next to the lyric voices that sing like a Lorelei in mellowed whisky, is life's sweetest anodyne. Every year the board rooms of the stock brokers are filled with flaming youths, who, fresh from colleges, begin their contributions to Wall Street. They know no more about the technique of the market than a lot of Igorrotes. They are as ignorant of the meaning of market letters, their deceptions and misinformation, as a band of Hottentots. They can no more interpret the news on the broad tape than a jaybird, and yet they are permitted to lose on barbers' tips every dime they can make, beg, borrow or steal. Our indifference is shocking.

It is time that the philanthropists of this country establish in all high schools and colleges chairs of speculative philosophy and every boy and girl be compelled to major in tape reading. Gov. Park and Mayor Dickmann should give such a movement immediate attention. I feel sure that the Sons of the Revolution, or at least its secret committee of six, will lend sympathetic support. Perhaps, also, the Colonial Dames and the Chamber of Commerce. In fact, the leading citizens of our country, when called upon by the press, will form committees to do anything, yea, even to hanging themselves.

OLD HUTCH.

A NOTABLE OPINION.

From the moment the Recovery Act was passed, those dour individuals who would rather wreck the country according to the old rules than save it by the application of new findings said the the new program would never be upheld by the courts. Fortunately, one phase of it has had a prompt judicial testing. The result is a significant victory in the Roosevelt administration's war on the depression.

Acting under the recovery law, Secretary of the Interior Ickes issued orders prohibiting shipment from one state to another of oil produced under circumstances which violate state regulations. These orders were challenged by F. W. Fischer of Tyler, Tex., for a number of oil refiners who took the view that the NIRA was in violation of the Federal Constitution, in that it delegated to the President and his aids powers exercisable only by Congress.

The suit of the oil men for an injunction to cancel Secretary Ickes' orders went to the District of Columbia Supreme Court, whose Justice Joseph Cox was called on to make a ruling. Justice Cox is a man who sees the function of the courts, not as some isolated procedure, but as part and parcel of the whole of his time. Upholding the Government, he refused the injunction in what we believe will become a memorable opinion. It is worth quoting, both for its interpretation of the place of the law in an emergency and for its clarity of expression.

> In the law (said Justice Cox), it is recognized that necessity confers many rights and privileges that without the necessity might not be conferred. It is said that self-preservation is the first law, and this principle, in some degree at least, seems to extend to governments.
> There is another maxim, that "the safety of the people is the supreme law," and all these must be considered in dealing with emergencies. All laws, including the Constitution, should be read in emergencies in the light of the law of necessity. Congress has declared that a great national emergency exists, and has invested the President with extraordinary power to meet that emergency.

This is an accurate statement of the situation, and we may be thankful that a jurist with Justice Cox's vision had the opportunity to make it. As he went on to say, in an emergency, the judicial branch of the Government should hesitate to exercise any powers which might serve to make more difficult the tasks of the legislative and executive branches.

Writing in the Bulletin of the Harvard Business School Alumni Association, Prof. Thomas Reed Powell, the distinguished authority on constitutional law in the Law School of Harvard University, reminds us that as facts change, so may constitutionality rise or fall. "Things may be done in emergencies," he points out, "which may not be done when life runs on in what we like to think are normal ways. When facts . . . are toppling the structures that have seemed secure for years, a tolerant attitude must be taken toward legislation that seeks ways of recovery along lines other than those of unfettered individual initiative."

There is nothing more evident to those who have studied the history of the Constitution than that the Constitution is what the Supreme Court declares it to be. The test of constitutionality is not to be found in the language of the Constitution, but in the interpretations of the nine Justices. Search will reveal that no section of the Constitution indorses "unfettered economic initiative." Yet this has been a guiding principle in the United States for generations chiefly because the Supreme Court has been led to accept it.

But acceptance of an idea for a time is no guarantee of its continuance indefinitely. Circumstances may arise which will lead the most dogmatic to ask questions about their ingrained beliefs, constitutional as well as otherwise. Then "decisions based upon those assumptions must cease to have the aroma of finality that formerly they have seemed to exhale." To quote Prof. Powell again:

> It took a striking change of general attitude to permit unprecedented legislation to rush through legislative halls. The same currents must inevitably blow through the quieter chamber where Supreme Court Justices sit in conference. It will take supreme self-confidence for Judges to be sure that wisdom lies in leaving this or that alone rather than in letting government try out its various devices for amelioration. Granting that hardship will ensue upon the enforcement of some of our novel expedients, there is no guarantee that hardship will subside if five or more Supreme Court Justices decree that Congress has transgressed what seem to them the limits of legislative action.
> The issues of constitutionality soon to come before the Supreme Court are issues of statesmanship and not issues of the meaning of words. They are issues of statesmanship in a sense far broader than mere issues of the wisdom of economic policies. The court will be wise if it sustains even what it may deem to be economically unwise and thus leave the responsibility for economic policies on the only shoulders that are capable of bearing that responsibility. The court can unmake the laws of Congress, but it cannot fill the gap it can create. The mistake of a judicial veto may remain a mistake for years.

In a theoretical sense, the three departments of government are separate. In reality, they are closely interrelated. What would it profit the judiciary if its restrictions on the legislative and executive branches in an emergency would frustrate the intentions of the latter two and bring all three to ruin?

The recovery program has met its first test in the courts and the side of the people has won. May other Judges who are to pass on phases of it display the fine judicial quality of Justice Cox.

A GRAND MONTH.

There's a lot of things wrong in this whirling world, but there's one thing all right. Step forward, August, and receive the diploma. You have made ample amends for the sizzling that was June and the slush that was May. And while we're talking, we may venture that August has been badly maligned. It has been the practice of many so placed as to be able to arrange their affairs to grab August as their vacation period, on the theory that this is the time of all sultry times to be away somewhere on the comforting trail—by bounding brook, or sounding sea or snowy mountain. Now and then August has vindicated that action, but mostly it is a well-behaved month. "A night of clear, cold stars," as Stevenson saw in San Francisco, is no exception in St. Louis in August. There may be guffaws of incredulity at the statement that a grate fire has been found to be delectable in August, but that fact is in the record. The thermometer itself is misleading. It reports the truth, of course, as it sees it, but its flights omit the vital verity that it is a friendly sun that shines in the heavens, not the demon that pours down burning wrath from the vindictive arch of June or self-centered July. There is something honestly gallant, too, about August. It knows there's a wild, mad flair around the calendar's corner; that September will do a good deal of primping and October will light the tall, imperial pyres to earth's dear beauty, but August is frankly happy in its own estate. The grass is still green, and the flowers are joyous. There is a red flower one sees in homey gardens and occasionally in the untended spaces that waves a gay, cheery greeting to the wayfarer; a flower that is glad to be alive and glad to be seen. A red flower any time, anywhere, has something other flowers just don't have, a bit of ego, a measure of self-assurance that sets it apart. And this red flower of August is, we should say, the blue eagle of the floral kingdom. A grand month, August.

TWO HIGHWAY IRREGULARITIES.

For the first time in the history of the Missouri State Highway Commission, public confidence in that board has been jarred.

The facts, charged and admitted, in the letting of two pieces of work—one in McDonald County, the other in Barry—certainly show a departure from custom. The irregularity may not in itself be momentous, but as an omen it is menacing.

The jobs were given to a Kansas City firm. They had not been advertised. There were no competitive bids. No contract was executed and signed by the vice-chairman of the commission, as is the usual procedure. When the Kansas City firm had finished the work and wanted its money, the Highway Commission's engineer of construction, D. B. Levi, declined to issue a pay order to the auditor, for the excellent reason that since no signed contract had been drawn up by that department there were no official data by which it could tell whether the work had been satisfactorily done. Further, there was the opinion of the commission's legal department that the whole proceeding was illegal. At this juncture, Chief Engineer Cutler stepped into the breach and authorized the auditor to pay 75 per cent of the Kansas City firm's bill.

The bill, according to a consulting engineer who was employed to examine the work, was excessive, yielding the contracting firm a profit of some 20 per cent, which is twice as much as the contractor usually nets.

An explanation is offered, by Chief Engineer Cutler, concurred in by Chairman Wilson, to the effect that it was a rush job, that the roads had to be repaired in time for the tourist traffic, that there wasn't time to go through the prescribed routine. Again, it is explained that the job was, in a way, experimental, that new materials were used for the purpose of determining their serviceability.

The explanation is not convincing. The whole thing is a chain of irregularity, such a departure from the commission's practice as to cause public uneasiness. It is evident that the procedure in this instance cannot become the practice of the State Highway Commission—at least not without an explosion of public condemnation that will rock Jefferson City and the Park administration. If the Highway Commission should presume, as it did in this case, to award road construction work without publicity, without competitive bids, just hand it out to any contractor it chose to favor, we should presently have a Tammanyized Highway Department.

The Post-Dispatch anticipates no such sinister development. There is an informed and resolute public opinion in Missouri with regard to our State Highway Commission. There is a fine and justified State pride in the record of this great state enterprise. Missouri will not stand passively by and see its highway system dragged down into the muck of spoils politics. Our Highway Commission has traveled far and splendidly on "The Road Called Straight," and the people will not permit it to be detoured into the byways of scandal and venality.

Moreover, our Highway Commission has more to reckon with than the public opinion of Missouri. It has to reckon with the Federal Government in the person of Secretary of the Interior Ickes, in whose hands has been placed the disbursing of the public works funds. Does anyone imagine Missouri will receive its allotment of road money if the Highway Commission flouts law and custom and its own sound procedure? Mr. Ickes is about as forthright a citizen as we have, a two-fisted fighter, as the public enemies of Chicago, from Insull down, can testify.

Gentlemen of the Missouri State Highway Commission, get back on your stride.

VOTE FOR REPEAL TOMORROW.

Tomorrow is Missouri's day in the big repeal parade. Twenty-one other states, including Tennessee, Alabama and Arkansas in the once impregnably dry South, have already voted, and the verdict has been unanimous against the eighteenth amendment.

Missouri will be State No. 22, with only 14 more to go before repeal becomes an accomplished fact. Fifteen other states are scheduled to vote by Nov. 7, so that it is almost a certainty that prohibition will not live to see its next birthday, which would otherwise occur in January, 1934.

There is no doubt about the outcome in Missouri. Even the drys, with the occasional exception of a bitter-ender here and there, admit the cause of prohibition is lost. The only question is as to the size of the wet majority.

We hope it will be a large one, representative of Missouri's tremendous wet sentiment. In the Literary Digest poll, the State was almost 71 per cent for repeal. An overwhelming wet vote will help to speed the national avalanche toward repeal.

Therefore, we urge wet voters, whose once despaired-of objective is now in clear view, to go to the polls and roll up a big total. Let them not depend upon their neighbors to do this final task. Let them remember that Attorney-General McKittrick has ruled that all voters may go to the polls, even though they have moved since the last registration.

Vote tomorrow for the twenty-first amendment and to purify the Constitution of the most misguided experiment a great nation ever undertook.

The way to vote for repeal is to scratch proposal No. 2 on the ballot, thereby voting for No. 1.

TOMORROW'S YOUR CHANCE.

Peaceful Revolutions in History

By Roland G. Usher, Professor of History, Washington University

The Second in a Series of Articles.

How Napoleon Transformed France

THE most violent of all violent revolutions was the French Revolution, yet it started with the laudable intention of destroying feudalism and of reorganizing France. It was not so much an attack upon Kings as upon privilege and the restrictions which fettered and destroyed the liberty of the people and their ability to use land and to follow such trades as they wished.

With great unanimity, the National Assembly abolished feudalism in a single short decree which met with the complete approval of the King, the nobles, clergy and people. Its members determined to replace the old system with a new one which should be perfect in the light of reason, philosophy, political science and liberty.

Here is where the trouble began. The Assembly's members could not understand why feudalism did not at once disappear, and could not see why men should be so unreasonable about liberty. They began to clear the field for the new system by executing the opponents of true and perfect ideas: King, nobles and presently one another. The Republic was proclaimed without any very clear idea of what it was, and in the quarrels that followed, the opponents continued to be executed. They abolished the church, and even abolished God. The revolution never did establish the new system. It set up a temporary government and some parts of a socialistic state.

The result was to destroy business, to introduce the worst police system ever known, in which the Chief of Police "exhorted" his "brothers" not to rob the shops so often. The tyranny of the Government, its repression of normal business, its failure to institute the longed-for good government and peace and prosperity led France and even Paris to welcome with open arms a short, fat little man, one Napoleon Bonaparte, with his cannon.

This man understood the crisis, and saw what was wanted. He gradually instituted the quiet, detailed measures needed to transform France into a new nation and to create a new government and a new order of things to replace feudalism.

The first thing to do was to end the depression. Business must be encouraged and aided. What the country needed was peace, order and strong government. The gangs and thugs of Paris, who had thriven under the republican regime of "freedom," were rounded up and shipped to the colonies. France was tired of a "freedom" which was no better than license, and an equality which was no better than robbery and confiscation.

Next, by laws and administrative measures of great detail and complexity, Napoleon made the death of economic feudalism a reality. The use of the land became free; anyone might conduct any business he wished, and he was guaranteed effective protection in his pursuit of it by the police and the administration. The depression came to an immediate end. Prosperity as much as anything else consecrated and established the Napoleonic regime.

Another great difficulty of business had been local tariffs of towns and provinces. They had been theoretically abolished, but Napoleon now stopped their actual collection. The passage of goods throughout France became free in fact.

Next, business needed better transportation facilities. Napoleon undertook a tremendous program of public works—roads, canals, bridges, markets, all of which made the movement of goods cheaper and swifter.

But the key to the whole structure had to be the new state. The old monarchy had hampered and burdened business with heavy taxation. It had failed to produce the good and cheap government necessary to a prosperous nation. It was clumsy, horribly expensive, corrupt and had been bankrupt for a generation. Indeed, the taxes which would be due during the lives of everyone alive in 1789 had already been anticipated and spent.

When the people embraced and kissed one another in the streets during the Revolution, celebrating their freedom, they seem to have supposed that there would be no more taxes. The Republic itself had rudely awakened them. Whatever else happened, Napoleon realized, all taxes must be drastically lowered. He brought them down.

The achievement was a more tremendous task than is easily grasped. It meant an era of detailed administrative and legal arrangements which perhaps no one but he could have carried out so quickly. There seems to be no question about it—Napoleon was personally responsible for the making and execution of these measures. He seemed to be everywhere at once. He could and did work 18 hours a day. He often got his only sleep in a coach going somewhere, then bounded out refreshed, ready to put 20 town officials through a mill of bookkeeping and accounting that left them exhausted but convinced that he was right and was the greatest man in France.

Napoleon had to make the administration cheap. He must stop corruption, teach economy in buying, accuracy in accounting, honesty in supervising the accounts. He always could find time to stop for an hour somewhere and look things over. Woe betide the lazy and dishonest. Once he arrived as Emperor in Paris from Germany at 4 a. m., sent for the army financial statements, and by 6 a. m. had found a series of errors in them that kept the Minister and his clerks busy all day making corrections. Every month or so, he read the entire day's correspondence for some department, having the mail brought directly to him from the postoffice. His directions and orders had the officials gasping with admiration.

Napoleon thus reorganized France from top to bottom. He created new central departments, new local governments, new offices of all sorts. He was never too busy to teach them the new way of doing things. The training of heads of departments, of teachers for local governments, of able subordinates was, he realized, the most important thing he could do. He created a body of trained administrators in 20 years who were able to train new men and who have handed on his methods in France to the present day.

Cheap and efficient government meant low taxes. Low taxes meant high profits for business and agriculture. Under the old regime, many had paid the state and church the major part of their entire incomes. Under Napoleon, they paid the state directly as little as 5 per cent, and indirectly not more than 10 per cent more. Napoleon's popularity was not all the result of military campaigns.

One of the greatest difficulties of the old regime had been its antiquated business and civil law. This, Napoleon saw, needed complete revision. He appointed commissions of lawyers and experts to deal with it. Often he sat with them himself, hour after hour, explaining, objecting, commanding. Reluctantly, they admitted that his suggestions were among the most important and brilliant made.

The great codes, civil and criminal, made by him, as much as anything created the new France. They remained its basic law, influencing as well whole sections of Europe. Indeed, so wonderful an adaptation of Roman law to European traditions were they that in the Rhine district of Germany the Napoleonic code was in use in France until just before the World War.

It may well be asked what part the Napoleonic wars played in all this. Why did they not hinder and destroy this "peaceful revolution"? Because none of them was fought in France, and none of them was fought by France alone. Napoleon's armies were always coalition armies, made up of Germans, Swiss, Belgians, Dutch, Italians and Spanish as well as French. Another reason was that France really paid little of the expense. The country itself was not burdened, overtaxed or impoverished to prosecute the wars, and emerged in 1815 prosperous, peaceful, almost unscathed. This was, in fact, one of the causes of the downfall of the Napoleonic Empire. As Artemus Ward, the American humorist, said, the trouble with Napoleon was that he tried to do too much and did it.

The "Wet Press"

From the Baltimore Sun.

THE newspapers of America are often told that they have lost their editorial influence. There was a time not so long ago when the exponents of prohibition were more vociferous on this point than any other group. But now that the prohibition tide has receded and the drys are in need of some alibi, they have changed their tune. The "wet press," they tell us a hundred times a week, is responsible for the failure of the disastrous experiment in which the drys sought to have us persevere.

We are not particularly concerned with the question of editorial influence. The asseverations of the drys on this point are worth no more now, when they hold the "wet press" responsible for the change of sentiment, than they were 10 years ago, when they regarded the "wet press" as wholly without a following. We are interested, however, in the definition of the "wet press" to which correspondent after correspondent refers in letters appearing on this page.

The term, as we understand it, is today practically synonymous with the term press. Every daily paper in the country appears to be on the side of repeal. There may be a few exceptions to prove the rule, but they are insignificant in comparison with the huge array of newspapers supporting the reform of the ugly mess into which the country was led 13 years ago.

When the die-hard prohibitionists undertake, therefore, to indict the "wet press" they are in effect attacking the press as a whole. Ten years ago this was not the case. At that time, a respectable number of highly respectable papers still supported prohibition. It is only in the past three or four years that the press has come to speak with a unanimous voice on this subject. Perhaps the growth of this unanimity will ultimately suggest a few considerations of importance to the remaining drys.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.

PROF. MOLEY, transferred to the Justice Department, is no longer a fish out of water. It looks as if some big things would come from his stay there, one of them being the organization of an American Scotland Yard, the other being the elimination of J. Edgar Hoover, Chief of the Bureau of Investigation.

The fates have been extremely kind to Super-Dick Hoover. Years of sleuthing against so-called radicals in Congress had heaped up untold resentment against him; and when Senator Tom Walsh was appointed Attorney-General he said one of his first acts would be Hoover's demise.

Walsh died just before he was to take office.

His successor, Homer S. Cummings, also selected a man to replace Hoover. He was Walter Foster, agent of the Bureau of Investigation in Pittsburgh. Foster died 48 hours after he was selected.

Now Moley is talking of a complete reorganization of all Government espionage work—in which Hoover probably will be squeezed out of the picture.

It is not certain yet whether Moley wants less espionage. But he has noted the obvious fact that the Government has several thousand dicks lurking around corners all over the country, all working for different bureaus. And he wants to amalgamate them.

For instance, the Bureau of Investigation has 710 dicks; Postoffice Inspection about 1000; Internal Revenue 355; the Interior Department 80; the Prohibition Bureau more than 800; the Treasury 145.

Moley would put these all under one direction—a super Scotland Yard—probably for bigger and better Government espionage. Perhaps this is the real reason Moley's telephone is being tapped.

Strange Bird.

GEN. HUGH JOHNSON has a keen sense of humor, but this is one story his aides are keeping from him. They are just a little doubtful as to how he might take it.

The other day a woman marched briskly into the NRA offices and asked to see the Recovery Administrator. Asked the purpose of her call, she replied as follows:

"I just wanted to reassure him that although he bore a resemblance to Hoover, he acted like our great President Roosevelt."

Anarchist to Ambassador.

WHEN Orestes Ferrara, Machado's Secretary of State, jumped into a bullet-pierced airplane and escaped from a mob which tore his baggage to shreds, Cuba sent into exile one of the grandest adventurers in modern history.

Three decades before, the same Ferrara had landed in Cuba under equally exciting circumstances. Expelled from the University of Naples as an anarchist, he had fought to free Crete from the Turks, then had come to New York to teach bomb-throwing to Cuban revolutionaries.

He joined a filibustering expedition to Cuba, twice failed to land arms, finally succeeded, fought through the Spanish-American War as a Colonel, and emerged at the age of 22 a full-fledged Governor of a province.

From that date until he escaped last week, Ferrara was one of the powers of Cuba. The one-time Italian anarchist became fat, wealthy and conservative. He made millions on sugar, bought a newspaper, fought 14 duels, became Ambassador to the United States. As such he was one of the most popular diplomats in Washington. He was the only man in the diplomatic corps who could consume his own Bacardi cocktails, vodka and hors d'oeuvres, two platters of spaghetti with a bottle of burgundy and then be equal to a day's work.

The tragedy of Ferrara's life was that he never really agreed with Machado. He supported him because he had to. Toward the end Ferrara lost his money, went back to Havana as Secretary of State because he had no alternative. Now an exile, he may have to live in relative poverty—the Bacardi, the Burgundy, the hors d'oeuvres may be no more.

Grain Explosion.

Members of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration whisper that the hearing on a code for the grain exchanges is going to be a redhot affair.

The chief sensation is going to be the behind-the-scenes story of the recent disastrous grain market crash. One report reaching Washington is that two members of the Business Conduct Committee of the Chicago Board of Trade were secret partners of Dr. E. A. Crawford, one-time Louisiana dentist, whose spectacular "long" holdings in grain deflated the market.

It was the Business Conduct Committee which ordered the pegging of grain prices following the slump. At the time the Agricultural Adjustment Administration had no objection to such a curb, in fact, favored it to prevent a panic. But now they have word that the real reason for pegging prices was to save Crawford's secret partners, who are members of the committee.

Had the market been allowed to run its course they might have been wiped out. Pegging permitted them to liquidate their holdings.

Merry-Go-Round.

The U. S. Trade Commissioner in Berlin reports that the Nazi Government has instituted severe slashes in pay of German movie stars. . . . The return of legal beer in this country has proven a great boon to Bavarian beer barrel factories. . . . Using Polish and Russian oak, which they import, they are working day and night to meet American demands for containers.

To date only three cotton growers, one Texan and two Georgians, have actually received checks from the Government for signing acreage-reduction contracts. . . . It is estimated that it will be October before all the other 1,027,000 farmers will receive their compensation.

four week, rotation of labor and recognition of unions.

A Government "blockade" on former members of the Machado administration suspected of official misconduct prevented the sailing into exile of several important leaders of the former Government.

The drive against the Machado men continued with the killing of two men near the capital, and one at Camaguey.

Ricardo Herrera, chauffeur for former Secretary of War Alberta Herrera, was shot down by soldiers and police in a barber shop. Amparo Gonzalez was shot by soldiers when he tried to escape. Policeman Marcial Herrero was killed by a mob after he fired a pistol in the crowd at Camaguey.

President Outlines Policy.

Expressing gratitude to the United States for "the way the sovereignty of Cuba has been respected," provisional President de Cespedes promised today that his administration would "rule Cuba by justice, law and order."

The new head of the State made these assertions in an interview with the foreign press.

"The destines of Cuba are in the balance," the President said.

"The price of sugar is the barometer of Cuban progress," he declared. "Without a fair profit Cuba cannot produce sugar, and the resources of the Government will diminish.

"The people depend on this industry. The crops are there. We need only reasonable treatment for our sugar, and we desire to arrive at a modification of the reciprocity treaty.

"Although I should not use the word, we have the right to be rich because of the fertility of our soil and our proximity to the United States. Our relationship should be one of mutual profit. We desire you to buy our sugar and we want you to be our best source of supply for many things. We want to be your largest customer if possible."

"I am working with these wonderful young men in the cabinet who are in complete sympathy with the Government," he said. "The whole administration is vibrating with new life, new blood and new ideals."

The President said he expected there would be no general election before 1934. Congress, he explained, remains "in existence although of course it will be reformed when elections for the constituent assembly are held."

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Plans for sending United States economic and financial experts to Cuba to aid in that country's restoration were formed today in a long distance telephone conversation between Ambassador Sumner Welles at Havana and State Department officials.

The delegation to be dispatched shortly, at the invitation of the new Cuban Government, would study conditions and recommend ways of reorganizing Cuba's finances and industries, suffering from the effects of depression, revolution and strikes.

United States investors have more than a billion and a half dollars in Cuban industries, chiefly in the sugar industry, and Cuban bonds are extensively held in the United States.

The United States destroyer Taylor today was ordered to leave Havana harbor. Acting Secretary of State Phillips said messages from Ambassador Welles indicated that conditions throughout Cuba were quieting and that the presence of warships in Havana harbor was no longer necessary.

the service charge first came in, a slight reduction was made in the other scheduled rates. This was about 5 cents a thousand cubic feet, so that the consumer would have to use 10,000 cubic feet, as few domestic users do, to offset the increase carried by the service charge. Thus the net result of the rate revision was an increase of $700,000 a year in revenue for the company.

Since then, in connection with introduction of mixed gas of 800 B. t. u. heat value, a readjustment of rates gave consumers a reduction of approximately 7 per cent, but the relative weight of the service charge was not changed. In the present case the city is not asking for elimination of the service charge but for a 20 per cent reduction in all steps of the schedule.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth A. McDougal Smith of Ferguson are expected home early next week from Harbor Point, Mich., where they are guests at the clubhouse while visiting his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Elsworth S. Smith, 4502 Maryland avenue, at their cottage. Dr. and Mrs. Smith's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William King Gardner of Ladue road, are sharing their cottage.

Miss Josephine Powe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Powe, 4385 McPherson avenue, will attend the Sorbonne in Paris next winter with a group of students from the University of Delaware. She will sail the middle of September on the Scythia. Miss Powe will return in the spring and next year will return to Wells College at Aurora, N. Y., where she will be graduated the following June. Miss Powe is now visiting Miss Sue Turner at Hollins College in Virginia and later will visit former classmates in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Powe's second daughter, Miss Grace, was graduated in June from Stuart Hall, Staunton, Va., and will enter Washington University in the fall. Their youngest daughter, Miss Peggy, is in Louisville, Ky., with friends. She will return home Monday with her father, who is now in the East.

Mr. and Mrs. Parker H. Woods of Bellerive Acres, Normandy, and Mrs. Woods' daughter, Miss Jeanne Louise Herring, have returned from a several weeks' trip through Colorado. They made their headquarters in Georgetown, Colo., where they had a cottage, and from there took short motor trips, including one to Rocky Mountain National Park. Miss Katherine Siegmund of Webster Groves, who was at Troutdale-in-the-Pines, returned with them.

Mr. Woods' daughter, Mrs. Jerome Fritschle, is visiting her sister, Mrs. George W. Jacoby of Philadelphia, at Ocean City, Md., where she and Mr. Jacoby and her children are spending the summer. Mr. and Mrs. Jacoby will take a house in Philadelphia in the fall. Before her recent marriage Mrs. Jacoby was Mrs. Susie May Lyon.

Mrs. William C. Bitting, 5240 Westminster place, and her young daughter, Suzanne, will return early next month from their summer visit at Pike, N. H. They are guests at the Tarleton Club.

Biebinger, 5251 Westminster place, in Ludington, Mich. From there Miss Stewart went to Douglas, Mich., to visit Miss Eleanor Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Hall, 5705 Cates avenue. Miss Hall and Miss Stewart were debutantes of last season.

Mrs. Hall and her family will return the latter part of next month.

Mrs. M. L. Klinefelter, 6 Ridgemoor, and her daughter, Miss Cornelia Klinefelter, will leave next week to visit the Chicago fair. Miss Klinefelter will go from there to Grand Haven, Mich., to be the guest of Miss Mary Louise Tobin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Tobin, 4417 Westminster place.

Miss Eva Powers Ryall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Ryall, 7311 Vine avenue, whose engagement to Paul Sheehan Boyd of Buhl, Idaho, was recently announced, will leave tomorrow for Denver, Colo., where she has been teaching school for the last two years.

Mrs. Walter D. Walsh of Los Angeles, Cal., who is visiting Mrs. J. H. Maguire, 5256 Westminster place, will leave Monday for Chicago to attend the fair. Mrs. Walsh, who was formerly Miss Marie Christy of St. Louis, is being entertained by relatives and friends during her visit here.

Cards have been received from Mr. and Mrs. Elmer R. Stoll, 406 Polo drive, announcing the marriage of their daughter, Miss Josephine, and Jackson Davis Allen Jr. of Pittsburgh, Pa. The wedding took place Saturday noon at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Stoll, Shore Drive, Madison Golf Club, Lakeland, O. After Oct. 1, Mr. Allen and his bride will live at Tudor Hall, 4825 Center avenue, Pittsburgh.

COUZENS BLAMES U. S. OFFICIALS IN BANKING CRISIS

Comptroller's office has not done its duty, and had allowed banks to engage in irregular and illicit practices. It has endangered the whole banking community and paralyzed the whole business community."

"If the Federal Government was derelict in its duty, don't you think it should come to the aid of Detroit depositors now?" asked Toy.

"You must remember the Federal Government has no money except the taxpayers' money," said Couzens.

Couzens attributed the collapse of the plan of Henry Ford to open two new banks here to Wilson W. Mills, former chairman of the board of the First National Bank-Detroit. Mills, he asserted, informed the Reconstruction Finance Corporation that he hoped a $20,000,000 loan needed to perfect the Ford plan would not be granted. Couzens said he was informed of the situation late in February by Charles A. Miller, then president of the R. F. C., who, he said, told him New York bankers had refused to lend the $20,000,000. Mills, he said, later called Miller, and informed him that, although his bank had instructed him to apply for the $20,000,000 from the R. F. C., he hoped the loan would not be granted.

OPERA DELAYED BY RAIN

Start of Performance Held Up 45 Minutes.

Rain delayed the beginning of last night's performance of "The Cat and the Fiddle" at the Municipal Opera for about 45 minutes.

A crowd of 9700 sought shelter under umbrellas and in the covered runways until about 9 o'clock when the rain let up and the performance went on.

STATE LACKS 75 PCT. OF SCHOOL FUNDS

State Superintendent Lee, in Statement, Cites Serious Condition of Finances.

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 18.—The State can pay only 25 per cent of its "just and legal share" in support of the public schools for the 1932-33 school year, Charles A. Lee, State Superintendent of Schools, said in a statement last night.

Lee announced that the second annual apportionment of State funds under the new school law had just been completed and that the first payment, amounting to $1,772,187.03, would be made within the next two weeks. A second payment will be made March 15, next.

"The amount of the first payment," Lee said, "is 15.19 per cent of the apportionment of $11,661,879. The March payment probably will not exceed 10 per cent of the total amount of the State's obligation, making in all a 25 per cent payment. While the State's just and legal share in the support of the public schools is $11,661,879, only about $3,000,000 of that amount can be paid out of the anticipated revenue.

"Missouri's share in the support of the public schools has fallen off appreciably in the last several years. In 1920, the State paid 16 per cent of the total cost for teachers' salaries and incidental expenses. In 1931 the percentage was 11. The amount of the State's contribution in 1932, based upon the receipts for the fiscal year, however, was 8.8 per cent of the total running expenses of the schools. The State is contributing a smaller part of the total cost, thereby shifting a larger part to the local school districts."

REAR ADMIRAL MORGAN DIES

He Served on Admiral Dewey's Flagship at Manila.

By the Associated Press.

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., Aug. 18.—Rear Admiral Casey Bruce Morgan, 65 years old, a veteran of the Spanish-American War and the World War, died yesterday at his summer home at Lake Clear, near here, of heart disease.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Morgan, Rear Admiral Morgan was born in Augusta, Ga. As senior Lieutenant he served on Admiral Dewey's flagship, Raleigh, at the battle of Manila. During the World War he was stationed at Hoboken in charge of transport ships. After the war he was on duty in Honolulu. He retired four years ago.

TO DIRECT HUMANE SOCIETY

E. H. Hansen Is Reappointed for Another Year.

Eric H. Hansen was reappointed yesterday as managing director of the Humane Society of Missouri for another year at a meeting of its directors at Hotel Statler.

The directors decided also to continue the society's campaign for funds until Sept. 1. Every owner of a pet has been urged to give one dollar.

TUNA FISH ADAPTABLE FOR BUFFET SUPPERS

Salads, Sandwiches, Cocktails and Other Suggestions Given.

After the opera or other summer amusements, a little buffet supper is always pleasant. It may be as simple as possible, entailing little effort on the part of the hostess, and a few cans of tuna fish always on hand will provide the main dish.

There are many variations possible, and here are some sugestions:

Tuna in Tomatoes.

Select tomatoes of even size and scoop out centers. (Save this part to serve in salad, or mix with mashed tuna in sandwiches.) Mix the contents of one can of tuna, flaked, with half as much bread crumbs, the same amount of chopped celery, a tablespoon of onion juice and season with salt and pepper. Stuff tomatoes with this mixture and top with grated cheese. Bake in a moderate oven for 25 minutes.

Tuna Salad.

Chill a can of tuna, and empty contents of can on a glass salad dish, keeping it molded on the platter. Cover with the following dressing:

One cold potato.
One teaspoon mustard.
One pimento.
Two tablespoons oil.
One hard cooked egg.
One-half teaspoon salt.
Three tablespoons vinegar.
One teaspoon minced parsley.

Mash potato fine together with egg yolk. Add dry ingredients, then stir in oil and vinegar, gradually. Beat well, until creamy, adding more vinegar if necessary. Chop egg white and add. Cover tuna with this dressing and decorate with chopped parsley and strips of the red pimento.

Toasted Tuna Sandwiches.

One can tuna.
One-fourth teaspoon salt.
Two tablespoons butter.
Eight ripe olives.
Two dill pickles.
One large tomato.
One-half cup mayonnaise.
One tablespoon lemon juice.
Eight slices toasted bread.
Two tablespoons anchovy paste.
One-half head lettuce.
Dash of cayenne pepper.

Mix tuna, mayonnaise, salt, cayenne pepper and lemon juice. Cream the butter with the anchovy paste and spread this on the slices of toast. Add tuna mixture to half of the toast slices, cover with remaining slices and garnish with lettuce leaves, freshly cut slices of tomato, thin slivers of the pickle and olive.

Tuna in Eggs.

Eight hard-cooked eggs.
One tablespoon lemon juice.
Few drops onion juice.
One small can tuna.
One tablespoon prepared mustard.
Two tablespoons mayonnaise.

Cut hard-cooked eggs in half, lengthwise and take out the yolks, keeping the whites carefully in shape. Mash yolks, add tuna, onion juice, lemon juice, mayonnaise. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Put mixture back in egg whites, set in a buttered pan and bake for 15 minutes in a slow oven. When the points of the stuffed centers are brown, remove from the oven. Serve with tomato sauce made by heating the contents of one can (undiluted) of tomato soup. These eggs are also good served cold.

Coarse Cake.

Insufficient creaming of sugar and shortening is the cause of the coarse texture of some cakes.

DON'T TRIFLE WITH COMMON CONSTIPATION

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brings Relief

Constipation gets its grip on a person almost unawares. It often starts with such little things. Headaches. Listlessness. Bad complexion. Unpleasant breath. If unchecked, it may seriously impair your health.

Fortunately, you can avoid this danger by eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides two things needed to overcome common constipation: "bulk" and vitamin B. ALL-BRAN is also a rich source of iron for the blood.

Biological tests demonstrate that the "bulk" in bran is similar to that in leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears out the intestinal wastes.

How much better than taking unpleasant patent medicines. Two tablespoonfuls of ALL-BRAN daily are usually sufficient. Serious cases, with every meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Melt two tablespoons butter in a heavy frying pan, add a large onion cut in very thin slices. Fry slowly to a golden brown, then stir in two tablespoons of the curry powder and two tablespoons flour. Mix, add two cups canned or stewed tomatoes, three teaspoons sugar and a little pepper—very little, as the curry powder is highly spiced.

Let simmer for 10 minutes, add two cups diced cooked veal and cook slowly for 20 minutes longer. Serve around mounds of boiled rice or mixed with two cups cooked rice. Chutney is an India pickle that is usually served with curry. It may be bought in bottles, and there are also a number of recipes for homemade chutney.

RECIPES FOR NEXT WEEK

Ham and Pineapple.

Trim a thick slice of ham, removing surplus fat. Soak it in cold water for one-half hour, drain and simmer for five minutes in fresh water. Now place in baking pan in hot oven to brown. After it has cooked about 10 minutes, arrange large slices of canned pineapple, which have been quartered and browned in fat in frying pan, and cook until ham is tender. When ham is thoroughly cooked pour over it a half-cup of pineapple syrup. Cook slowly for 10 minutes.

Orange Icebox Cake.

Stir one-half pound of marshmallows cut in fourths with one-third cup of orange juice over hot water until marshmallows are melted. Remove from fire, cool slightly and add one-third cup of ginger ale. Whip one cup of heavy cream and fold into first mixture. Line an oblong pan with wax paper. Put in layer of sponge cake slices or lady fingers, then pour in marshmallow and whipped cream mixture. Alternate, having three layers of cake and two of filling. Cover and put in refrigerator until it is firm, preferably overnight.

To serve, cut in slices, garnish with chopped crystalized ginger or candied orange peel and whipped cream.

Veal Patties.

One pound chopped veal.
One-half pound chopped pork.
One onion, minced.
Pepper, salt.
Celery salt, paprika.
Two tablespoons butter.
One-half cup tomato juice.

Mix the veal and pork with the seasonings. Form into round cakes and brown on all sides in the butter. Add tomato juice, cover and cook until tender, about 15 minutes. Add more juice, if necessary.

Beans With Cheese.

One and one-half quarts green beans.
One tablespoon butter.
One-half pound American cheese.
One cup evaporated milk.
Two tablespoons flour.
Paprika.

String and wash beans and cook in boiling salted water until tender. Drain. Melt butter in saucepan. Add cheese, grated, and flour; heat slowly until blended, then add evaporated milk and continue cooking until creamy. Pour over beans in casserole, sprinkle with paprika, and put in oven for three minutes.

Cheese Fruit Dressing.

Three tablespoons currant jelly.
Seven tablespoons orange juice.
Three tablespoons lemon juice.
One tablespoon honey.
One tablespoon maraschino juice.
Three ounces cream cheese.

Whip up the currant jelly with the orange juice, lemon juice, honey and maraschino juice. Then whip into cheese that has been stirred until soft.

Potato Croquettes.

The potato croquettes are made by mixing two cups of hot, riced potatoes, two tablespoons of butter, one-half teaspoon of salt, one-eighth teaspoon of pepper, one-fourth teaspoon of celery salt, a few grains of cayenne, a few drops of onion juice, one egg yolk and one teaspoon of chopped parsley. Beat thoroughly. Shape and fry one minute in deep, hot fat. Drain and serve.

Celery on Toast.

Two bunches celery.
One and one-quarter cups water.
Four tablespoons butter.
Two tablespoons flour.
One tablespoon lemon juice.

Clean and cook the celery stalks in the water until tender. Drain and reserve celery stock. Melt butter, add flour and blend well; add celery stock and stir until thick and smooth. Add lemon juice. Arrange stalks of celery on toast and pour over the sauce.

Ragout of Beef.

Two cups diced leftover roast beef.
Two cups leftover gravy, or two bouillon cubes and two cups water.
Three tablespoons flour.
Three onions.
One-half cup mashed tomatoes.
One-half cup chopped mushrooms.
One-quarter teaspoon curry powder.

Put diced meat into saucepan, season with salt, pepper and curry powder, and add sliced onions, gravy and mushrooms. Heat over a low fire. If there should not be any leftover gravy, dissolve two bouillon cubes in two cups of water and thicken with three tablespoons flour. Simmer 10 minutes and add to the meat mixture. Serve on toast.

JELLIED ORANGES

Four oranges, sections free from membrane and diced.
One cup sugar.
One package orange flavored gelatin.
One and one-half cups warm water.

Combine oranges and sugar and let stand 10 minutes. Dissolve flavored gelatin in warm water. Pour over oranges. Chill, stirring occasionally. Serve in sherbet glasses.

FOOD MANUFACTURERS AND PACKERS CO-OPERATE WITH NRA

A new association was organized Thursday evening by the food manufacturers and packers located in St. Louis and immediate suburbs. The new association is to be known as the St. Louis Grocery Manufacturers' Association. The express purpose of the association is to co-operate with the principles of the NRA and to work out a code of fair practice to govern relations of packers with each other and with their customers. Al Siepman of the Southern Manufacturing Co. was elected president and William Hartmann of the Salomo Food Prods. Co., vice-president and secretary.

The following companies signed up for membership and adopted the articles and by-laws of the association as submitted by a committee. American Grocers' Sundries Co., Berger Pickle Co., F. B. Chamberlain Co., David G. Evans Coffee Co., Doak Mfg. Co., Evans-Rich Mfg. Co., Fleishman's Pickles, Inc., A. C. L. Haase Fish Co., Heifetz Pickling Co., Hico Prods. Co., The Hipolite Co., Hy Grade Foods Prods. Co., Leston Co., McNulty Notion Co., L. Maull Co., Mississippi Valley Prods. Co., Mid-West Mfg. Co., National Grocers' Sundries, Salomo Food Prods. Co., St. Louis Vinegar & Cider Co., Southern Mfg. Co., Stauffer Manufacturing Co., Weber Kraut & Canning Co.

SOME DESSERTS PLEASE BOTH DAD AND SON

Custards Safe to Serve Younger Members of Family.

Often there's grief when desert is served and it's too rich for junior. He resents a substitute and the meal ends unhappily for the whole family.

Of course, fruit, simply served, prevents this complication, but then dad is not always happy about that!

Most men like custards and bread pudding, and their egg and milk contents are good for the youngsters, so occasionally solve the dessert problem by giving them one of the following:

Crumb Pudding.

One square unsweetened chocolate, cut in pieces.
One-half cup milk.
One-half cup sugar.
Dash of salt.
One-half teaspoon baking powder.
Two cups fine soft breadcrumbs.
One teaspoon vanilla.

Add chocolate to milk and place over low flame. Cook until mixture is smooth and blended, stirring constantly. Add sugar and salt and stir until sugar is dissolved. Remove from fire; add baking powder, bread crumbs and vanilla. Blend. Turn into individual custard cups and bake in moderate oven 20 to 25 minutes. Serve with cream. Serves four.

Soft Custard.

Two cups evaporated milk.
One cup water.
One-eighth cup sugar.
One-eighth teaspoon salt.
Two eggs.
One teaspoon vanilla.
Dash of nutmeg.

Scald milk and water. Add sugar and salt. Stir to dissolve. Pour slowly over beaten eggs. Cook over boiling water, stirring frequently, until mixture coats spoon, about five minutes. Add vanilla and nutmeg. Serve warm or cold. Serves six.

Caramel Custard.

Three-fourths cup granulated sugar.
One quart milk.
Five eggs.
One-half teaspoon salt.
One teaspoon vanilla.

Melt sugar in skillet, stirring constantly until a golden brown. In the meantime, have the milk scalding in a double boiler. When sugar is ready, pour on milk and dissolve. Add eggs slightly beaten, salt and vanilla. Pour into individual molds or one large one. Set in pan of water and bake until firm in a moderate oven. Serves eight.

Tomato-Cheese Spread.

Take one cup of undiluted canned tomato soup and heat in top of double boiler. Add one-fourth pound grated cheese and stir until melted. Then add one well beaten egg and cook until mixture is thick, stirring all the time. Cool before spreading on sandwiches.

Cheese Sticks.

Make a rich pastry, roll one-fourth inch thick, spread lightly with softened butter and sprinkle with grated cheese. Fold over and roll again, then repeat operation. Cut pastry in finger-length strips and bake about 10 minutes in hot oven.

ORANGE FILLING

Five tablespoons cake flour.
One cup sugar.
Grated rind of one orange.
One-half cup orange juice.
Three tablespoons lemon juice.
One-fourth cup water.
Two egg yolks, slightly beaten.
Two teaspoons butter.

Combine ingredients in order given. Cook in double boiler 10 minutes, stirring constantly. Cool. Makes enough filling for two 10-inch layers.

Pimiento Sauce.

Make white sauce as follows: Melt four tablespoons butter, blend with it four tablespoons flour, add slowly [illegible] cups of milk, season with salt and paprika, and cook three minutes after it comes to boiling point. Just before taking off add four tablespoons finely minced pimientos.

SEVEN MINUTE FROSTING

Two egg whites, unbeaten.
One and a half cups sugar.
Five tablespoons water.
One and a half teaspoons light corn syrup.
One teaspoon vanilla.

Put egg whites, sugar, water, and corn syrup in upper part of double boiler. Beat with rotary egg beater until thoroughly mixed. Place over rapidly boiling water, beat constantly with rotary egg beater, and cook seven minutes, or until frosting will stand in peaks. Remove from fire, add vanilla, and beat until thick enough to spread. Makes enough frosting to cover top and sides of three 10-inch layers.

Scalloped Pork Chops.

Place chops in bottom of baking dish, cover with milk and season with salt, pepper and a teaspoon of chili powder. Bake about 40 minutes.

PURPLE GRAPE JAM AND CONSERVE GOOD

Spiced Jelly and Butter May Also Be Prepared.

Requests for recipes for grape jam and conserve are answered today. In addition, recipes for special grapes, butter and a spiced grape jelly which is an appetizing change from ordinary jelly, are given:

Grape Conserve.

Four pounds grapes.
Two pounds sugar.
three-fourths pound seeded raisins.
Grated rind and juice of one orange.
One-half pound finely chopped nuts.

Wash grapes, press pulp from skins with fingers, cook pulp until soft, press through sieve and discard seeds. Add skins and simmer until tender, then add sugar, raisins, orange rind and juice and cook for about an hour until thick. Stir in nuts just before thickening. Turn into sterilized glasses and cover tops with hot melted paraffin.

Spiced Grapes.

Four pounds grapes.
One and one-half cups vinegar.
Two sticks cinnamon.
One-half ounce whole cloves.
One blade mace.
Two pounds sugar.

Press pulp from skins with fingers, saving skins. Cook pulp, vinegar and spices tied in a bag until pulp is soft. Press through sieve, add skins, cook until boiling, put in sugar and take out spice bag. Cook about an hour until thick, turn into sterilized glasses and cover with hot melted paraffin.

Grape Jam.

Stem and wash five pounds of grapes, press pulp from skins until seeds are loosened. Put through sieve and discard seeds. Pass skins through food chopper, add to pulp, measure and cook until thick with sugar in proportion of three-fourths pound of sugar to each pound of fruit. Stir often. Turn into sterilized glasses and cover with hot melted paraffin.

Spiced Grape Jelly.

Four and one-half cups juice, eight cups sugar, one-half bottle (one-half cup) pectin.

To prepare juice, stem and crush three pounds fully ripe grapes. Add one-half cup vinegar, one teaspoon cloves and two teaspoons cinnamon. Bring to a boil, cover, and simmer 10 minutes. Place fruit in jelly cloth or bag and squeeze out juice.

Measure sugar and juice into large saucepan and mix. Bring to a boil over hottest fire and at once add pectin, stirring constantly. Then bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard one-half minute. Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Paraffin hot jelly at once. Makes about 11 eight-ounce glasses.

Grape Butter.

Seven cups sugar, four and one-half cups pulp, one-half bottle (one-half cup) pectin.

Measure sugar and pulp into large kettle, mix well, and bring to a full rolling boil over hottest fire. Stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard one minute. Remove from fire and stir in pectin. Pour quickly. Paraffin hot butter at once. Makes about 11 eight-ounce glasses.

RIBBON CAKE

Three cups sifted cake flour.
Three teaspoons baking powder.
Two-thirds cup butter or other shortening.
One and one-half cups sugar.
Three egg yolks, well beaten.
One cup milk.
Three egg whites, stiffly beaten.
Three-fourths teaspoon cinnamon.
One-eighth teaspoon cloves.
One-fourth teaspoon mace.
One-fourth teaspoon nutmeg.
One and one-half tablespoons molasses.
One-third cup raisins, finely cut.
One-third cup figs, finely cut.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, and sift together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add egg yolks and beat well. Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time. Beat after each addition until smooth. Fold in egg whites. Fill two greased nine-inch layer pans with two-thirds of mixture. To remaining mixture, add spices, molasses, and fruit, and pour into one greased nine-inch layer pan. Bake layers in moderate oven 25 minutes. Arrange spice layer between light layers. Spread red currant jelly between layers and frosting on top and sides of cake.

APRICOT SAUCE

Two cups juice drained from cooked sweetened apricots.
One-fourth cup water.
Two tablespoons flour.
One tablespoon butter.

Heat apricot juice. Add water to flour gradually, mixing to a smooth paste. Add to hot juice, stirring vigorously, and cook five minutes, or until slightly thickened, stirring constantly. Add butter. Makes one and three-fourths cups sauce.

Pear Surprise.

Cut a brick of pineapple ice or vanilla ice cream in thin slices and place half a canned pear on each slice. Cover the pear completely with whipped cream and sprinkle thickly with grated nuts. Serves six.

FRESH STRAWBERRIES AGAIN IN MARKET

First Nectarines of the Season Also Come From California.

Rather surprising to find strawberries again in the market, but it was explained that an express shipment of these berries had been received from California this week. Included also were some raspberries of delicious flavor.

The first nectarines seen so far also came from the same state, as did some excellent greeneating apples and a generous supply of Bartlett pears.

Cantaloupes were so abundant several days this week that prices sunk to the lowest of many years. The home-grown varieties are in the majority.

Peaches also were plentiful all week, these also coming from nearby points.

The first of the Seckel and Kiefer pears are also in this week.

TOMATO AND CHEESE SALAD

Put six medium-sized tomatoes in boiling water for a moment to loosen skins. Peel and put in refrigerator to chill. With a sharp knife make four parallel cuts from the top almost to the bottom of the tomatoes, being careful not to sever the sections.

In the cuts thus made insert very thin slices of one-half pound American cheese, or slices from four hard-cooked eggs. Arrange on crisp lettuce leaves and sprinkle with one tablespoon chopped parsley. Serve with well seasoned mayonnaise.

VEGETABLES EXCEED LAST YEAR'S SUPPLY

Car Shipments Far Beyond Previous Records for This City.

This has been a lavish vegetable summer for St. Louis as records up to the end of July show far greater shipments than ever before by carload lots from many points.

Peas, for instance, were reported by a group of commission men to have reached a total of 111 cars against 71 last year. Other vegetables were correspondingly high in shipments.

Prices of vegetables have been modest all summer, nor have the majority of them shared in the advance of prices, as have many other food items.

Tomatoes, cucumbers, peppers, beans and peas lead in sales this week with home-grown varieties in profusion.

A newcomer was Colorado broccoli of which a comparatively small assignment was received.

Of interest to women who do their own pickling are pimentoes, which were noticed in basket lots.

Tuna Cocktail.

One can tuna.
Two tomatoes.
Twelve stalks green asparagus.
One cup Thousand Island dressing.

Break tuna into rather large bits with a fork. Mix it with the dressing. Line sides of cocktail dishes with stalks of asparagus and sections of fresh tomato. Place tuna in center of glasses. Serve very cold.

NOW! A MARVELOUS NEW SOAP INVENTION
A Still FASTER Soap That's Really Safe For Fabrics And CAN NOT FADE Dainty Colors

Accept 5 Faster Washings FREE... NOTE COUPON BELOW

THANKS to the world's most famous soap makers, women everywhere are asking and exclaiming "Will the wonders of science never cease?"

For women believed that everything science could do to make washdays easier and clothes whiter had been done for them. And then found they were wrong.

They believed they had the fastest way already. And then found their present favorite was slow, compared to this new invention.

They believed they already had the whitest washes they could get. And then were amazed by still whiter washes.

So—millions now are quitting old-time soaps, bars and flakes, old-type "granulated soaps" for an utterly new and different kind of soap.

A Remarkable, NEW Invention

This new and improved soap invention is called OXYDOL. And it does these things. Things no other soap can do, or has ever done:

It cuts washing time 25% to 40%. And thus saves hours of labor.

It works without scrubbing, without rubbing. For it works by dissolving dirt.

It makes clothes 50% whiter than old ways. Yet it can not fade or injure either fabric or color.

It is as kind to the hands as the finest toilet soap. For it is created by America's largest soap makers—the makers of gentle "Ivory."

Do you wonder then that women by the thousands are daily turning to it?

How It Works

This remarkable invention works an entirely different way.

For one thing, it is especially fitted to the water in each district it is sold. Old-time soaps are not.

The water in this district for instance has been tested for hardness by famous chemists And the new, improved OXYDOL you get here is made to fit it. This gives you suds like rich dairy cream that's whipped.

It contains special, mild elements that soak out dirt—dissolve it—take it out like magic. And these elements are blended with special ingredients to protect colors against fading.

It will change all ideals you have ever had about washing. About whiter washes. About easier washdays.

These things we promise you. For your own sake, try it. Don't believe your present favorite is still the finest. Try this new invention. Accept package FREE for coupon. Or obtain at any store.

SUGGESTIONS MADE FOR HOLIDAY GIFTS

Additional Recipes for Goodies Which Will Be Welcomed Christmas.

As suggested in this section recently a few jars or glasses of jelly or jam made now may well serve as Christmas gifts for intimate friends.

And why not pickles also? Following are some recipes which your friends may not have and will like gifts of same. It will be noticed that carrots are utilized in marmalade and pickles. Not a common ingredient for these, but very good, nevertheless.

Ginger Pear Jam.

Four cups (two pounds) prepared fruit
One-half to one cup diced crystallized ginger
Seven and one-half cups (Three and one-fourth pounds) sugar
One bottle pectin.

To prepare fruit, peel, core and crush completely or grind about three pounds fully ripe pears. Dice about one-half pound crystallized ginger.

Measure sugar and prepared fruit, tightly packed, into large kettle. Add ginger, mix well, and bring to a full rolling boil over hottest fire. Stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard one minute. Remove from fire and stir in pectin. Then stir and skim by turn for just five minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating fruit. Pour quickly. Paraffin hot jam at once. Makes about 11 glasses.

Spiced Pears.

Select small, rather hard pears, peel them and stick three or four whole cloves in each. Stand them upright, close together in saucepan and pour over them a mixture of two cups of brown sugar, three-fourths cup of vinegar and two cups of boiling water. Add three pieces of whole ginger and two sticks of cinnamon.

Cover and simmer over a low fire until fruit is tender, slightly colored and translucent. A few pears may be cooked at a time, removed from the syrup and more put in.

Spiced Peaches.

Two pounds brown sugar
Two cups vinegar
1 ounce stick cinnamon
One-half ounce whole cloves
Four quarts peaches.

Boil sugar, vinegar and spices 20 minutes. Dip peaches quickly in hot water; then rub off the fuzz with a cloth. Place a few peaches at a time in syrup and cook until tender. Pack into sterilized jars. Adjust sterilized rubbers, and fill each jar to overflowing with hot strained syrup. Put on sterilized covers and seal jars immediately.

Pickled String Beans.

Select young, tender beans about two inches long. Snip off the ends and leave the beans whole. Put two pounds of them in a bowl or crock and cover with a brine made in the proportion of one-quarter cup salt to each quart of water. Let stand over night.

Drain, rinse in cold water and dry on a cloth. Pack in sterilized jars adding one hot chili pepper to each pint jar. Scald one quart of vinegar, add one-half cup brown sugar, one-half teaspoon celery seed and one tablespoon mixed spices. Boil for a minute or two, then fill jars and seal.

Sweet Pickled Carrots.

Shred raw carrots to make six cupsful, boil in salted water for five minutes, drain. Mix two and one-half cups vinegar with one-half cup brown sugar, one small bayleaf, 10 whole cloves, one inch of stick cinnamon and the grated rind of one-half a lemon. Boil slowly for 20 minutes, add the carrots and simmer for five minutes. Pack into half-pint jars and seal.

Cumumber Chunks.

Use seven pounds whole ripe cucumbers. Make a brine of the proportion of one cup coarse salt to two quarts of water. Cover whole cucumbers with brine and let stand for three days. Drain, cover with fresh cold water and let stand one day. Drain, and cut slices an inch thick. Line a large saucepan with grape leaves, put in cucumber slices and cover with equal parts of vinegar and water.

Cook very gently for an hour or until the cucumbers are tender. Meanwhile mix two and one-half pounds light brown sugar with three pints vinegar, one tablespoon whole allspice, one ounce stick cinnamon, broken in pieces, and one tablespoon celery salt. Heat to boiling point and boil five minutes. Drain cucumbers, put in clean, hot jars and pour the spiced vinegar over them. Let stand until next day, pour off vinegar and boil it again for five minutes. Pour over cucumbers and seal jars at once.

Pepper Marmalade.

Twelve large red sweet peppers.
One tablespoon salt.
One pint vinegar.
Three cups sugar.

Remove seeds from peppers and put peppers through food grinder, using medium knife. Sprinkle with salt and let stand about four hours. Drain and add vinegar and sugar. Boil an hour. Pour into hot glasses and cover with melted paraffin.

Carrot Marmalade.

One pound carrot pulp.
One pound granulated sugar.
Nine almonds, blanched and finely shredded.
Two lemons, grated rind of one and juice from both.
One-half teaspoon almond extract.

Cook carrots (skins on) until tender, cold-dip and push off skins with hands. Put through food chopper. Place carrots and sugar in preserving kettle and boil for 15 minutes. Add other ingredients and boil for 5 minutes longer.

PARFAITS FOR FIFTY WEDDING GUESTS

Proportions Given for Bananas and Apricots in Frozen Cream.

A request for recipes for "something good for 50 wedding guests which can be made at home and served instead of ice cream," may be answered by the suggestion of parfaits.

Bananas and apricots with crumbled macaroons make a delicious parfait, and so do bananas with apple sauce. Here are recipes sufficient for half a hundred guests.

Bananas and Apricots.

Three and one-half cups water
Three cups sugar
Eight egg whites
Six cups apricots, stewed or canned, and drained
Six bananas, well ripened.
One and one-half quarts cream
Two pounds macaroons

Boil water and sugar to 238 degrees until syrup spins a thread. Gradually pour syrup over well beaten egg whites, beating constantly. Mash bananas and apricots through strainer and add to first mixture with crumbled macaroons. Fold in whipped cream. Fill into refrigerator trays and freeze about three and a half hours. Fill parfait glasses with frozen mixture, top with whipped cream and stand in refrigerator for another hour or two.

Bananas and Apple Sauce.

Three cups water
Three cups sugar
Six egg whites
Six cups apple sauce
Six bananas
Six cup cream
One-eighth teaspoon salt
One-half teaspoon cinnamon
One and one-half pounds vanilla wafers.

Use same method in preparation and freezing as in above recipe.

CURRANT VINEGAR

To each pound of fruit add two and one-half cups of vinegar, diluted if very strong. Let stand in a crock, glass or enamel bowl in a cool place for about two weeks. Strain through a jelly bag and measure.

Add one cup of sugar to four cups of juice and bring just to boiling point. Seal immediately in hot bottles or fruit jars.

SILK AND COTTON DRESS FIRMS REFUSE TO RECOGNIZE UNION

Agree to Deal With Employes Collectively But Won't Assent to Closed Shop.

Representatives of silk and cotton dress companies affected by a strike of about 2000 dress makers decided yesterday to oppose union requests for recognition and preferment in employment, Howard Elliott, attorney for a group of silk dress companies, said today.

The employers, Elliott said, agreed they would re-employ the strikers regardless of union affiliations and deal with them collectively, but declared they would not assent to a closed shop or preferential employment of union members. The strike began eight days ago after the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union failed to get recognition from employers.

Until yesterday the silk and cotton dress companies had acted independently, with some of the silk dress companies negotiating for settlement. Elliott said the American Fashion Dress Co. and the Carafiol-Silverman Garment Co., two of the five silk dress companies which union leaders asserted had agreed to prefer union members, would not recognize the agreement. Ben Gilbert, union leader, said the other three were the Marshall Newburger Dress Co., Mayfair Dress Co. and Advance Dress Co.

Miss Sarah Anzalone, an employe of the Forest City Manufacturing Co., 1627 Washington avenue, reported she was slapped by strikers yesterday as she left the factory. She named four women who were arrested and booked to appear in Police Court.

SUES INSURANCE COMPANY FOR ACCOUNTING AND DAMAGES

Raymond C. Addicks Says He Is Entitled to Commissions for Group Policy.

Raymond C. Addicks filed suit in Circuit Court yesterday against the North American Life Insurance Co. of Chicago for an accounting and damages under a contract which he said was breached.

The contract was in reference to commissions and other rights to which he says he was entitled by an agreement made in April, 1932, in connection with writing group insurance for the Missouri State Teachers' Association, whose membership is 26,000, the petition says.

It is stated that Addicks was instrumental in developing the plan and obtaining the business from the Teachers' Association and that he is entitled to commissions on premiums and renewals for a period of five years, but has received no payments since July, 1932.

The Court is asked to ascertain the value of the contract and the amount to which plaintiff would be entitled. In one count of the petition he asks for $150,000 damages.

WANTS COTTON PROCESSING TAX COLLECTED GRADUALLY

Senator George Tells Roosevelt Burden on Mills Should Be Eased.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Senator George (Dem.), Georgia, suggested to President Roosevelt yesterday the processing tax on cotton should be graduated over a period of months, "so that the buying power could keep up with the increase."

"My idea is that the processing tax being collected at once places the full burden on the mills and puts the cost of textiles up to the maximum in advance of buying power," George explained. "It would be better to levy a 1-cent tax for the first period of 90 days, a 2-cent tax for the second 90-day period, and on up to the maximum gradually.

"I also told the President I would urge Secretary Wallace to impose a like tax on other products in competition with cotton. It ought to be done and done at once."

George said he would urge the compensatory tax on jute and all other products directly competing with cotton.

DR. HARVEY G. MUDD FUNERAL IS HELD AT CHRIST CHURCH

The funeral of Dr. Harvey G. Mudd, noted St. Louis surgeon and chief of staff of St. Luke's Hospital, was held today at Christ Church Cathedral. The attendance was large, although many of Dr. Mudd's professional and personal friends are out of the city.

A large group of physicians represented the city and State medical organizations. Active pallbearers were Dr. Charles D. O'Keefe, Dr. Howard A. Rusk, Dr. Hiram Liggett, Dr. J. Hoy Sanford, Dr. Omar R. Sevin, Dr. O. C. Zink, Dr. Charles E. Hyndman, Dr. Roland Klemme, Dr. Newman Walsh and E. E. Peugnet.

The list of honorary pallbearers included physicians and business men, also the executives of St. Luke's Hospital.

The Rev. C. E. Remick of the Cathedral conducted the funeral. Burial in Bellefontaine Cemetery was private. Dr. Mudd died early Wednesday in a hospital in Cambridge, Mass., following an operation. He would have been 76 years old Aug. 29. He is survived by his widow and a son, Dr. Stuart Mudd.

130 DEAD IN JAMAICA STORM

Lack of Water and Other Supplies Adding to Distress.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Aug. 18.—Lack of water and other supplies today added to the distress following a storm which Wednesday caused 130 deaths and widespread property damage.

Gov. Sir Ransford Slater sponsored the raising of a $500,000 relief fund to care for 50,000 inhabitants whose suffering was said to be acute.

SOVIET AGENCY 'PLAYING GAME FOR RECOGNITION'

This Is Comment of Secretary Wallace on Negotiation for Sale of U. S. Cotton to Russia.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Secretary of Agriculture Wallace said yesterday that the question of recognizing Russia had arisen in negotiations for the sale of cotton to that country and indicated that the Amtorg Trading Corporation, Soviet commercial agency, had been "playing a rather coy game for recognition."

Former Senator Brookhart of Iowa, Eastern European trade adviser for the Farm Administration, has been carrying on negotiations with the Amtorg for the cotton sale.

Wallace said that the proposed sale, involving the exportation of a million bales of cotton to Russia would "be very helpful," but added:

"My impression is that they (representatives of Amtorg) have been playing a rather coy game for recognition."

So far the negotiations have not resulted in any definite arrangements, but they will be continued, Wallace said.

Six-Year Loan Sought.

Brookhart has been conducting the negotiations for some weeks, but said representatives of Amtorg have asked for a six-year loan to finance the purchase.

Efforts to obtain this loan have been made in conferences with directors of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, Brookhart said, but that agency apparently was unable to make a loan for more than five years.

Brookhart added that Russian cotton production was insufficient to meet Soviet needs, and that up to 2,000,000 bales could be sold if ample credit arrangements could be made.

He recently characterized Russian credit as "the best in the world," and is seeking to speed up trade, to get ahead of European countries that already have completed arrangements with the Soviet.

75 Pct. Credit by Europe.

Several European countries, he said, have arranged to guarantee 75 per cent of the payment for goods exported by their citizens to the Soviet. Brookhart favors an arrangement of this kind in this country, asserting that Russia is a potential customer for many kinds of American farm products and industrial goods.

Meantime, he is seeking to work out a method of exchange with Amtorg representatives— under which goods produced in this country would be traded for Russian products, of which there was not a surplus here.

Included among the products he believes this country could import without injuring American groups are platinum, manganese ore and furs.

Amtorg Agent Expressed Surprise at Wallace's Statement.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Peter A. Bogdanov, chairman of the board of the Amtorg Trading Corporation, expressed surprise at the declaration of Secretary of Agriculture Wallace that Amtorg was "playing a coy game" for the recognition of Soviet Russia.

"The fact is," said the Soviet trade officer, "that the only concern of Amtorg is to develop and promote trade and commercial relations between the United States and Soviet Russia.

Secretary Wallace's reference to the "coy game" was contained in a statement that nothing definite has been done regarding the proposal of selling 1,000,000 bales of American cotton to the Soviet Government.

DOG FIGHTS OFF MAN TRYING TO KIDNAP 8-YEAR-OLD GIRL

Daughter of Water Commissioner at Milton, Mass., Saved From Abductor.

By the Associated Press.

MILTON, Mass., Aug. 18.—William J. McClusky, local Water Commissioner and instructor in military science in Boston high schools, last night reported to police an attempt to kidnap his 8-year-old daughter, Ann.

McClusky said his daughter told him that as she was returning home from the library about 8:30 p. m. a large black automobile backed into the driveway of the McClusky home and a man leaped out and tried to force her into the car.

She resisted, and her dog, Pooch, attacked the man so savagely that he ran back into the car and drove away, McClusky said. He said his daughter told him there were another man and two children in the automobile.

Eagles Attack Man.

By the Associated Press.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 18.—Two bald eagles, each with a wing spread of nearly seven feet, attacked Henry Lehr, a fisherman, near Burnaby yesterday when he disturbed them while walking across a field. Although he defended himself with a stick, one of the birds wounded him on the leg. Lehr summoned police. They shot both birds.

QUEZON'S PARTY APPROVES PLEBISCITE ON INDEPENDENCE

Whether It Is Held Depends On Legality and Condition of Filipino Treasury.

By the Associated Press.

MANILA, Aug. 18.—Manuel Quezon's majority group, controlling the Legislature, agreed at a caucus today on a vote by plebiscite on the Philippine independence act, the pleas of the Senate President overcoming opposition to such a plan.

But whether the voting, which is planned for October, a month before the Legislature's session ends, will be held is problematical because of the expense involved and questions of legality. The Secretary of Justice has been asked to rule on the legality questions. Legislators agreed informally that if the Insular Auditor disapproved of the estimated expense of $500,000, the Legislature itself would then have to decide the independence question. The act provides for either ratification by the Legislature or by plebiscite.

Quezon told supporters that if the Legislature decided the question, he would be bound to reject it, since he was elected on a platform of immediate independence and therefore a plebiscite was necessary.

THINKS ISLANDS EXIST BETWEEN GREENLAND AND SVALBARD

Dr. Lauge Koch, Arctic Explorer, Advances Theory After Making Trip in Plane.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Aug. 18.—After making an air trip over Northeastern Greenland, mapped in 1910 by Einar Mikkelsen, Dr. Lauge Koch, veteran Arctic explorer, said today that "we had an impression of new land, but, unfortunately, fog prevented clear observations."

He added, however, that "we presume the existence of islands, with tall cliffs, between Greenland and Svalbard," the archipelago in which Spitzbergen lies.

This vague statement was not included in Dr. Lauge Koch's report to the Governor of Greenland, which is a confirmation of the correctness of Mikkelsen's and Knud Rasmussen's maps of the district and of his own theory that there is a mountain ridge in the area reaching to Danmarkshavn. Norwegian experts are somewhat doubtful of Dr. Koch's unofficial statement about land between Greenland and Svalbard.

ILLNESS OF WOMAN DOCTOR DELAYS HER ARRAIGNMENT

By the Associated Press.

GREENWOOD, Miss., Aug. 18.—Preliminary trial of Dr. Sarah Ruth Dean, child specialist, charged with the poison death of Dr. John Preston Kennedy, her fellow physician, was delayed yesterday because of her illness.

Under guard of a deputy she was confined to a hospital here, to which she was removed after a Chancery Court refused her privilege of bail. Her attorneys had pleaded on a writ of habeas corpus for her release on bond because of illness.

A. F. Gardner of defense counsel said he would not ask for a preliminary trial until Dr. Dean recovers. The Chancery Court in refusing bail ruled that a preliminary hearing should first be held. She was reported to have been suffering from nausea during her confinement in jail.

Dr. Dean was accused by Dr. Kennedy just before he died in a Jackson hospital, Aug. 6, with having mixed poison in a whiskey highball which he drank in her presence.

PLANS SPEEDY PROSECUTION IN THE URSCHEL KIDNAPING

Special Assistant Attorney-General Arrives at Oklahoma City by Airplane.

By the Associated Press.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok., Aug. 18.—Leslie E. Salter, Special Assistant United States Attorney-General, came here by airplane today to take charge of the Government's case against the accused kidnapers of Charles F. Urschel, oil millionaire.

"We'll have a grand jury in session next week, if possible, and lay the evidence before it," Salter said shortly after his arrival. "There will be speed." Indictment of Harvey Bailey, Alfred Bates, George (Machine Gun) Kelly and others will mean the suspects now held will be brought to Oklahoma City for immediate trial, Salter said. Bailey and other suspects are in jail at Dallas, Tex., and Bates is held at Denver. Kelly is sought. Salter's first action was to order that all evidence in the case of the Urschel kidnaping and ransom, reputedly for $200,000, be assembled in Oklahoma City.

'SUPERMAN' SUED FOR DIVORCE

Second Action by Wife of Former Oklahoma Insurance Man.

By the Associated Press.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok., Aug. 18.—Eugene Arnett, 58 years old, who 17 years ago dropped an insurance business to devote himself to the scientific study with a reputed hope of developing a race of supermen, was named in a second divorce petition filed yesterday by his wife, who charged "extreme mental cruelty."

At the same time, Mrs. Arnett dismissed a previous suit in which she stated her husband practiced "a form of asceticism the like of which probably is known nowhere else in the modern world." Arnett built a clump of massive buildings in suburban Putnam City, where he and his corps of assistants pursued in secrecy studies of Greek culture, archeology and eugenics. Most of the buildings now are boarded up, and the grounds are overgrown with weeds.

TWO CONVICTED OF FRAUD ON OLD COURT JUDGMENTS

Sentenced in Indiana for Trying to Collect Money With Forged Document.

By the Associated Press.

MONTICELLO, Ind., Aug. 18.—Two men were convicted yesterday for attempting to swindle County Clerk Russell Gordon by collecting, on forged documents, a 20-year-old judgment.

Lucien Smith, 35 years old, was fined $1 and received a suspended prison sentence of two to 14 years. William A. Stout, 34, was fined $500 and sentenced to two to 14 years in State prison. Both gave Chicago as their home.

The system they used, by which State officers said the County Clerk at Plymouth recently had been swindled of $611, was related by officers as follows:

The men searched records in the clerk's office for unpaid judgments. They found one, for $278, due Wilhelmina Zulke from settlement of a partition suit 20 years ago. The woman is thought now to reside in Germany. With a forged duplicate of the judgment and a spurious note giving them power of attorney, they claimed the money. The clerk became suspicious and called officers.

CROSSES OCEAN IN SAIL BOAT

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Marin Marie, French painter of sea scenes, claimed a record for a one-man crossing of the Atlantic under sail yesterday on his arrival from Brest in the 36-foot sloop, Winniebelle II.

Marie covered 2850 miles in his crossing by way of Madeira, Dominica and Port de France, Martinique. He sailed from Brest May 10. The famous Capt. Slocum, in the Spray, crossed from Cape Sable to Lisbon in 28 days. Although Marie took 29 days actual sailing time, he said he sailed 250 miles more than Capt. Slocum.

You may with Government pre sure coerce the head of a great i dustry. But you can't coerce th millions that work for the great i dustries, if they choose to strike.

It is a pity that there is not roo to describe Mr. Dubinsky and M Hochman, the latter at discreet i tervals whispering to Mr. Dubinsk "go a little easy."

Such terrific energy is in Mr. D binsky, so much menace in h voice, with a powerful foreign a cent, that if you are a little old an a little weary, looking at him an listening to him for five minutes violent exercise.

His spine is bent at the top fro years of working over machin turning out "garments" that othe wear. But he rises, shakes h small hand, with soft round finge and, although he is only five fe four, he looks like a giant.

Very interesting were the faces of the employers and employed in the garment industry, one of the greatest in the country. The employers, as a rule, looked tired. Some of them have money, and that makes you tired in these days, watching it. Striking workers have no money, most of them, but they have terrific energy and use it.

It was a delight to watch and hear David Dubinsky, head of the International Ladies Garment Workers, as he took the floor, beginning always mildly, ending otherwise with "We don't want to wait to eat pie in the sky." Or:-

"It takes five weeks to make a man's coat in the garment industry. It will take longer than that to clear this thing up in Washington, and after we finish there they will have to ventilate Washington. We mean to tell things."

Julius Hochman, head of another garment union, with a head bigger than that of the late Bourke Cockran, a deep voice and powerful eyes that might have made him a genius on the Shakespearan stage, should be "written up." What power in that small crowd!

Ten minutes listening to the employers and the talkers for 60,000 strikers make you realize that the NRA eagle will add gigantically to the strength of organized labor.

You may with Government pressure coerce the head of a great industry. But you can't coerce the millions that work for the great industries, if they choose to strike.

It is a pity that there is not room to describe Mr. Dubinsky and Mr. Hochman, the latter at discreet intervals whispering to Mr. Dubinsky, "go a little easy."

Such terrific energy is in Mr. Dubinsky, so much menace in his voice, with a powerful foreign accent, that if you are a little old and a little weary, looking at him and listening to him for five minutes is violent exercise.

His spine is bent at the top from years of working over machines turning out "garments" that others wear. But he rises, shakes his small hand, with soft round fingers and, although he is only five feet four, he looks like a giant.

John Szabo, shoemaker, had two wives and missed them both. One died seven years ago and one four years ago. He buried them side by side and, when 65 years old he missed them too much, he shot himself so that his body would drop on both their graves. His request to an undertaker to bury him near them cannot be granted. That graveyard does not accept suicides.

He is with them now, perhaps, or perhaps with only one, depending on the rule concerning those that have two or more wives in the better land. Perhaps the number does not matter, where they are just spirits. How would Solomon manage?

A new kind of gang murder in New York. A truck driver is found wrapped in a brown blanket. His necktie showed that as he struggled he was compelled to strangle himself. Nothing like that since a Caliph, told of by Marco Polo, tied a neighboring chieftain whom he had just conquered in an Oriental rug and had him trampled to death by horses, thus "avoiding bloodshed."

You are safe in Germany if you see a German flag going along with a swastika on it, sort of an imitation pinwheel, provided you raise your arm and give the best imitation you can of a Nazi salute.

Dr. Daniel Mulvihill of Brooklyn, N. Y., studying under Dr. Sauerbruch in Berlin, forgot about saluting the Swastika when a parade went by. A Nazi in uniform hit him on the side of the head violently to teach him better manners, and causing deafness.

That is new, since Kessler's hat.

Mr. Medalie, United States prosecuting officer, says he can name four or six important political leaders that work under control of gangsters and co-operate with them.

Thereupon a grand jury asked a Judge Whether he thinks it would

IF YOU ASK MY OPINION

By MARTHA CARR

My dear Mrs. Carr:

DO you think two quick-tempered people can get along if they are planning to get married? And do you think it is bad luck to have a hope chest ready before you get married? Some people say it is bad luck.

I am going with a wonderful fellow and he wants to get married. I think it is better to wait for better times, although he has a good job and is wonderful to me. I thought it better to wait for another year or so. I am looking forward to the answers to my questions.

JUST ANOTHER WORRIER.

To your first question I will tell you of a little plan, which seems to work out well between two quick-tempered people, so that they do not spout fire at the same time and thus make a conflagration. Agree that you will not both be angry at the same time. If the boy begins to flash a danger signal, let it burn out before you say anything. You can think, as hard as you please: "You just wait, young man 'til some time when you are cooled down, and I'll show you how I can fly up and burst."

The chances are, that when you have the opportunity, your ire will have cooled and you never will fly up and burst on this particular subject. Make that agreement now and try it out before you are married. If it doesn't work out, it is not likely to after marriage.

Usually when people are quick to wrath, it is about some trouble which can be avoided, makes unnecessary breaches and brings remorse and heart-burning where there should have been happiness and congeniality—and all to no good.

So, before you set the day, if you think you have time to wait, make a test of each other. If the boy is well situated and you are old enough it would be best not to wait too long.

No, hope chests are not bad luck.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

I AM a girl 15 years old and very poor. I have finished high school and am working at present.

I am very much in love with a young man 23 and he is also very fond of me. We wish to get married, as he has a good job and I feel that it would not be doing anybody a great harm. But my parents do not think I'm old enough to know my own mind. What is your opinion?

BROWN EYES.

I really agree with your parents. Suppose you postpone the idea for a year—we'll say that long, at least. And then, if you are of the same mind, write me again. At least postponing it will not do anyone a great harm, and it may do a good deal of good; in that it will give you more time and money to prepare yourself, and a better insight into human nature and into married life.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

WILL you kindly help me solve this problem? It is one of the most difficult I have ever known in all my 26 years; that of trying to help a friend, to cure a broken heart of one of the dearest, most loyal persons God ever made.

This woman and I have enjoyed a true friendship for 22 years, and in all that time, I have never seen her as she is today—crushed and broken.

Eight months ago, the man she was engaged to marry suddenly cast her aside for another woman, after they had gone together eight years. Even after he lost his position, she was content to spend evenings at home, pay expenses of trips in his car, entertain his friends at her home—all in the name of love.

When he said he was through, the shock was too much for her. She will say nothing and will not hear his name mentioned. Her doctor told me, confidentially, that unless a change takes place soon, she will die of grief. My fiance and I have introduced her to people and taken her everywhere—she is as beautiful as she is sweet, too. She just smiles in her gracious way—Mrs. Carr, cannot you think of something to do for her? Gratefully yours,

IRENE.

Once in a long time, there is such a case, when no remedy or palliative avails. But there is generally hope of help if the person will plunge headlong into some kind of work—work that is so consuming that all thought and energy must be applied to keep it going. If she has ambitions, and is alert mentally, probably you can help her; not so much by trying to have her mix with people as inducing her to go into some kind of work.

Of course, if it is possible, the very best thing she can do, right now, is to get a change of scene—to go away, where people know neither her nor the man and where she will have to travel and hustle every minute.

The difficulty is, that a woman who is of the disposition to sit still and wait for a man eight years, a man who will accept her attentions and bounty, is not usually the type to change her mode of life quickly. But that is the only remedy I can see.

Letters intended for this column must be addressed to Martha Carr at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Carr will answer all questions of general interest but, of course, cannot give advice on matters of a purely legal or medical nature. Those who do not care to have their letters published may enclose an addressed and stamped envelope for personal reply.

My dear Mrs. Carr:

I AM a young mother, 25 years old, with two children. I have been in this city for six years, and I venture to say that I am one of the loneliest mothers you could find. True I have my children and I am kept plenty busy, doing my own work, but oh, how I long for companionship my own age.

Last winter, and a while before that, we had different couples come to the house in the evenings. I always thought they enjoyed themselves—they said so. But we were never asked in return, although these same couples came back time and again. I always fixed tempting lunches which they most certainly enjoyed.

Times have been bad for us, and we have left off this entertaining now for about six months, and, as a result, we have heard from none of our so-called friends.

My husband has a very good education and is well liked. In my home town I was popular enough—I cannot understand just what it might be.

I would so love to know some couples our age, with children and something in common with ourselves. My ideas are not at all elaborate. I only long for a normal association with people. Through the different churches I've attended, I've never met anyone my own age.

Loneliness in a big city can be so discouraging and no companionship can make you SO BLUE.

You happened to find your "friends" among the wrong kind, evidently, and certainly you should make no effort to resume friendship with people of so little consideration and so lacking in the knowledge of politeness.

It may be that you've been so closely confined at home with your children that you have not cultivated other tastes, nor tried to be of assistance in the community life around you. Almost every one is busy doing definite things—even when they have a home and family. And since you have changed churches several times, possibly you have not given the older people a chance to include you in the activities of the church and so introduce you to younger people. Through athletics, music, study of some kind, public work or the Parent-Teachers' Association, you may have a chance to make friends and be with them, not alone in the capacity of mothers but in other vital ways. The question is, which ones of all these do you enjoy and which would you seek actively? Do not wait for them to seek you.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE THREE WONDERS OF LOCH LOMOND

Loch Lomond, considered the Queen of Scottish Lakes, was formerly celebrated for the presence in it of three wonders.

They were:

"Waves without wind," explained by the swell and roll of waters towards the head of the lake, caused by limited local gusts, while the shores remain calm.

"Fish without fins," explained by the belief that vipers used to swim in it from isle to isle.

"The Floating Island," a natural raft of timber, rushes and the like, which would occasionally appear in the Loch.

EVERYDAY RELIGION

Put Yourself Together

By DR. JOSEPH FORT NEWTON

A YOUNG man writes me that he seems unable to put his life together, and make it fit. It is like a jig-saw puzzle and he cannot work it. Or, rather, it is like two such puzzles jumbled up. The pieces are of all sorts and do not go together at all.

Do not be discouraged, my friend. Life is like that until we find ourselves. Youth is not the happiest time of life. It is vivid but seldom happy, save in spots. After a while—suddenly perhaps—things will click together, and you will wonder why you were worried.

It takes time, tact, patience, and we must keep trying. A man takes stock of himself, as you have done, and finds that he is pulled in many directions by conflicting desires. He resolves to bring unity into his life, bring it to a focus, and sets out to do it. But, no sooner does he get started than it comes unstuck, and he loses heart.

Bojer has a story of such a man, a lovable fellow, too. He tried all kinds of leads, startling his friends half out of their wits. Now he was a high-up, now a banker, now an actor, now a bum, and at last a prisoner in jail. He played many parts, finding in each a piece of himself he had not known before, but he could not make them fit.

At last, a great love picked up the pieces—as a magnet picks up filings—put them together, and made him a man. A great purpose will do it, some plan, some design, some pattern to work to. Sometimes it is not done suddenly, but slowly. In religion it is called conversion; but the name does not matter—only the fact counts.

Anyway, it is a spiritual experience, no matter what form it takes. Of a young man Jesus said, "He came to himself," and he went home from a far country. He was no longer simply a person, but a personality, an integrated being, as our modern jargon puts it.

It is when we find ourselves—our real, true self, not the shabby, shadowy thing we mistake for it—that we emerge from our own confusion, and find unity of life. It will be yours, if you work for it.

be quite all right to send for Mr. McNabb and ask him who the leaders are. The Judge says he thinks it would be all right. If Mr. McNabb had said he knew some half-starved poor devil, who stole a loaf of bread or an overcoat, the police would have asked "who is it?" and would have had the man in jail an hour later.

We are probably a little nearer to so-called "inflation," which would mean making dollars more plentiful.

Since putting the dollar off the gold basis has cut its value by 25 per cent in the markets of the world, it would be only reasonable to increase the number of dollars by 25 per cent.

Yesterday the dollar dropped, and stocks and grains went up, wheat bouncing around like a rubber ball. The rule forbids wheat to drop more than 5 cents a bushel in any one day, which is, in the opinion of grain speculators, something like having a fireman holding a net under you while you are balancing on the window ledge.

It's a new thing to know the worst that can happen in 24 hours.

The picnic basket should be large enough to hold the food without crushing it.

LISTEN, WORLD!

Should All Movies Be Made "Fit for Children?"

HOW about the movies? Do they "poison our children?" Give them false ideas of life . . . start them on the road to ruin?

And should we have laws making movies safe for the youngsters?

Here's a mother who thinks they do — and we should. And no matter how hot it is, there's a letter that will make you sit up and think . . . and then grab the old pen in reply.

Dear Miss Robinson—

I wonder if you wouldn't say something about the terrible movies that are put out, to make gangsters, or worse, of our youngsters. In fact, it seems to me the duty of all decent people to do something about this question.

On every side, you see pictures put out with no regard whatever for what innocent children may get out of them. I think it is an outrage. Silly love escapades . . . pictures about thugs and other undesirable people . . . scenes of drinking and carousing . . . divorce, broken marriages, unfaithful wives and husbands . . . they sweep in a lawless tide through the theaters of our land.

I live in a community where there are a lot of children. Mine are grown up now, so I'm not speaking for myself. They grew up before the movie craze hit this country. I don't have to worry about them. But the children of my younger neighbors flock to the neighborhood movie all the time, and I'm telling the world that some of the things they see are totally unfit for childish minds to come in contact with.

I think the laws of this land should be tightened up, in justice to our innocent youngsters, so that producers would be compelled to clean up their stories and put out decent ones.

I hope you will publish this letter. I know a great many people agree with me that movies are a menace to our children, and we should fight to clean them up.

MRS. K. MORTON.

Some truth to that? Yes. There are scores of silly films—trashy, vulgar, downright vicious pictures—which aren't good medicine for adults, much less for youngsters. And every public spirited organization in the country should take up the cudgels against such exhibitions.

But—

Does that mean that everything should be prettied up to conform to the needs of the Dear Little Children? Does it mean that Hollywood should be compelled to go lollipop, so's Junior and Sister won't get naughty notions?

It certainly does NOT!

Movies are primarily an adult amusement, and there are countless topics which are perfectly fit for a juvenile audience. For example, there's that magnificent stage play—"Rain." If "Rain" came to your village theater, would you take the little folks to see it? Of course you wouldn't. The very idea is shocking. That play wouldn't hurt YOU—might even be good for you. But for children? NEVER!

YET WHEN IT COMES TO THE SCREEN, DO YOU, AS A PARENT, THINK TWICE BEFORE HANDING LITTLE JOHNNY HIS DAILY DIME?

Chances are you don't. And if you do, there are a thousand other mothers who say—"Yes, darling, run along"—not even bothering to discover whether the picture is Alice in Wonderland or a Hotcha Gangland Carousal.

So I'm all for agreeing that "there oughta be a law"—

BUT INSTEAD OF PUTTING THE COOKIE CUTTER ON THE FLICKERS HOW ABOUT RIDING HERD ON FOOL PARENTS AND MAKING THEM RESPONSIBLE FOR THEIR CHILDREN'S PLAY HOURS AS WELL AS THEIR STUDY HOURS?

Time was when parents were supposed to have a job and WORK AT IT. And if they didn't, the whole community landed—pronto!—on their necks. But nowadays ma "can't be bothered." And if little Willie—having graduated from gangster films—eventually spends a dozen years in the Big House, eating on the tax payers' money . . . why that's just the tax payers' bad luck!

HOW ABOUT MAKING IT THE PARENTS' BAD LUCK?

Or are you one of those who believe that family cares mustn't be allowed to cramp Mama's style?

At which point, if this hasn't become a Free-for-all, it should. So open the door and let 'em in.

You've had ideas about the movies—here's your chance to air them.

WHAT, IF ANYTHING, SHOULD BE DONE ABOUT 'EM?

SHOULD THEY ALL BE MADE "FIT FOR CHILDREN?"

OR SHOULD THERE BE A STRICTER CENSORSHIP, WITH CHILDREN EXCLUDED FROM CERTAIN FILMS?

Miscellaneous

Dear Mrs. Post:

I LIVE in a four-room apartment for which I pay between [illegible] teen hundred and fourteen hundred dollars a year rent. We have a doorman, day and night elevator boys, a handyman and two boys for the service elevator. I never ask any special favor of any of these men and use their services only for daily trips in and out of the building. Must I tip them all or just those who are on duty when I usually go in and out, and how much should I tip, if at all?

EMILY POST

Answer: I should think that you would give each one of the [illegible] from 50 cents a month and [illegible] additional at Christmas time regardless of whether you use the [illegible]. In fact, they serve you whether they come in contact with you or not. For example, the back elevator may very well make half a dozen trips with market baskets and other packages, to the front [illegible] one. The doorman probably [illegible] your mail, takes messages [illegible] opens the door for you, or whatever there is for him to do. But naturally you should tip whomever [illegible] whatever much you think best.

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it true the wedding anniversary gifts are exchanged only by the husband and wife celebrating the event? I was under the impression that anyone could give them such a present until a friend of mine told me I was wrong.

Answer: People don't as a rule give anniversary presents except at one of the special anniversaries such as one year—paper; five years—wood; 10 years—tin; 15 years—crystal; 20 years—china; 25 years—silver, and 50—gold. The presents given at all these wedding anniversaries are supposed to be of the material specified. But there is no reason why you should not give a present whenever you feel like it.

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I often take two friends of ours (unmarried girls) out for a drive. How should we sit in the car?

Answer: One in front with him, the other in back with you, or both in back with you. You cannot very well sit with him and let them sit alone, unless you are going a long distance and you are used to giving him road map directions.

Why Can't You Wash Your Hair Clean?
Why don't ordinary washing cleanse your hair thoroughly? It's because your hair is composed of little scales like the shingles on a roof. The dirt gets under and around these scales. An ordinary washing can't possibly dislodge the dirt. It takes a scientific oil shampoo to do it.
Mar-O-Oil is a combination of pure vegetable oils—thoroughly processed to be soluble in plain, warm water. Mar-O-Oil contains no soap, free alkali, or caustic irritants. Mar-O-Oil dissolves the grime on the hair shaft. It dislodges the greasy crust on the scalp. It brings out the hidden beauty of your hair and brings light and air to your scalp. Mar-O-Oil Shampoo leaves your hair soft and brilliant. Its gentle oils seep below the surface of your scalp and nourish your hair at its roots. That's why it preserves its beauty.
Use Mar-O-Oil for children's and adults' hair. Use it for natural, tinted or dyed hair; for marcelled or permanently waved hair.

JUST ANOTHER WORRIED.

To your first question I will tell you of a little plan, which seems to work out well between two quick-tempered people, so that they do not spout fire at the same time and thus make a conflagration. Agree that you will not both be angry at the same time. If the boy begins to flash a danger signal, let it burn out before you say anything. You can think, as hard as you please: "You just wait young man 'til some time when you are cooled down, and I'll show you how I can fly up and burst."

The chances are, that when you have the opportunity, your ire will have cooled and you never will fly up and burst on this particular subject. Make that agreement now and try it out before you are married. If it doesn't work out, it is not likely to after marriage.

Usually when people are quick to wrath, it is about some trouble which can be avoided, makes unnecessary breaches and brings remorse and heart-burning where there should have been happiness and congeniality—and all to no good.

So, before you set the day, if you think you have time to wait, make a test of each other. If the boy is well situated and you are old enough it would be best not to wait too long.

No, hope chests are not bad luck.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

I AM a girl 15 years old and very poor. I have finished high school and am working at present.

I am very much in love with a young man 23 and he is also very fond of me. We wish to get married, as he has a good job and I feel that it would not be doing anybody a great harm. But my parents do not think I'm old enough to know my own mind. What is your opinion? BROWN EYES.

I really agree with your parents. Suppose you postpone the idea for a year—we'll say that long, at least. And then, if you are of the same mind, write me again. At least postponing it will not do anyone a great harm, and it may do a good deal of good; in that it will give you more time and money to prepare yourself, and a better insight into human nature and into married life.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

WILL you kindly help me solve this problem? It is one of the most difficult I have ever known in all my 38 years; that of trying to help a friend, to cure a broken heart of one of the dearest, most loyal persons God ever made.

This woman and I have enjoyed a true friendship for 22 years, and in all that time, I have never seen her as she is today—crushed and broken.

Eight months ago, the man she was engaged to marry suddenly cast her aside for another woman, after they had gone together eight years. Even after he lost his position, she was content to spend evenings at home, pay expenses of trips in his car, entertain his friends at her home—all in the name of love.

When he said he was through, the shock was too much for her. She will say nothing and will not hear his name mentioned. Her doctor told me, confidentially, that unless a change takes place soon, she will die of grief. My fiance and I have introduced her to people and taken her everywhere—she is as beautiful as she is sweet, too. She just smiles in her gracious way—Mrs. Carr, cannot you think of something to do for her? Gratefully yours,

IRENE.

Once in a long time, there is such a case, when no remedy or palliative avails. But there is generally hope of help if the person will plunge headlong into some kind of work—work that is so consuming that all thought and energy must be applied to keep it going. If she has ambitions, and is alert mentally, probably you can help her; not so much by trying to have her mix with people as inducing her to go into some kind of work.

Of course, if it is possible, the very best thing she can do, right now, is to get a change of scene—to go away, where people know neither her nor the man and where she will have to travel and hustle every minute.

The difficulty is, that a woman who is of the disposition to sit still and wait for a man eight years, a man who will accept her attentions and bounty, is not usually the type to change her mode of life quickly. But that is the only remedy I can see.

My dear Mrs. Carr:

I AM a young mother, 25 years old, with two children. I have been in this city for six years, and I venture to say that I am one of the loneliest mothers you could find. True I have my children and I am kept plenty busy, doing my own work, but oh, how I long for companionship my own age.

Last winter, and a while before that, we had different couples come to the house in the evenings. I always thought they enjoyed themselves—they said so. But we were never asked in return, although these same couples came back time and again. I always fixed tempting lunches which they most certainly enjoyed.

Times have been bad for us, and we have left off this entertaining now for about six months, and, as a result, we have heard from none of our so-called friends.

My husband has a very good education and is well liked. In my home town I was popular enough—I cannot understand just what it might be.

I would so love to know some couples our age, with children and something in common with ourselves. My ideas are not at all elaborate. I only long for a normal association with people. Through the different churches I've attended, I've never met anyone my own age.

Loneliness in a big city can be so discouraging and no companionship can make you SO BLUE.

You happened to find your "friends" among the wrong kind, evidently, and certainly you should make no effort to resume friendship with people of so little consideration and so lacking in the knowledge of politeness.

It may be that you've been so closely confined at home with your children that you have not cultivated other tastes, nor tried to be of assistance in the community life around you. Almost every one is busy doing definite things—even when they have a home and family. And since you have changed churches several times, possibly you have not given the older people a chance to include you in the activities of the church and so introduce you to younger people. Through athletics, music, study of some kind, public work or the Parent-Teachers' Association, you may have a chance to make friends and be with them, not alone in the capacity of mothers but in other vital ways. The question is, which ones of all these do you enjoy and which would you seek actively? Do not wait for them to seek you.

Letters intended for this column must be addressed to Martha Carr at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Carr will answer all questions of general interest but, of course, cannot give advice on matters of a purely legal or medical nature. Those who do not care to have their letters published may enclose an addressed and stamped envelope for personal reply.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE THREE WONDERS OF LOCH LOMOND

Loch Lomond, considered the Queen of Scottish Lakes, was formerly celebrated for the presence in it of three wonders.

They were:

"Waves without wind," explained by the swell and roll of waters towards the head of the lake, caused by limited local gusts, while the shores remain calm.

"Fish without fins," explained by the belief that vipers used to swim in it from isle to isle.

"The Floating Island," a natural raft of timber, rushes and the like, which would occasionally appear in the Loch.

EVERYDAY RELIGION

By DR. JOSEPH FORT NEWTON

A YOUNG man writes me that he seems unable to put his life together, and make it fit. It is like a jig-saw puzzle and he cannot work it. Or, rather, it is like two such puzzles jumbled up. The pieces are of all sorts and do not go together at all.

Do not be discouraged, my friend. Life is like that until we find ourselves. Youth is not the happiest time of life. It is vivid but seldom happy, save in spots. After a while—suddenly perhaps—things will click together, and you will wonder why you were worried.

It takes time, tact, patience, and we must keep trying. A man takes stock of himself, as you have done, and finds that he is pulled in many directions by conflicting desires. He resolves to bring unity into his life, bring it to a focus, and sets out to do it. But, no sooner does he get started than it comes unstuck, and he loses heart.

Bojer has a story of such a man, a lovable fellow, too. He tried all kinds of leads, starting his friends half out of their wits. Now he was a bishop, now a banker, now an actor, now a bum, and at last a prisoner in jail. He played many parts, finding in each a piece of himself he had not known before, but he could not make them fit.

At last, a great love picked up the pieces—as a magnet picks up filings—put them together, and made him a man. A great purpose will do it, some plan, some design, some pattern to work to. Sometimes it is not done suddenly, but slowly. In religion it is called conversion; but the name does not matter—only the fact counts.

Anyway, it is a spiritual experience, no matter what form it takes. Of a young man Jesus said, "He came to himself," and he went home from a far country. He was no longer simply a person, but a personality, an integrated being, as our modern jargon puts it.

It is when we find ourselves—our real, true self, not the shabby, shadowy thing we mistake for it—that we emerge from our own confusion, and find unity of life. It will be yours, if you work for it.

be quite all right to send for Mr. Medalie and ask him who the leaders are. The Judge says he thinks it would be all right. If Mr. Medalie had said he knew some half-starved poor devil, who stole a loaf of bread or an overcoat, the police would have asked "who is it?" and would have had the man in jail an hour later.

We are probably a little nearer to so-called "inflation," which would mean making dollars more plentiful.

Since putting the dollar off the gold basis has cut its value by 25 per cent in the markets of the world, it would be only reasonable to increase the number of dollars by 25 per cent.

Yesterday the dollar dropped, and stocks and grains went up, wheat bouncing around like a rubber ball. The rule forbids wheat to drop more than 5 cents a bushel in any one day, which is, in the opinion of grain speculators, something like having a fireman holding a net under you while you are balancing on the window ledge.

It's a new thing to know the worst that can happen in 24 hours.

LISTEN, WORLD!

by Elsie Robinson

Should All Movies Be Made "Fit for Children?"

HOW about the movies? Do they "poison our children?" Give them false ideas of life . . . start them on the road to ruin?

ELSIE ROBINSON

And should we have laws making movies safe for the youngsters?

Here's a mother who thinks they do — and we should. And no matter how hot it is, there's a letter that will make you sit up and think . . . and then grab the old pen in reply.

Dear Miss Robinson—

I wonder if you wouldn't say something about the terrible movies that are put out, to make gangsters, or worse, of our youngsters. In fact, it seems to me the duty of all decent people to do something about this question.

On every side, you see pictures put out with no regard whatever for what innocent children may get out of them. I think it is an outrage. Silly love escapades . . . pictures about thugs and other undesirable people . . . scenes of drinking and carousing . . . divorce, broken marriages, unfaithful wives and husbands . . . they sweep in a lawless tide through the theaters of our land.

I live in a community where there are a lot of children. Mine are grown up now, so I'm not speaking for myself. They grew up before the movie craze hit this country. I don't have to worry about them. But the children of my younger neighbors flock to the neighborhood movie all the time, and I'm telling the world that some of the things they see are totally unfit for childish minds to come in contact with.

I think the laws of this land should be tightened up, in justice to our innocent youngsters, so that producers would be compelled to clean up their stories and put out decent ones.

I hope you will publish this letter. I know a great many people agree with me that movies are a menace to our children, and we should fight to clean them up.

MRS. K. MORTON.

Some truth to that? Yes. There are scores of silly films—trashy, vulgar, downright vicious pictures—which aren't good medicine for adults, much less for youngsters. And every public spirited organization in the country should take up the cudgels against such exhibitions.

But—

Does that mean that everything should be prettied up to conform to the needs of the Dear Little Children? Does it mean that Hollywood should be compelled to go lollipop, so's Junior and Sister won't get naughty notions?

It certainly does NOT!

Movies are primarily an adult amusement, and there are countless topics which are perfectly fit for a juvenile audience. For example, there's that magnificent stage play—"Rain." If "Rain" came to your village theater, would you take the little folks to see it? Of course you wouldn't. The very idea is shocking. That play wouldn't hurt YOU—might even be good for you. But for children? NEVER!

YET WHEN IT COMES TO THE SCREEN, DO YOU, AS A PARENT, THINK TWICE BEFORE HANDING LITTLE JOHNNY HIS DAILY DIME?

Chances are you don't. And if you do, there are a thousand other mothers who say—"Yes, darling, run along"—not even bothering to discover whether the picture is Alice in Wonderland or a Hotcha Gangland Carousal.

So I'm all for agreeing that "there oughta be a law"—

BUT INSTEAD OF PUTTING THE COOKIE CUTTER ON THE FLICKERS HOW ABOUT RIDING HERD ON FOOL PARENTS AND MAKING THEM RESPONSIBLE FOR THEIR CHILDREN'S PLAY HOURS AS WELL AS THEIR STUDY HOURS?

Time was when parents were supposed to have a job and WORK AT IT. And if they didn't, the whole community landed—pronto!—on their necks. But nowadays—ma "can't be bothered." And if little Willie—having graduated from gangster films—eventually spends a dozen years in the Big House, eating on the tax payers' money . . . why that's just the tax payers' bad luck!

HOW ABOUT MAKING IT THE PARENTS' BAD LUCK?

Or are you one of those who believe that family cares mustn't be allowed to cramp Mama's style?

At which point, if this hasn't become a Free-for-all, it should. So open the door and let 'em in.

You've had ideas about the movies—here's your chance to air them.

WHAT, IF ANYTHING, SHOULD BE DONE ABOUT 'EM?

SHOULD THEY ALL BE MADE "FIT FOR CHILDREN?"

OR SHOULD THERE BE A STRICTER CENSORSHIP, WITH CHILDREN EXCLUDED FROM CERTAIN FILMS?

Dear Mrs. Post:

I LIVE in a four-room apartment for which I pay between thirteen hundred and fourteen hundrew dollars a year rent. We have a doorman, day and night elevator boys, a handyman and two boys for the service elevator. I never ask any special favors of any of these men and use their services only for daily trips in and out of the building. Must I tip them all or just those who are on duty when I usually go in and out, and how much should I tip, if at all?

EMILY POST

Answer: I should think that you would give each one of the six men 50 cents a month and $2 apiece additional at Christmas time, regardless of whether you use their services. In fact, they serve you whether they come in contact with you or not. For example, the back elevator may very well make half a dozen trips with market items and other packages, to the front man's one. The doorman probably sorts your mail, takes messages and opens the door for you, or whatever there is for him to do. But naturally you should tip whomever and however much you think best.

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it true that wedding anniversary gifts are exchanged only by the husband and wife celebrating the event? I was under the impression that anyone could give them such a present until a friend of mine told me I was wrong.

Answer: People don't as a rule give anniversary presents except on one of the special anniversaries such as one year—paper; five years—wood; 10 years—tin; 15 years—crystal; 20 years—china; 25 years—silver, and 50—gold. The presents given at all these wedding anniversaries are supposed to be of the material specified. But there is no reason why you should not give a present whenever you feel like it.

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I often take two friends of mine (unmarried girls) out for a drive. How should we sit in the car?

Answer: One in front with him, the other in the back with you; or both in back with you. You cannot very well sit with him and let them sit alone, unless you are going a long distance and you are used to giving him road map directions.

Why Can't You Wash Your Hair Clean?

Why don't ordinary washing cleanse your hair thoroughly? It's because your hair is composed of little scales, like the shingles on a roof. The dirt gets under and around those scales. An ordinary washing can't possibly dislodge the dirt. It takes a scientific oil shampoo to do it.

Mar-O-Oil is a combination of pure vegetable oils—thoroughly processed to be soluble in plain, warm water. Mar-O-Oil contains no soap, free alkali, or caustic irritants. Mar-O-Oil dissolves the grime on the hair shaft. It dislodges the greasy crust on the scalp. It brings out the hidden beauty of your hair and brings light and air to your scalp. Mar-O-Oil Shampoo leaves your hair soft and brilliant. Its gentle oils seep below the surface of your scalp and nourish your hair at its roots. That's why it preserves its beauty.

Use Mar-O-Oil for children's and adults' hair. Use it for natural, tinted or dyed hair; for marcelled or permanently waved hair.

GET THIS SPECIAL COMBINATION OFFER:

60-cent bottle of Mar-O-Oil, plus 35-cent package of Trimal, the famous cuticle remover, for only 69 cents. Send top of Mar-O-Oil carton, with your name and address and receive FREE a dainty rubber bandeau. MAR-O-OIL, Chicago.

ome Sign-Off Situations

N recent articles we considered the following situation: A player ens in first or second position a bid of one in a suit—his tner responds with a one-over- ,and opening bidder's rebid is one no trump. At the time we noted that though this reply to the one-over-one is distinctly a signoff, it does throw a very considerable responsibility on the responding hand regarding his next bid, or indeed as to the decision whether to pass the no trump or to make a further bid. The opening bidder for the time being, the con- of the bidding to the respond- hand. It is now the duty of responder to show whether his -over-one was a minimum, in ich case he must either pass the trump or else, if his suit is long ugh weak, rebid his suit—a po- ve sign-off in reply to the open- sign-off. This rebid of the merely says: "The hand looks er to me in two of my suit than one no trump. My suit is long ugh to bear the brunt of trump even if you have only two all cards in it. At least, for the rpose of making two odd in it tead of one odd in no trumps. neither contract can be made, will be set less—at any rate, no re—in the suit."

HAL SIMS

Handed Over the Initiative

gh Speed Is Safe Only With Good Brakes.

Obviously, this bidding takes ce far more frequently after a rd hand opening bid than when partner has opened first or sec- hand; nevertheless at times simistic bidding must follow Sims opening bids made in first two positions. That is a y important point—we respond tly on the first round, but we ready to drop at the two level r at one no trump—when neith- partner can make a constructive id on the second opportunity.

Some Illustrative Responding Hands.

Let us assume that your partner ens in one of the first two posi- ns with a bid of one diamond, which you reply with a spade. now bids a no trump. What the chief considerations to de you for your next decision? Remembering always that by his trump rebid your partner has you that his hand is defensive pe so that you may trust him ree and a half primary tricks at least three plus some pro- tive intermediates, you will find fairly easy to estimate the play- potentialities of the 26 cards if say to yourself: "My partner s the high cards that his bid- g has indicated, but his distribu- n is not helpful—he has no long t. Can I supply the distribu- n which we need for the hand play well in a suit declaration? ling that, have I enough high ds to give us a play for game trumps? When your hand is tely weak, your concern is ter expressed thus: "Are we er in one no trump or in two des?"

en Responder's Suit Is of Four Cards Only.

If you made your one-over-one ponse on a four-card suit, you w know that there is no fit in t suit, and you cannot under any cumstances rebid it. Failing a cond bidable four-card suit, your oice is between passing and rais- to two no trumps. This raise uld be a very encouraging invi- ional bid—opener is strongly ged to raise to three; so you dare t raise in no trumps unless you nt him to play for game. Since partnership has no five-card in its 26 cards, I feel that when too, cannot rebid your suit be- it is a four-carder, you ld not raise to two no trumps less your hand were as good as

. K Q J x   Di. x x
. Q 9 x x   Cl. A 10 x

nferences and the Timing of the Hand.

If you had the king of your part- r's suit, diamonds, or Q x x, you ould bid two no trumps on a ghtly weaker hand, as now it is most a sure inference that there four tricks in his suit without sse, so that there is little fear e must surrender the lead to opponents in the process of king up the tricks available in own suit. With

. K Q 10 x   Di. K x
. J 9 x x   Cl. Q 10 x

would after one diamond, one de by me, one no trump, raise two no trumps, feeling that if partner now goes three, as I pect him to, we will presumably ve a fair play for it. He must ve two primary tricks outside his amond holding. If this par- cular hand is defeated it will be ly by one trick—at most two— d in the long run we will secure any games by bidding short- ited hands in this manner. On lance, the chances are greatly in r favor. That is one great ad- ntage to be derived from making ening bids by "type of hand," not ely by a count of primary tricks.

Answer: People don't as a rule ive anniversary presents except on ne of the special anniversaries uch as one year—paper; five years —wood; 10 years—tin; 15 years—rystal; 20 years—china; 25 years—ilver, and 50—gold. The presents iven at all these wedding anniversaries are supposed to be of the material specified. But there is no reason why you should not give a present whenever you feel like it.

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and often take two friends of mine unmarried girls) out for a drive. How should we sit in the car?

Answer: One in front with him, he other in the back with you; r both in back with you. You annot very well sit with him and et them sit alone, unless you are oing a long distance and you are sed to giving him road map directions.

ome Sign-Off Situations

N recent articles we considered the following situation: A player ens in first or second position a bid of one in a suit—his rtner responds with a one-over-e and opening bidder's rebid is one no trump. At the time we noted that though this reply to the one-over-one is distinctly a signoff, it does throw a very considerable responsibility on the responding hand regarding his next bid, or indeed as to the decision whether to pass the no trump or to make a further bid. The opening bidder s in fact

HAL SIMS

d, for the time being, the conl of the bidding to the respond- hand. It is now the duty of responder to show whether his e-over-one was a minimum, in ich case he must either pass the trump or else, if his suit is long ugh weak, rebid his suit—a pove sign-off in reply to the opens sign-off. This rebid of the t merely says: "The hand looks er to me in two of my suit than one no trump. My suit is long ugh to bear the brunt of trump even if you have only two ll cards in it. At least, for the rpose of making two odd in it tead of one odd in no trumps. neither contract can be made, will be set less—at any rate, no re—in the suit."

gh Speed Is Safe Only With Good Brakes.

Obviously, this bidding takes ce far more frequently after a rd hand opening bid than when partner has opened first or sec hand; nevertheless at times imistic bidding must follow Sims opening bids made in first two positions. That is a y important point—we respond tly on the first round, but we ready to drop at the two level at one no trump—when neith- partner can make a constructive bid on the second opportunity.

Some Illustrative Responding Hands.

Let us assume that your partner ens in one of the first two posins with a bid of one diamond, which you reply with a spade. now bids a no trump. What the chief considerations to ide you for your next decision?

Remembering always that by his trump rebid your partner has you that his hand is defensive pe so that you may trust him ree and a half primary tricks at least three plus some protive intermediates, you will find fairly easy to estimate the playpotentalities of the 26 cards if say to yourself: "My partner the high cards that his bidg has indicated, but his distribun is not helpful—he has no long t. Can I supply the distribun which we need for the hand play well in a suit declaration? ing that, have I enough high to give us a play for game trumps? When your hand is tely weak, your concern is er expressed thus: "Are we r in one no trump or in two des?"

en Responder's Suit Is of Four Cards Only.

f you made your one-over-one ponse on a four-card suit, you know that there is no fit in t suit, and you cannot under any cumstances rebid it. Failing a cond bidable four-card suit, your oice is between passing and rais- to two no trumps. This raise uld be a very encouraging invitional bid—opener is strongly ged to raise to three; so you dare raise in no trumps unless you t him to play for game. Since partnership has no five-card in its 26 cards, I feel that when too, cannot rebid your suit be- it is a four-carder, you ld not raise to two no trumps ess your hand were as good as

K Q J x Di. x x
Q 9 x x Cl. A 10 x

With less than this you would ve to pass the no trump.

nferences and the Timing of the Hand.

If you had the king of your partr's suit, diamonds, or Q x x, you uld bid two no trumps on a ghtly weaker hand, as now it is ost a sure inference that there four tricks in his suit without esse, so that there is little fear e must surrender the lead to opponents in the process of king up the tricks available in own suit. With

K Q 10 x Di. K x
J 9 x x Cl. Q 10 x

would after one diamond, one de by me, one no trump, raise two no trumps, feeling that if partner now goes three, as I pect him to, we will presumably ve a fair play for it. He must ve two primary tricks outside his mond holding. If this parular hand is defeated it will be y by one trick—at most two— in the long run we will secure ny games by bidding shortted hands in this manner. On ance, the chances are greatly in favor. That is one great adtage to be derived from making ning bids by "type of hand," not ely by a count of primary tricks.

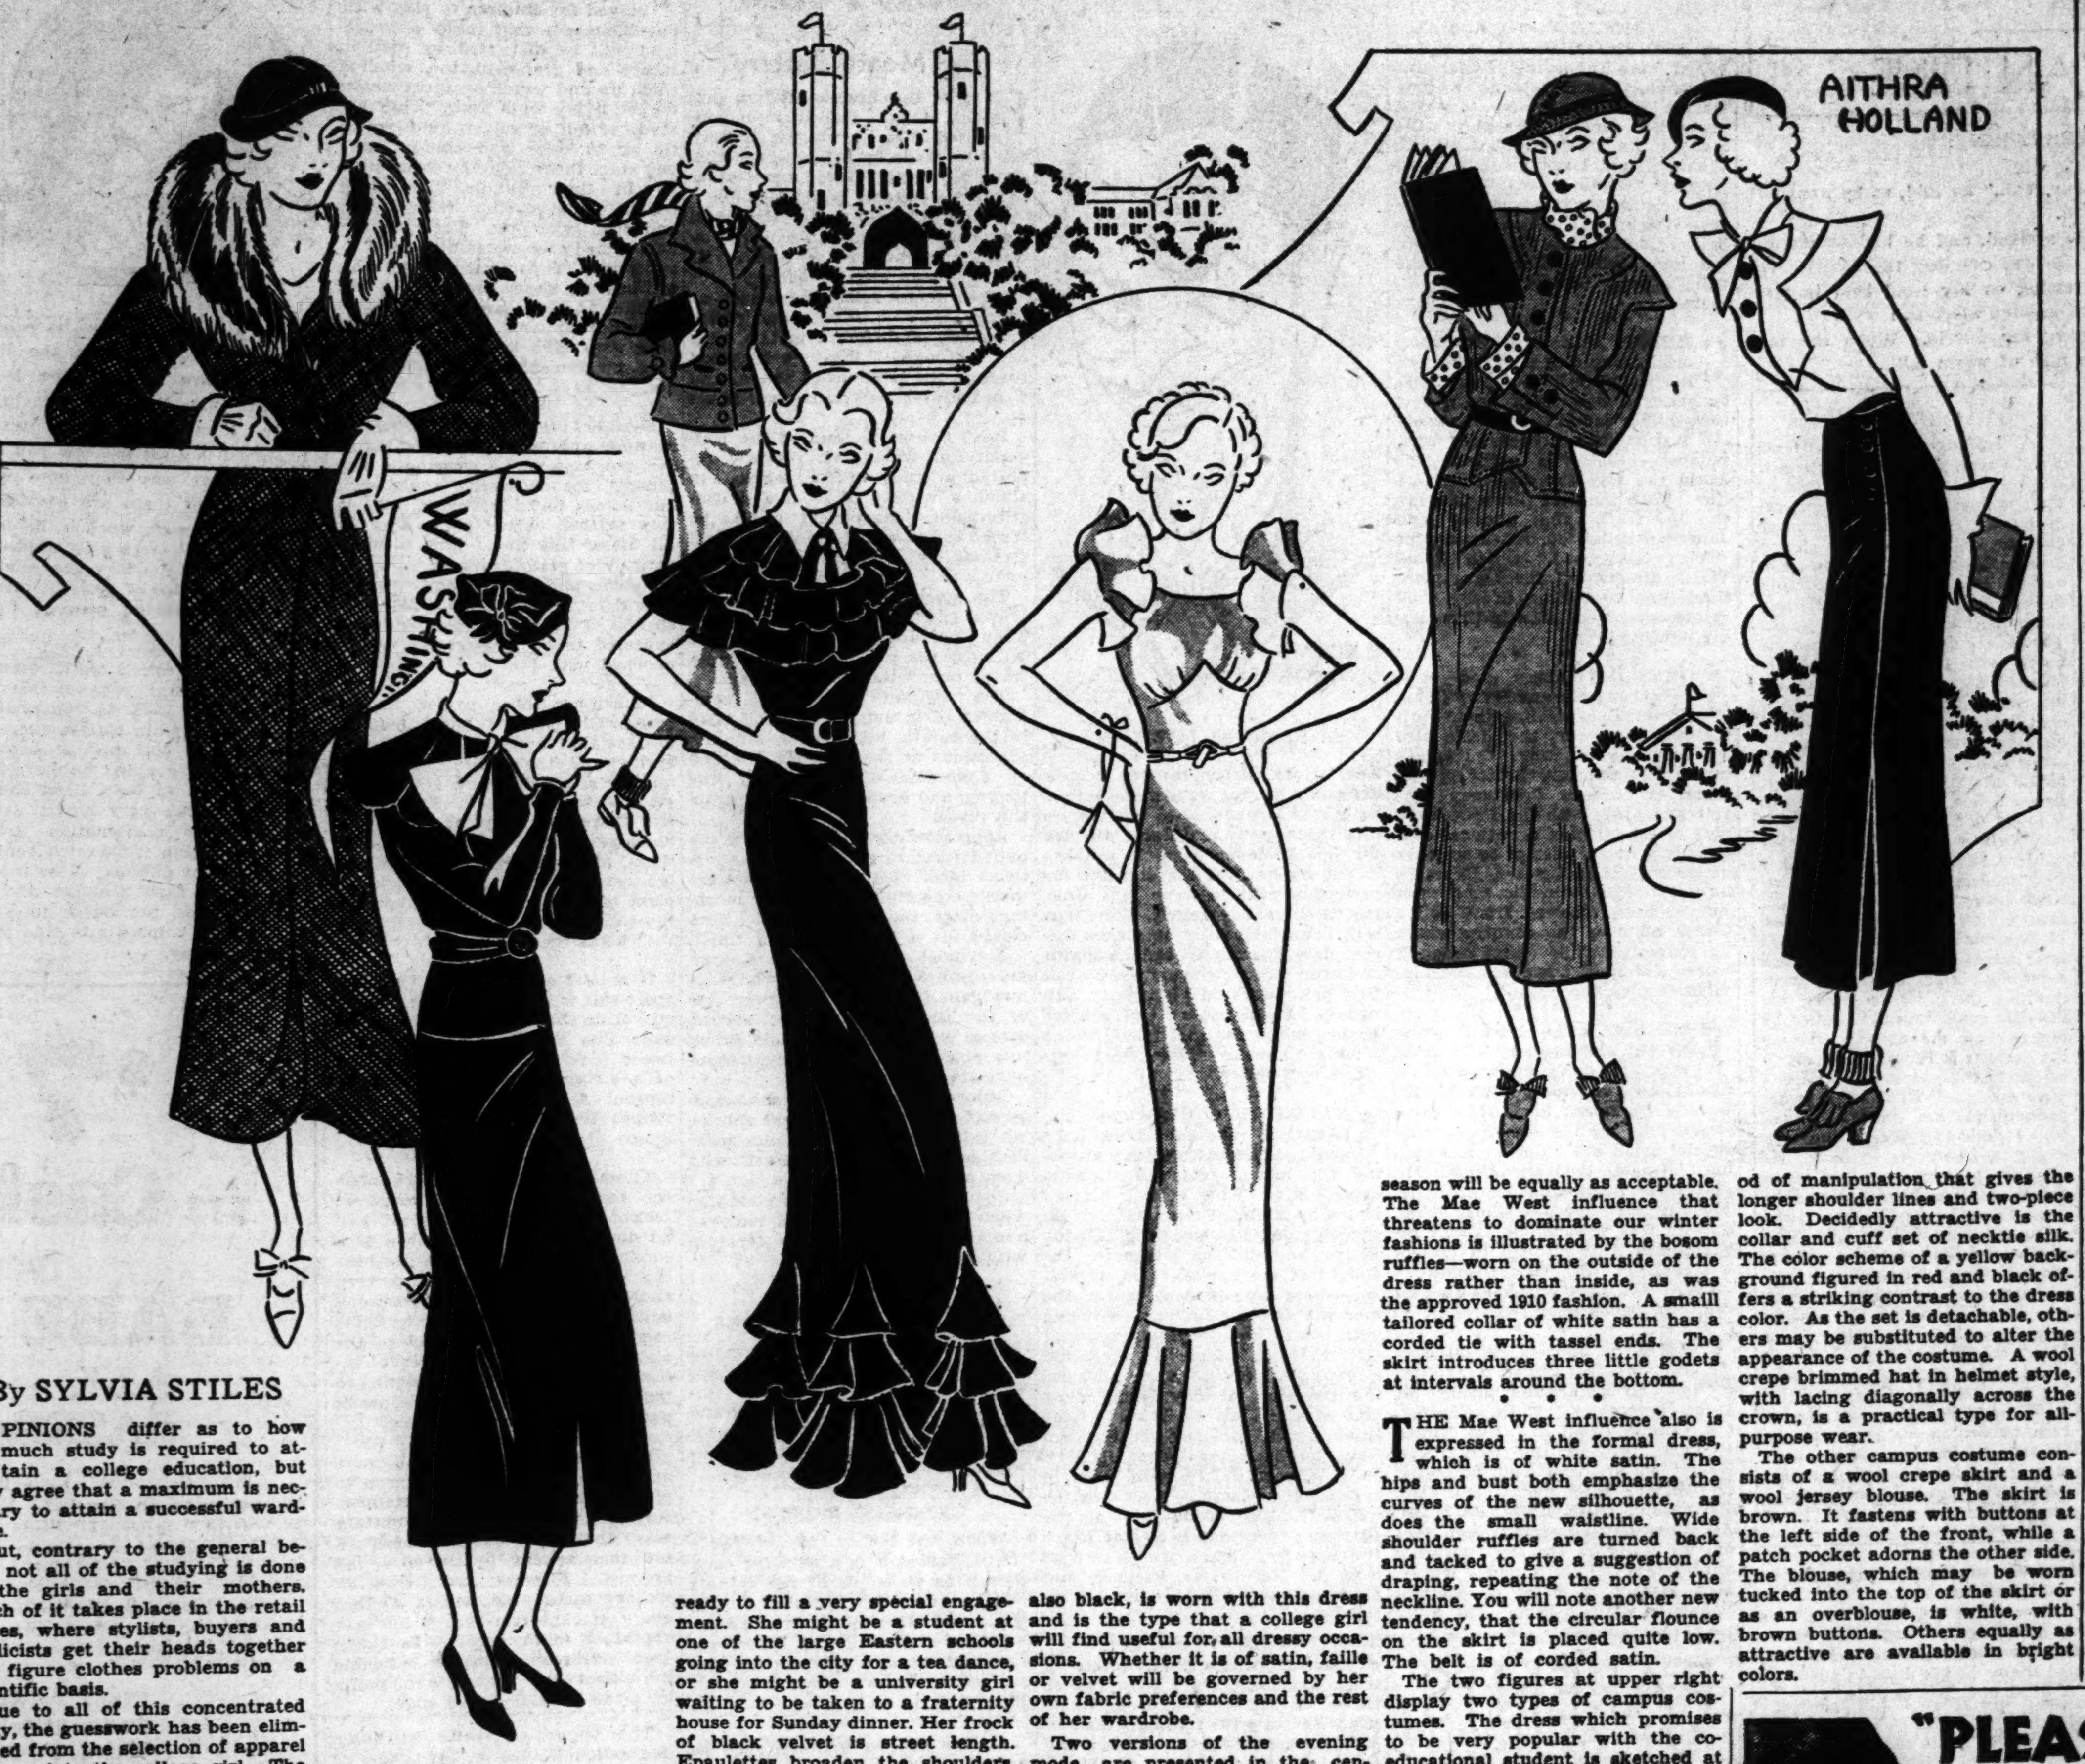
THE COLLEGE GIRL AND HER CAMPUS WARDROBE

Sketches of Styles Designed to Suit Special and General Needs



By SYLVIA STILES

OPINIONS differ as to how much study is required to attain a college education, but they agree that a maximum is necessary to attain a successful wardrobe.

But, contrary to the general belief, not all of the studying is done by the girls and their mothers. Much of it takes place in the retail stores, where stylists, buyers and publicists get their heads together and figure clothes problems on a scientific basis.

Due to all of this concentrated study, the guesswork has been eliminated from the selection of apparel to appeal to the college girl. The clothes that the soon-to-be-freshman and the budding upper classman see in their favorite shops are not there because some retail executive happened to like them. They are there because the store learned through a specialized course of study that college girls will need them.

Retailers have different methods of attaining this learned viewpoint. Some invite students from representative schools to view their purchases before they are exhibited to the public and to choose the ones that they like best. Others engage the services of college girls during the August selling period in order that they may give advice as well as selling talk. Interviews with college girls before many purchases are made prove a safe method of approach.

Long before many girls know for certain that the family finances will permit a year at college, the retailers are busy planning college wardrobes. The stylist of one St. Louis store, for example, spent many hours this summer talking with girls who are students at leading Eastern schools and popular Middle Western universities and colleges to find out exactly what they need and why they need it. The results of her survey give the basis of a carefully planned wardrobe.

NEEDS vary owing to the differences in climate and in the types of schools. While the girl who is going to a co-educational school, for example, will be much concerned over the type of clothes she wears to the classroom, the one attending a girls' college will be satisfied to appear in her oldest sweaters and skirts. The university girl wants trim woolen dresses and smart Cuban-heeled shoes for classrooms. She may even want a jaunty-looking hat. The difference is that one is on parade before the opposite sex during the day and the other one isn't.

Dating clothes also differ according to schools, it was learned from this survey. Often the university girl's dating clothes aren't so elaborate as those of the girl who gets dressed up mostly on week-ends, because the "co-ed" must be dressed in good taste anyway. She never knows when that handsome chap who sits across from her in her 9 o'clock French class may ask her to "jelly" with him. (In case you aren't familiar with that word you may be interested in knowing that it is the favorite term at the University of Missouri and other nearby co-educational schools for a brief date, usually between classes, when a 5 cent beverage is sipped in a popular collegiate "jellying" place).

The student at the girls' college may wear a sweater and skirt to class but she wants a good-looking suit or a handsome fur coat for football games and she wants several attractive dresses of street length for those Saturdays when she goes to the city to a tea dance or to attend a matinee. Both types of students are concerned about their evening clothes, both formal and informal. The university girl probably will get more early fall service from hers as she will from her new dressy daytime clothes because of those rush week activities she soon will attend.

CERTAIN items of apparel may be classed as universal because they are wanted and needed, regardless of the school. These include: A suede coat or other leather jacket, a rain coat, a coat of the polo type (preferably dark this season), twin sweaters, glove silk underwear because it is so easily laundered, a flannel robe, lounging pajamas of the tailored type, tailored broadcloth sleeping pajamas, and boudoir slippers with heels (no mules wanted).

The clothes selected to sketch are of the type that all college girls will need, regardless of the school they have chosen as their alma mater. The girl appearing at upper left seems to be attending the first football game of the season and judging from her appearance a player might have difficulty in keeping his eye on the ball. She is wearing a brown tweed suit purchased with the full approval of her mother who appreciated its practical qualities. The coat is full length and therefore will be called into extra service with classroom dresses. The waistline is nipped in slightly in the approved manner this season and a suede belt adds a certain swagger note. Buttons are of decorative interest as they have a buckle trimming. The large collar is of raccoon, the ideal fur for every day wear with tweed. You can't see the skirt because the coat is closed but it is very straight of line in spite of its one side pleat. A brimmed felt hat with wrapped crown is worn with this suit. In the background appears a girl in a suede coat that uses straps and buckles to lash it close to her figure.

At the lower left is a college girl ready to fill a very special engagement. She might be a student at one of the large Eastern schools going into the city for a tea dance, or she might be a university girl waiting to be taken to a fraternity house for Sunday dinner. Her frock of black velvet is street length. Epaulettes broaden the shoulders. They are cut in sections and connected with inserts of pink silk pique, which also forms the big bow at the neckline. The skirt has a yoke effect. A little tricorne hat, also black, is worn with this dress and is the type that a college girl will find useful for all dressy occasions. Whether it is of satin, faille or velvet will be governed by her own fabric preferences and the rest of her wardrobe.

Two versions of the evening mode are presented in the center group. The Sunday night type of frock for informal occasions is sketched at left. This happens to be of black faille, but any of the rich, deep colors so popular this season will be equally as acceptable. The Mae West influence that threatens to dominate our winter fashions is illustrated by the bosom ruffles—worn on the outside of the dress rather than inside, as was the approved 1910 fashion. A smaill tailored collar of white satin has a corded tie with tassel ends. The skirt introduces three little godets at intervals around the bottom.

THE Mae West influence also is expressed in the formal dress, which is of white satin. The hips and bust both emphasize the curves of the new silhouette, as does the small waistline. Wide shoulder ruffles are turned back and tacked to give a suggestion of draping, repeating the note of the neckline. You will note another new tendency, that the circular flounce on the skirt is placed quite low. The belt is of corded satin.

The two figures at upper right display two types of campus costumes. The dress which promises to be very popular with the co-educational student is sketched at left. This is of knitted wool in a deep shade of red. The fabric has a ribbed weave which suggests a self-toned pattern, and is made additionally interesting by the method of manipulation that gives the longer shoulder lines and two-piece look. Decidedly attractive is the collar and cuff set of necktie silk. The color scheme of a yellow background figured in red and black offers a striking contrast to the dress color. As the set is detachable, others may be substituted to alter the appearance of the costume. A wool crepe brimmed hat in helmet style, with lacing diagonally across the crown, is a practical type for all-purpose wear.

The other campus costume consists of a wool crepe skirt and a wool jersey blouse. The skirt is brown. It fastens with buttons at the left side of the front, while a patch pocket adorns the other side. The blouse, which may be worn tucked into the top of the skirt or as an overblouse, is white, with brown buttons. Others equally as attractive are available in bright colors.

The Storm

WE'RE in for a terrible storm," exclaimed Willy Nilly. "You'd better all stay here."

"I must go back to my shed and General Store," said Top Notch, the Rooster. "I've a number of things to do there, and I can make it before the rain begins."

"I don't like to have you go out in such a storm," said Willy Nilly nervously. "But if it starts to rain, get wet rather than take shelter under a tree. You know a tree attracts lightning and you might be struck."

"I'll be perfectly safe," said Top Notch, as he hurried off. In a few minutes it started to pour, and Top Notch had hardly gone any distance. Then came a crash that made Willy Nilly rush to his front window in fear.

"Oh, oh, oh," he said brokenly, "I knew that something had been struck just then. Oh dear, oh dear, I should never have let him go. He hated to get wet and he probably thought my advice was foolish. I shouldn't have let him go," Willy Nilly repeated, as tears streamed from his eyes.

"What's the matter?" the others shouted, as they rushed to the window to look.

Willy Nilly pointed to a crumpled looking heap under a tree.

"I'm afraid he has been struck by lightning," quacked Mrs. Quacko Duck to Mr. Quacko. Rip nodded. Willy Nilly was sobbing, but out into the rain they ran. There was Top Notch, lying on his back under the tree with his feet in the air. He did not move.

An S. S. Van-Dine Mystery

THE KENNEL MURDER CASE

By S. S. VAN DINE

SYNOPSIS

A baffling mystery confronts Philo Vance, amateur criminologist, when he is summoned because of the supposed suicide of an acquaintance, Archer Coe, collector of Chinese ceramics. Coe is found dead in his bedroom, with a revolver in his hand and a bullet wound in his head. He is in a dressing gown but wearing street shoes. Though the door is bolted from the inside and the windows tightly fastened, Vance pronounces it murder. Later it is found that Coe has been stabbed in the back, the wound bleeding internally and being the actual cause of his death. To complicate the mystery, Coe's brother, Brisbane Coe, with whom he lived, is found dead in a closet. Brisbane has been stabbed to death, the brothers having been slain with a Chinese dagger. A Scotch terrier, badly beaten, is found in the house, though the Coes did not like dogs. In Brisbane's pocket, Vance finds some waxed string, a bent pin and a darning needle. By cleverly manipulating these, Vance proves that the door could have been bolted by someone on the outside. Among the suspects is Raymond Wrede, a neighbor, engaged to Archer Coe's niece and ward, Hilda Lake, in opposition to her uncle's wishes. Vance finds that Wrede once had a dog, a Doberman Pinscher. He finds the present owner and learns that Wrede must have ill-treated the dog. Those in the Coe house who are questioned are Miss Lake, who admits ill-feeling between Archer Coe and herself, Signor Grassi, representative of an Italian museum, who has been Archer Coe's house guest; Gamble, the butler, and Liang, the Chinese cook. Vance is called up and informed that Grassi has been stabbed. Grassi did not see his mysterious assailant. He has been stabbed in the arm with the Chinese dagger. Liang, who claims to have heard nothing, suggests that maybe someone could have entered through the den window.

CHAPTER TWENTY-NINE.

VANCE rose early that morning.

"I'll be back in half an hour, Van," he said, as he went out, but gave no further explanation.

Fifteen minutes later Markham arrived, and he had waited but ten minutes when Vance came in. He was carrying the Scottish terrier in his arms. There was a dressing on her head held in place by adhesive tape, but otherwise she seemed alert and well.

He put the dog down and rang for Currie. When the man came he ordered Melba toast and a dish of warm milk.

"A little breakfast for the lass," he explained. "I've a feelin' she's going to do a bit of travelin' today."

"You still think you can trace the person we want through that dog?"

"It's about our only hope," Vance told him seriously.

"Just how do you intend to go about it?"

Vance studied the terrier for a few moments as he crumbled the Melba toast into the dish of milk.

"As I told you, Markham, this little dog is in perfect show condition. She's been trimmed and conditioned by an expert. She's a show dog, and her stripping is that of a professional handler. My guess is from her condition, that she's been shown within the last month. And it's simple enough to find what shows have been held within a reasonable radius of New York during that period."

He went into the library and returned with his file of Popular Dogs. Sitting down in his easy chair he placed the file across his knees and began running his finger down the calendar of official dog shows.

"Now, let's see," he murmured. "During the past month there has been held around New York the show at Syracuse—make of note of these, will you, Van? Then came the Cornwall show; and after that, Texedo. And a week later was the Camden show, which was followed by Westbury, and also the Englewood show."

"It sounds like shooting into the dark."

"You're right, to a certain extent," Vance agreed. "But there's a simple way of determining the dogs' ownership—and I shall try that first."

VANCE stood looking down at the bandaged Scottie as she ate her milk and toast.

"The more I see of her, Markham, the more I'm convinced that there are only about five men in this part of the country who could have done such a perfect job of trimming. It takes a profound knowledge of the Scottish terrier and long years of experience to produce a contour and a balance of coat like this one. William Prentice could have done it; and George Wimberly, and Jimmy McNab, and Ellery Burke, and Steve Parton."

Vance walked round the dog several times, studying her.

"Wimberly is in Boston, so we may eliminate him on the grounds of distance. McNab is working in a private capacity for a kennel on Long Island, and I hardly think he would qualify. Both Burke and Parton are fairly distant from New York, although they are certainly possibilities."

He knelt down and ran his hand over the contour of the dog's neck and lifted the hair along the spine. Then he stood up.

"William Prentice! That's the chap. That outline of the neck and the back has been achieved by a master hand, and there's no greater master at that in this country than Prentice. Furthermore, he's only a short distance from New York. . . . I think I'll try him first."

As soon as Markham had left us that morning, we drove to Mr. Prentice's Barlae Kennels at Haworth, N. J. Mr. Prentice, a middle-aged Scotsman with a dour demeanor, but a twinkle in his blue eyes, stepped out of the main kennel as we alighted from the car.

He took one look at the dog in Vance's arms.

"How d' ye do, Mr. Vance," was his greeting. (Vance had known him for years; Prentice had handled many of his dogs in the ring.) "A good one, yon Scottie."

"You know her then?" asked Vance eagerly.

"Ay."

"And you trimmed her?"

"Ay."

"And about how long ago might that be?"

"I couldna say exactly, but it was after the first of September."

"Whose Scottie is it?"

"That I couldna say. A lady and a gentleman drove up one afternoon and asked me if I could trim the dog at once. I said 'ay,' and I trimmed it."

Vance seemed disappointed.

"WAS anything else said?" he asked.

"The gentleman said he wanted her to put in show condition."

"Ah! And have you seen her at any of the shows since then?"

Prentice shook his head thoughtfully. "I've been showing mostly Cairns this fall."

"What sort of man brought the dog to you? Could you describe him?"

"Ay. He was a large man, around 50, and he had little enough to say."

"And the woman?"

"She was young and not difficult to look at."

"A blonde?"

"Ay."

"His daughter, perhaps?"

A shrewd twinkle came into the Scotsman's eyes.

"I hae me doots," was all he vouchsafed.

Vance remained at the Barlae Kennels for perhaps half an hour, discussing dogs. On the way home he seemed in better spirits.

"In any event, Van," he said, "we can now go ahead with a certain assurance of success. If only Prentice had taken the owner's name and address, how simple everything would have been."

Returning to his apartment, he telephoned to the American Kennel Club and obtained the names of the Scottish terrier judges in the six shows he had selected as the most likely ones where the Scottie might have been exhibited.

Vance glanced down the list of names he had made.

He turned to the telephone and kept it busy for the best part of half an hour. Then he rose and took the dog in his arms.

"Come, Van, our itiner'ry begins."

Sleeping to Escape

SUSAN has developed a distressing habit of falling asleep in the most unexpected places at any time.

She is physically a normal child of about 13, with excellent average health. Her tonsils and adenoids have been removed and she is quite as well-bred and intelligent and in the material sense of the word as well off as her playmates.

True, she is not adjusted to any group of her contemporaries, but that is partly because of her nomadic past.

She was the child of an unadjusted marriage which finally broke up when she was about 5. For two or three of her most impressionable years she saw the unhappiness and struggle preceding the divorce, and then for some time was sent from parent to parent until her life must have seemed a kaleidoscope of shifting scenes and backgrounds.

When she finally settled down a couple of years ago she was behind in her schooling, and more at home with adults than with children. Before long she was the odd man out in everything.

Probably her tendency to sleep is an unconscious effort to escape from a realty with which she feels herself unable to cope.

None of us can guess the effect that an insecure and unstable background makes in a child's life. Children are helpless in a world which offers difficulties even to fully equipped adults, and unless they have faith in the people who control their destinies they cannot have the irresponsible freedom and joy to which they are entitled.

Instead of facing every day with hope and courage, they are filled with dread of what the next moment may bring, and as a result are defeated before they even start to live.

DeWans
HAIR REMOVER

TO MAKE YOUR SKIN TOTALLY HAIR-FREE . . . A JOY TO SEE AND A THRILL TO TOUCH

We sincerely recommend this wonderfully pleasent new way to beach loveliness. DeWans removes the hair from legs and arms instantly. And it's so mild! Doesn't smart or redden at all. You can even use it on your face. But, best of all, the hair that grows back is so soft and silky it's hardly noticeable. We're enthusiastic about DeWans. It's ONE DOLLAR.

HEALTH

Brief articles prepared by experts. Edited by Dr. Iago Galdston, for the New York Academy of Medicine.

The Mouth Battery

IN 1786 the famous Italian scientist, Luigi Galvani, demonstrated that an electric battery could be made by bringing two dissimilar metals into association through a suitable liquid medium.

It appears that the fundamental law of electro-physics discovered by Galvani operates in the mouth as well as in an electric battery.

When dental restorations such as fillings, crowns, bridges and plates are made of different metals, they are brought into association through the medium of saliva, and a measurable electric current is set up.

Prof. Everet S. Lain of the University of Oklahoma, recently reported a study of 300 cases, in which a variety of local and constitutional disturbances could be traced to the setting up of electrical streams by dentures of different metals.

The symptoms found in the patients examined were numerous. They included acute and chronic inflammations, blanched and grayish patches, erosions and ulcers.

The patient sometimes complained of a metallic or salty taste in the mouth, burning or stinging sensations at the margins, the end or sometimes the base of the tongue, and dryness and tickling in the throat.

Approximately 80 per cent of the patients reported increased salivation. Most of the symptoms were more perceptible in the early morning, after the mouth had been closed for a long period of time.

A typical case is that of a woman, aged 32, who had two large amalgam fillings in the lower side of the jaw. They caused her no discomfort until a large gold filling was placed in an upper right tooth opposite the amalgams.

Immediately thereafter she began to suffer with electric nerve shocks, when the upper gold and the lower amalgam came into contact with each other.

She was relieved of her condition when the amalgams were removed and the restorations were replaced with gold.

For Short Puff Sleeves

One way to simplify laundering of short puffed sleeves is to put snaps on the elastic that holds them. Remove the elastic while washing and ironing the frock and then snap it black into place when it is to be worn.

Systematic Reading

When the entire family reads the magazine it is a help for each person to write his or her initials on the cover when finished with the issue. In this way the housewife knows when it can be thrown out and anyone desiring to clip an article knows when he is at liberty to do so.

All the heavier articles, such as bottles of olives, pickles and lemon butter should be placed on the bottom of the basket on the picnic trip.

SEEN IN THE STORES

By SYLVIA

THE little mechanical ducks, mice, dogs and frogs were designed for children to play with, but I'll wager that many a household will be disrupted by mother, father and granddad, too, winding them up and watching them cavort on the living-room floor. They are made of felt or velvet, quite realistic as to color and contour, and you start them going by inserting a key in their middle. The duck swims along, cutting wide circles and even reversing. The mouse is best famed at somersaulting and always ends his performance with his tail heading skyward. The dog is a Scottie, as black as ink. His performance consists of patting along at a very high speed. As for the frog, he concentrates on a jumping act.

Feathers are flying everywhere as autumn approaches. Not satisfied for everyone to be wearing a few plumes, the decorative souls want our homes to be feathered, too. A tiny feather cactus plant does its bit along this line. This is made entirely of green feathers to resemble stems and leaves, and is planted in a dainty green pot. What-not shelves or individual tea stands are expected to be fascinating when adorned with this sort of plant.

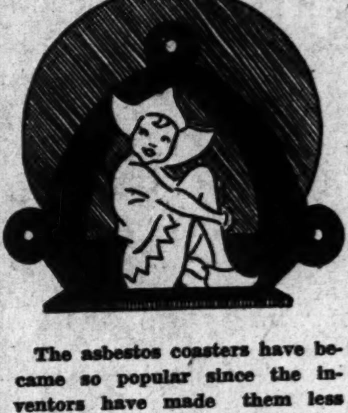
Remember those papier mache coasters brightened with colorful designs that appeared early in the spring and then disappeared as quickly as anyone with a few nickels saw them? They're here again and there will be plenty for every hostess to have some. Japan did them, although they look like Italian wares. A cock has assumed the place of decorative interest both on the coasters and the interesting box that holds them.

If a part of your new autumn sport suit is striped, you can be certain of its chic. One of the smartest suits I've seen combines a green tweed jacket with a wrapped skirt of a striped wool that circles the figure. A scarf with matching stripes ties the neckline to the theme of the costume.

There's a new cocktail book on the market that is dedicated to "serious drinkers everywhere" and no doubt will be a cherished possession among them. Besides having all the earmarks of a very choice volume this Americana edition, as it is called, contains some historical data. Each of the eight cocktail napkins that occupies a page has been designed to imitate a drink. On the opposite page is the recipe for mixing.

Designers of feminine ash trays are doing their best this season to please the esthetically inclined. Now we have some new pottery trays that carry out the same colors that appear in the new fall apparel. Flowers and leaves in woodsy tones predominate so that every smoker can match her ash container to her dress. In shape these interesting pieces resemble individual nut dishes and many have the popular fluted edge.

The vogue of white in home decoration shows no evidence of ceasing with the autumn. In fact, more items are endorsing it and they include some fascinating luncheon and tea services. Rather than the clear white an egg-shell tone is used, with a self-colored pattern of embossing. Earthenware as well as china pieces are displayed among the new collections.



The asbestos coasters have became so popular since the inventors have made them less fragile that they are proving more than a summer item. Sketched is a set to show you in what clever way they now are sold. Six of them are provided with their own wooden holder so that they have a gifty appearance. These holders are available in a choice of designs, most of them featuring peasant figures.

The chesty look is worth attaining if you want your clothes to smack of late 1933. A contrasting gilet is one certain way to success. Supposing a costume is brown, then the gilet couldn't be more impressive than to be a light shade of green. One very smart dress employs this combination using green matelasse and brown bengaline. The over guimpe of the matelasse has a high neckline and is draped across the chest to give the required emphasis to this part of the anatomy.

Questions of Modern Interest

Let's EXPLORE Your MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. Sc.

See Whether His Opinions Agree With Your Own

1 IS THERE ANY CLOSER BLOOD RELATIONSHIP THAN THAT OF PARENTS AND CHILDREN?

YES OR NO

2 ⇨ DO YOU THINK THE STUDY OF PSYCHOLOGICAL RULES AND PRINCIPLES WILL REALLY AID YOUNG PEOPLE IN MAKING A SUCCESS IN LIFE?

YES OR NO

COPYRIGHT 1933 JOHN DILLE CO.

3 A MARRIED WOMAN ASKS: IF A WIFE HAS TO DEVOTE HER WHOLE TIME TO STUDYING HER HUSBAND IN ORDER TO HOLD HIM, HAD SHE BETTER NOT REMAIN SINGLE AND DEVELOP HER OWN LIFE?

YES OR NO

AUTHOR'S NOTE: These answers are given from the scientific point of view. Science puts the rights of organized society above the rights of individuals.

1.—Yes. Dr. Dean Brimhall, psychologist, has worked out mathematically that brothers are more closely related to brothers and sisters to sisters than are parents and children. It is too technical to make clear here, but he shows that the brother of a distinguished scientist is twice as likely to become distinguished as their father, four times as likely as their uncles, and six times as likely as their cousins. He believes this is largely due to the relative closeness of their blood or rather germ-cell-relationship.

2.—Yes. This is probably the most important thing in all education, using "success" in the sense of a well-rounded, happy personality as well as practical achievement. Professors A. C. Burnham of Michigan State, and F. G. Bonser of Columbia, in their extensive course for teaching teachers how to teach life planning and the psychological rules of achievement point out that most lives fail from lack of knowledge of the psychological rules of the game. Prof. Walter Pitkin, that dynamo of Columbia, is carrying on a large summer school just to teach these rules. Many high schools are installing courses in teaching rules of success. It is one of the biggest new things in education. More later.

3.—Living with a man ought soon to become a sort of routine process that goes on happily without having to give the matter, that is him, much thought. If a woman has to sit up nights scheming how to dress, cook, talk, play bridge, good or bad, shine or not shine in company, just to hold a man's affection, she is not holding him. His affections are already mostly gone, but if she loves him it is worth making the fight.

Nine times out of ten the stranger will oblige. Now you have his defense down—both hands are occupied holding the Dandy Model A Road Racer with headlight extra. Strike quickly, delivering a straight right to the jowl—thus teaching the surprised pedestrian to mind his own business."

Cereals

In making mush or cooking dry cereals where the cereal is put into boiling water, if you will make a paste of the cereal with a little cold water and stir that into the boiling salted water you will not be annoyed with lumps.

Scissors Handy in Kitchen

A pair of scissors is best for cutting up lettuce so that it is very fine, halving marshmallows, dicing celery or cutting up raisins for the batch of cookies.

Advice

YES BROTHER BUNGLE, I HEARD ABOUT YOU BEING ARRESTED FOR HITTING BROTHER McCOOKIE WITH THAT POTATO MASHER, AND I ALSO HEARD HE'S KEEPING HIS TWO WITNESSES AT HIS HOUSE, FEEDING THEM CHICKEN AND ICE CREAM.
WELL BROTHER WILLOW, I'M NOT WORRIED. ALL I ASK IS A FAIR TRIAL.
ALSO, I UNDERSTAND BROTHER McCOOKIE IS ARRANGING TO HAVE LOTS OF BANDAGES ON AND TO FALL OFF THE WITNESS CHAIR IN A DEAD FAINT WHEN HE STARTS PUTTING THE LEGAL HEAT ON YOU.
HE'LL FAINT A FEW MORE TIMES WHEN MY LAWYER WORKS ON HIM, TOO.
IF I WAS YOU, BROTHER BUNGLE, I'D GET A GOOD TEN OR EVEN FIFTEEN DOLLAR LAWYER BECAUSE I KNOW BROTHER McCOOKIE IS GIVING HIS TWO WITNESSES DAILY WORKOUTS ON WHAT TO SAY.
I KNOW HIS TWO WITNESSES. THEY ALWAYS TELL THE TRUTH WHEN THEY'RE MIXED UP.
I'M NOT WORRIED. AFTER THE JURY SEES AND HEARS McCOOKIE, THEY'LL REALIZE THAT ANYONE WHO OWNS A BASEBALL BAT WOULDN'T HIT HIM WITH A POTATO MASHER.
YOU'RE GOING TO STICK TO THAT STORY OF BEING NOT GUILTY, EH? WELL I'M NOT GOING TO EXPRESS ANY OPINION ON THAT POINT BECAUSE I LIKE TO LOOK AT THE BRIGHT SIDE OF EVERYTHING.

VOL. 85. NO. 348.

ONLY 115,000 VOTES IN CITY ON REPEAL UP TO 4 P. M.

State Expected to Be the Twenty-second to Give Majority in Favor of Elimination of Eighteenth Amendment.

VOTERS NEED NOT BE REGISTERED

Estimates on Majority Vary—Anti-Saloon League Plans to Attack Validity of Election in U. S. Supreme Court.

ncomplete, unofficial reports from seven Missouri towns and ounties gave in today's prohibition epeal election: For repeal, 2547; against repeal, 764.

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 19.—A ight vote favoring repeal by 6 to 1 had been cast here at noon.

MARYVILLE, Mo., Aug. 19.—Election officials of old Conception precinct in Nodaway County, reported at noon today that all its gible voters, 46, had cast ballots or repeal.

PLATTE CITY, Mo., Aug. 19.—A vote of about 4 to 1 for repeal was reported today in Platte City, Gov. Guy B. Park's home town. An unofficial tabulation showed 80 for repeal and 23 against.

Gov. Park, who came here last ight, visited the polls soon after they opened, cast his vote and returned to Jefferson City.

FULTON, Mo., Aug. 19.—The unofficial early vote on one precinct here gave: For repeal, 47; against repeal, 3.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Aug. 19.—complete tally of Springfield precincts this afternoon gave 796 for repeal and 307 against.

MEXICO, Mo., Aug. 19.—A complete, unofficial tabulation early this afternoon gave the following vote in Mexico: For repeal, 460; against repeal, 75. Mexico once was regarded as "dry territory."

Missouri is voting today on the proposal to repeal the eighteenth amendment, with the prediction enerally made that repeal will win it has in each of the other 21 tates which have voted.

The ballot is brief, stating the proposition in two paragraphs, one of which is to be scratched by the voter. Its text follows:

(1) For the delegates FAVORING the pending amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

(2) For the delegates OPPOSING the pending amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

The pending amendment is the twenty-first, which repeals the eighteenth. Those who favor repeal will scratch the second proposition; those who favor retaining prohibition will scratch the first.

Voting in the City.

A light vote in the city and nty was anticipated. In the ty, a canvass of representative precincts at 4 p. m. indicated 115,000, about 30 per cent of the registered voters,* had gone to the polls in the first 10 hours of the voting period.

The polls opened at 6 a. m. and will close at 7 p. m. Joseph T. Davis of St. Louis, chairman of the United Repeal Council, thought the vote in the State would be less than 500,000, about one-third of the total cast in the last general election. ames A. Waechter, chairman of St. Louis Election Board, exted a vote of about 150,000 here, where there are 385,000 registered voters. In the county it was estimated the vote would be about 50,000 out of a registration of 106,000.

Any qualified voter, however, whether registered or not, may vote in today's election. One whose name is not in the registration books may be required by the precinct judges to make affidavit that he is at least 21 years old, has lived in St. Louis for 60 days and in Missouri for a year. Such voters will be required also to state that they have not voted and do not intend to vote in any other precinct.

The names of the delegates do not appear on the ballot, so that the voters are, in effect, voting directly on the question of repeal. The delegates, chosen by State senrial districts, will meet in convention Aug. 29 to go through the
